STATE ORDERED BOOZE RAIDS

GRAND JURY RETURNS 16 TRUE BILLS

PROBERS IGNORE 19 CASES; GIVE ADVICE TO ALL MINOR COURTS

Five East Liverpool Men Named in Indictments.

TWO ARE SECRET

No Mention of County Jail; 76 Witnesses Examined.

Sixteen true bills, two of them secret, were returned by the January grand jury which reported to Judge James G. Moore at 4:50 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Nineteen cases, most of them from the lower courts, were ignored. The jurors urged that all charges filed in the lower courts be inquired into before any transcript is forwarded to Lisbon.

List of Indictments.

The indictments made known are:

Bardechina Balan, Charles Balan and Sam Hoza, Salem, resisting an officer.

James B. Tyson, Wellsville, assault and battery.

John Grafton and Merrill Starkey, Salineville, burglary and larceny.

Willard H. Reddick, East Liverpool, criminal assault.

James Clark and Charles Rogers, Salem, robbery.

Harry Byers, Orval Chambers and Floyd Thomas, East Liverpool, robbery.

Harmon Cook, alias Homer Doyle, Salem, uttering and publishing a false instrument.

U. Frank Hatcher, Wellsville, abandoning legitimate children.

Andrew Kovacik, Leetonia, stabbing with intent to wound.

Charles Young and Daniel Smith, Salem, larceny.

Ginard Robert, East Liverpool, shooting with intent to kill, two counts.

No Condemnation of Jail.

The report said:

"We believe that mayors and justices of the peace could give more attention to cases filed before them. They should abandon the practice of allowing defendants to waive hearing and inquire into the merits of the matters."

The unusual feature about the report is the fact that no mention was made of the condition of the county jail.

For the first time in years, no witnesses from Wellsville appeared before the grand jury. However, two indictments were returned on transcripts from the court of Justice Wallace L. Fogo of that city.

Seventy-Six Witnesses Called.

The grand jury was scheduled to report at 3 p. m. Judge Moore sent word to the jurors at 4:45 o'clock that unless they should be ready to report within five minutes he would adjourn court until Friday morning. A few minutes later [illegible] men and one woman who composed the panel entered the court room.

After the report was read, the jurors were excused, but notified they were subject to call anytime during the January term.

There were 79 subpoenaes issued for this session of the grand jury. Three witnesses did not report because of illness.

Britain Defends U. S. Against Press Attacks in London

LONDON, Jan. 16—The British foreign took the unusual course today of voluntarily defending the United States against the attacks of English editorial writers who have been saying the United States "stayed out of European affairs until it saw a real chance to get money from Germany."

The foreign office statement said: "The claims of the United States against Germany were presented long ago and therefore always existed, but no chance to collect them came until the Dawes report was accepted.

Three Persons, On Way Home From Dance, Killed By Train

Woman, Who is Burned to Death, and Two Men are Victims When Automobile is Wrecked on Crossing.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 16.—Three persons returning from a dance at Williamson were killed today when an eastbound New York Central freight train struck their automobile at the Penfield road crossing, a few miles from here.

The dead:

MRS. LILLIAN DERUYSCHER, 40.

THOMAS OSTER, 48.

OSCAR J. KALBFLIESCH, 30.

All were of this city.

Miss Bertha McDowell, who was riding on the rear seat, escaped unharmed.

A westbound train had just passed the crossing when the eastbound train crashed into the car. The automobile was tossed against a telephone pole and took fire with Mrs. Deruyscher in the wreckage.

SLAIN GIRL'S BODY FOUND ON LOVER'S FARM

Eerie Scene Enacted Near Home of Conan Doyle.

PARENTS PRESENT

Man to Whom Victim Was Engaged is Arrested.

CROWBOROUGH, Eng., Jan. 16.—An eerie scene was enacted not far from the home of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, famous author, early today when detectives from Scotland Yard dug up the body of Elsie Cameron, pretty young London stenographer who was murdered and her body buried on a farm.

The father and mother of the girl were present when the body was found. The father was silent, but the mother collapsed.

Following the unearthing of the remains, young Norman Thorne, a prosperous young farmer to whom the girl was engaged, was formally charged with her murder.

The twenty-six years of the girl's life had been a succession of love tragedies, police revealed. In every case where she fell in love she was the victim of unrequited love, detectives said.

She left London December 5 to visit at the Thorne farm.

"I won't return until I am married," she told her parents.

E. V. Huffer Released From Jail After Serving Nine Months

E. V. Huffer, formerly of Newell, who was sentenced to serve a year in the Hancock county jail at New Cumberland, has been released after serving nine months, it was announced today.

Huffer was indicted on the charge of obtaining money from the Grant district board of education under false pretenses. He was alleged to have used a teacher's certificate issued by his father.

Following his arrest and posting bond, he disappeared but was later captured at Peublo, Col.

MOTHER IS SHOT BY FOSTER SON

ZANESVILLE, O., Jan. 16—Mrs. Mary Croskey, 42, shot by her foster son, Eugene, 17, last night, is in a critical condition and the boy is held in city prison today pending the outcome of her wound. The boy says he mistook his foster mother for a burglar and shot her, but Mrs. Croskey, in a statement to the police, says the boy fired at her while in a fit of anger. The bullet passed clear through her body, penetrating the right lung.

B. & O. FREIGHT TRAIN DERAILED

ZANESVILLE, Jan. 16. — A westbound Baltimore & Ohio freight train jumped the track two miles east of New Concord at 3:40 o'clock this morning and 18 freight cars are piled into a ditch. None of the trainmen was injured. B. & O. trains are detouring via Cambridge, New Comerstown, Dresden and Zanesville.

London's Former Exchequer Chief Scores Paris Pact

LONDON, Jan. 16.—The Paris agreement which granted the United States two and one quarter percent of the Dawes annuities was "astounding", Philip Snowden, formerly chancellor of the exchequer declared today in an interview in the Manchester Guardian.

The United States, having entered the Paris agreement, certainly will be involved in any sanctions the allies may carry out in the event Germany defaults in the Dawes plan", Snodwen declared.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—A discordant rumble was going around under cover in the Senate today over the agreement signed at Paris, by Secretary of State-designate Kellogg, whereby the United States becomes an official participant in the operation of the Dawes plan to collect reparations from Germany.

The rumble may break into the open shortly, with an inquiry addressed to the White House for information as to whether, by signing this agreement, the American government becomes legally and morally bound to join with the other signers in punitive measures against Germany should she fall down in the enormous annual payments.

Geiger and Hanley Attend State School Relief Conference

Superintendent of Schools F. P. Geiger and ex-County Prosecutor Jesse C. Hanley, of this city, are in Columbus today, where they are attending a meeting of the committee appointed by Governor A. V. Donahey recently, to devise ways and means of assisting financially embarrassed school districts.

The committee will likely recommend a solution to Governor Donahey in a report which will be made Saturday. The governor will then ask the state legislature to enact remedial legislation.

The committee has made a study not only of plans to bring about temporary aid, but also a system whereby permanent relief will be given. It is declared that thousands of schools in the state are closed this year because of the lack of finances.

Mr. Hanley was appointed a member of the committee before he retired from office.

Pave Way to Send Mother Who Killed Baby to Asylum

WOOSTER, O., Jan. 16.—The way was paved today to place Mrs. Blanche Tobias, 20-year old self confessed slayer of her two weeks' old baby, in the Lima State Hospital for the Criminal Insane.

Following the appointment by Common Pleas Judge Gorge A. Starn of three attorneys, former common pleas Judge W. E. Weygandt, A. D. Meth and L. R. Critchfield, to defend Mrs. Tobias, Prosecutor J. O. Fritz today filed an application for a hearing on the woman's sanity, asking that this action supersede her arraignment on the indictment charging first degree murder. The insanity hearing before a jury will probably be fived for early in February.

Rev. T. A. Dunne "Little Weaker," is Hospital Report

Rev. T. A. Dunne, pastor of the St. Aloysius Catholic church, who is critically ill, "appears to be a little weaker," according to reports from the Mercy hospital, Canton, at 1 p. m. today.

Father Dunne has been in ill health for the last two months.

FIREMEN BRAVE OIL EXPLOSION AS THEY FIGHT CHICAGO BLAZE

Recover Two Bodies and Rescue Imperilled Workers.

FEAR MORE DEAD

Flames Threaten to Engulf Varnish Company Buildings.

CHICAGO, Jan. 16—A terrific explosion, which killed two persons and injured more than 50, wrecked a two-story wareouse of the Lewis Varnish company here today and started a fire which threatened to engulf the whole plant of four buildings.

Two bodies were recovered a short time after the blast by firemen who fought their way through the flames, as possible further explosions of oil and turpentine imperilled their lives.

They were unable to say whether or not more victims were beyond their reach behind the curtain of fire.

Panic followed the blast as hundreds of employes, many of whom had just reported for work, battled each other for exits.

Street is River of Flame.

The warehouse contained large tanks of oil, turpentine, gasoline and alcohol. Several explosions followed the initial blast and the entire street in front of the burning building was turned into a river of flame.

The first explosion was caused by the detonations of a large gas tank which was being either loaded or unloaded from a truck. It blew out the entire front of the building.

The driver of a truck, Larry Watson, is dead, his heavy truck was hurled across the street into a vacant lot.

A watchman, Frank Cora, is the other victim found.

Hundreds of windows in other buildings and homes in the neighborhood were broken and sleepers were hurled from their beds.

The damage was estimated at more than $100,000.

Illicit Romance Ends In Tragedy; Pretty Woman Victim

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 16—The illicit romance of Mrs. Emily Bush, 23, a beautiful blonde girl, and Frank Michels, 26, each of whom left their married mates to live together, ended in black tragedy today when the woman's body, clad only in sheer silk pajamas and with one hand clutching a cheap sex magazine, was found in bed at their apartment on the North Side today.

Although no trace of violence could be discovered, Police Inspector Earl J. Means said the case did not appear to be suicide and ordered Michels held for the Coroner's inquest into the death. Michels confessed, according to police that he and Mrs. Bush had been living as husband and wife since separating from their mates almost a year ago.

At the Coroner's office a slight discoloration of one eye was discovered on the girl's body and three of her fingers were seared as if they had touched virulent acid or a red hot stove. A hurried examination also disclosed the woman might have met death from poison, but police hold steadfast to the murder theory.

PACKETS AGAIN PLYING RIVER

Packets are again plying the Ohio River after a week's suspension of navigation because of the low stage.

Government employes have raised the wickets in all locks between Cincinnati and Pittsburgh. The wickets were lowered about a month ago, when it was feared they would be damaged by ice coming down out of the mountains into the Allegheny and Monongahela Rivers.

Wharfmaster Ross Tisher announced today that packet boats are now operating on their regular schedules, accepting freight to all points.

Naples University Closed.

NAPLES, Jan. 16.—The University of Naples here remained closed today. Police action was necessary prior to closing on account of friction between Fascist and anti-Fascist students.

"Clemmie" Kohorst, Lima Rotarians' Young Ward, Dead

LIMA, Jan. 16.—"Clemmie" Kohorst, six-year-old crippled ward of Lima Rotarians, is dead.

"Clemmie," the sunshine and at the same time mischief maker of St. Rita's hospital, lost his life by his own hands. He was playing with fire.

Somehow the crippled youngster obtained a box of matches and took them into the bath room with him to play. A moment later a scream was heard and terrified nurses found "Clemmie" surrounded by flames. His night gown had caught on fire.

That was Wednesday night. All day yesterday "Clemmie" lay fighting for life while his "Big Brothers of the Rotary" besieged the hospital with telephone and personal calls. Then early this morning the word came from the hospital that "Clemmie' had passed away.

JAZZ-CRAZED SLAYER OF KIN 'LIFE OF PARTY'

Sixteen-year-old Girl Unconcerned About Fate.

KILLED MOTHER

Sangfroid Breaks When Father and Brother Visit Her.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Jan. 16.—Still the "life of the party" 16-year-old Dorothy Ellingson, confessed slayer of her mother, continued today to get the same "big kick" out of the life that characterized her jazz path to a prison cell.

Twelve hours of questioning and posing found her ready to continue today when police orders shut off further interviewers.

Only when her father and brother visited her in her cell—both sternly accusing her—did her sangfroid break.

Then she for a moment forgot pose and sought to beguile their sympathy.

"Don't touch me—you killed my mother," her slim-legged, serious faced brother, Earl, shouted as she sought to throw herself in his arms.

"My God, go away—don't you know I can't talk to you. Why do you come to me like this," came from her taut lips in bitter tones.

They turned and left and slowly her smile returned and again she was "the life of the party."

Gov. Donahey May Name G. C. Maxwell On Utilities Board

COLUMBUS, Jan. 16—Governor Donahey today has under consideration the recommendation that he appoint Grover C. Maxwell, Columbus, as a member of the State Utilities Commission to succeed C. C. Marshall, Sidney, Democrat, whose term expires February 1, next.

Maxwell, a former Akron resident, was Secretary of the Commission a few years ago. Recommendation for his appointment has been made by a committee representing the "Big Four" Brotherhoods—Firemen and Engineers, Trainmen, Conductors and Telegraphers. When a young man, Maxwell was a telegrapher.

The recommendation was in response to a request made by the governor.

Two School Board Members Will be 63 on March 15

Two members of the board of education—Robert W. Sample and George M. Wilhelm—will celebrate their 63rd birthday anniversaries on March 15.

They were born in 1862. Mr. Sample is a native of Pennsylvania, his birthplace being a farm midway between Pittsburgh and Butler. Mr. Wilhelm was born in Hancock county, W. Va., on a farm overlooking the city of Wellsville.

WELLSVILLE INVASION FOLLOWED REQUEST BY OHIO DRY LAW CHIEF

Mayor Charles Brown Explains His Part in Inter-City Prohibition Enforcement Officers' War as East Liverpool and Wellsville Forces, Suspending Excursions, Turn Guns on Home Sectors.

DETECTIVES CHARGE THEY LOCATED 100 ALLEGED ILLICIT LIQUOR PLACES

East Liverpool Executive Declares he Did Not Solicit Business, But Agreed to Handle Cases at Suggestion of Prohibition Commissioner McDonald, Following Complaints of Laxity.

State Prohibition Commissioner B. F. McDonald, of Columbus, requested East Liverpool liquor raiders to invade Wellsville.

This, in short, was the declaration made by Mayor Charles Brown today, as rival forces in the inter-city prohibition enforcement officers' war, changing their battle plans, centered their attacks on home sectors.

"The state prohibition commissioner instructed the Steubenville detective agency to bring their prisoners into the East Liverpool court after Wellsville citizens had complained about an alleged laxity in enforcement in Wellsville," said Mayor Brown. "I did not solicit this business but expressed my willingness to handle the case if it was the desire of the Columbus bureau."

Operatives of the Harris-Webster Detective agency of Steubenville, whose co-operation with three East Liverpool patrolmen in last Saturday's invasion of Wellsville was followed by a reprisal crusade here on the part of Chief John Fultz's raiders, today charged that more than 100 suspected illicit liquor places were located in Wellsville. The detectives said they discovered the alleged places of violation during two months' investigation.

POLICE AND DETECTIVES RAID THREE FRATERNAL ORGANIZATION HOMES HERE

Moose Club Fined $200 on Charge of Permitting Gambling—Liquor Counts Filed Against Eagles and Turners.

Three fraternal organizations—the Loyal Order of Moose, the Fraternal Order of Eagles and the Turner's club were raided by the local police, assisted by special officers and members of the Harris-Webster Detective agency, Steubenville, last night. The Moose club was charged with permitting gambling, while the others were accused of illegally possessing liquor.

Four slot machines are alleged to have been seized at the Moose temple. Police say efforts were made to destroy the liquor at the Eagles' and Turners' clubs, but claim sufficient evidence was obtained to warrant prosecution.

The Moose Club was fined $200 and costs. A check for this amount, signed by officers of the lodge has been turned over to Chief of Police McDermott today. Representatives of both the Eagles and Turners Clubs pleaded not guilty to charges of illegally possessing liquors and were released on $1,500 bond each.

Claim They Broke Thru Door.

The raids, which occurred between 8 and 10 o'clock, were headed by Patrolmen Norman McFarland and James Haley and Turnkey William Cline, of the local force, assisted by five members of the Steubenville detective agency, and special officers Dawson, Malone and Bloor.

Meeting no opposition at the Moose club, the raiders found four slot machines, but no liquor. The machines were taken to the city hall, where they will be destroyed.

The raiding party claim they were forced to break through a door, fitted with an electric lock, at the Eagles' home. When the officers reached the grill room in the basement of the building, the liquor had been destroyed, they said. With a rag, one of the officers soaked up a quantity of alleged corn liquor from the floor to make a test. The remainder, it is claimed, was dumped into a sewer.

WELLSVILLE RAIDERS ARREST 12 MEN IN OFFENSIVE IN THEIR HOME SECTOR

Chief Fultz's Forces, Diverting From Reprisal Attacks in East Liverpool, Devote Attention to Immediate Territory.

Temporarily diverting their attention from the East Liverpool sector where their four-day offensive brought down 11 alleged prohibition law violators in a series of four raids, Chief of Police John Fultz and his patrolmen of Wellsville last night turned their siege guns on the home front, a series of sorties lasting throughout the night and all morning, resulting in 12 arrests and the seizure of 1,000 or more gallons of wine.

Here are the arrests:

Nick Atto, Commerce street.
John Lorano, Commerce street.
Frank Margeo, Thirteenth street.
John Sisinio, Silver Switch.
Peter Frazeutti, near Silver Switch.
Rocco Albenesso, Anderson avenue.
Jiggs Baldassaro, Anderson avenue.
John Dissaro, Commerec street.
Peter Smith, Commerce srteet.
——— Zazzerrela, Commerce street, near Thirteenth.
Pete Deloretta, Seventeenth and Main streets.
Rocco Margeo, Commerce street near Thirteenth.

Released on Own Recognizance.

Each of the twelve is charged with possession of alleged intoxicating liquor. Practically all are property owners. Each was released on his own recognizance.

Beginning this afternoon hearings will start before Mayor James S. Barnes in police court. The hearings will continue throughout this evening and tomorrow morning, if necessary.

Fultz's forces scoured Wellsville from one end to the other. In their clean-up, going as far east as the corporate limits for John Sisinio, and as far west as Seventeenth street where they nabbed Pete Deloretto.

At intervals throughout the night, barrels, jugs, bottles and various forms of containers belched forth wine into city sewers and gutters as the chief and his men cleaned out all visible traces of liquor in each of the 12 places they raided.

In addition, Wellsville police confiscated quantities of wine which went into the vaults at city hall as evidence.

"No wine has been left in the places we visited," Chief Fultz asserted "and the owners can't be hit again."

"We found in at least two places wine that had been left after Stuebenville dry detectives had raided the places and arrested the residents

EAST END

REV. H. G. KAYE GIVES SERMON

New Castle Evangelist Speaks at Church of Christ.

Rev. Harry G. Kaye of New Castle, Pa., who is conducting meetings at the Pennsylvania Avenue Church of Christ had as his subject last evening "A Quartette of Fools in East Liverpool." His topic this evening will be: "A Little Book-keeping for the Hypocrite." There will be no meeting Saturday. His subjects for Sunday will be: A Package of Old Love Letters," and the Ku Klux Klan Exposed."

Last night he spoke in part as follows:

"There are some people in East Liverpool that pat themselves on the back until they get broken arms. If you got ought in your heart you have as much chance of getting to heaven as the devil and he has already been kicked out. Sin has done nothing for the world; God has done everything. Some of us have made no more preparations for heaven than a grasshopper has for Christmas. Some day each and every one of us is going to be called to an account for our trust. There is a lot of difference between the way we live and the way people think we live. There are a lot of fools making light of sin."

SPECIAL MEETS BEING CONDUCTED

Evangelistic meetings are in progress at the Second Baptist church in charge of Dr. Storey. He is being assisted by his wife. He will speak at a meeting of men and women Sunday afternoon on the subject, "The Unfaithfulness of Husbands and Wives and the Effect of it upon the foundation of Christendom."

Special music is a feature of the meetings.

Birth Announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Flowers, Maryland avenue, announce the birth of a girl, born January 14.

Plan Tour of County.

Beaver county commissioners plan to make a tour of the county in order to secure first hand information as to needs of each community. Every section will be visited during the next few weeks.

Gas House Immortalized.

Paris is about to immortalize with a tablet the site and building which constituted the first gas house in Paris in 1797. An engineer, Philip Lebon, was the first gas producer, experimenting with the combustion of woods. He called his apparatus thermolamps. He did not however, ever reap his reward, for he was assassinated the day of Binaparte's corination. He bore a striking resemblance to the first consul, for whom his murderers mistook him. Gas was not enthusiastically received at first and it was unot until 1819 that it was first used in the opera.

Why Plaster of Paris?

Why the quick setting Plaster of Paris carries the Paris designation is due to the fact that great beds of it were discovered in the vicinity of Paris, where it was first extensively used as a cement. In the raw state great heat is used to drive out moisture and the composition then combines readily with water, quickly passing into a hard state.

Former Aristocrats Now Work as Menials In Russian Army

MOSCOW—Soviet Russia makes no secret of the fact that the Red Army is a "class" army. That is, it consists entirely of men from the ranks of the proletariat. Members of the so-called "bourgeoise" and of the old aristocracy are excluded as officers or soldiers from the army.

The services of such men, however, are not permitted to go wholly unused. It has been decreed that they shall serve in what the Bolsheviki term, "auxiliary labor groups" in the army. This means they must serve the real Red Army soldiers. They keep the barracks clean, attend the horses, repair roads, supervise army messes and do other menial tasks which are considered beneath the "dignity" of a Bolshevik soldier.

Flowers Reveal New Drug.

When a bunch of carnations rapidly wilted in a green house in which there was a small supply of illuminating gas present, investigations as to the cause led to the discovery of ethylene, a new anesthetic. When ethylene was isolated from the atmosphere it was found it would put animals to sleep, producing later in humans, complete anesthesia in 40 seconds and lasting for more than four hours, a time sufficiently long for the most difficult of operations. Another beneficial result was that it produced no harmful effects on the patient.

How To Be Prosperous In 1925

WHEN folks wish us a Happy and a "Prosperous" New Year, we have a feeling that somehow it is going to come true.

But the way to be sure of prosperity in 1925 is to make each day, each week, each month show a profit. And save the profit.

The principle is right. Don't drift—Practice thrift.

"Yes, Most Of Our State

—Along the railroad, does look uninviting. But you ought to see the rest of it!" True enough, if you happen to be familiar with the prosperous state our friend hails from. But wouldn't it be worth while to put some of the smiling evidence of progress where the casual traveler could see it? A bleak aspect on the highways of a commonwealth or of everyday human intercourse often creates a wrong impression.

Nothing like showing our best side to the world—is there?

Q. Is Lopez a Spaniard Has he any orchestras on the road? V. L. W.

A. Vincent Lopez was born in Brooklyn, New York, therefore is an American, but is of Spanish descent. He has several orchestras outside New York city—in Buffalo, Syracuse, Providence and Miami and has three on the road.

Q. How many outomobiles and trucks are there in the city of Chicago? H. M. T.

A. The city's license bureau reports that there are 296,441 motor vehicles in the city at present.

Q. What is the massacre of the innocents? W. M. T.

A. This was a popular subject with Flemish and Italian artists. The pictures portrayed the slaying of the children of Bethlehem by the soldiers of Herod. Among the famous canvases on the subject are those of Reni, Tinttoretto, da Volterra, Breughel and Rubens.

Q. How much money has been paid the Civil war veterans and what is the average age of those still living? J. H. B.

A. The amount of money paid to date is $6,427,106,586.49. The average age of the survivors is about 81.

Q. What has become of Francis Burton Harrison? J. O. S.

A. Hon. Francis Burton Harrison after his resignation as governor of the Philippines in 1921, traveled for a time and then devoted his time to the writing of books on the Philippines and other subjects. He is now residing at Teanineach, Alness, Scotland.

Q. How were men who committed crimes—for example larceny or forgery—punished in Milan in her heyday? T. I. T.

A. Sometimes a fine was imposed for larceny; at other times, the foot of the criminal was amputated. In cases of forgery, the right hand was amputated as a rule. Burial alive was the fate met by some forgers.

Q. What will make thin muslin cuffs very stiff? E. B. K.

A. To improve starch add to each bowl one teaspoonful of Epsom Salts and dissolve in the usual way by boiling. Articles starched with this will be stiffer.

Q. Is Siberia a part of the new Russian government? R. E. L.

A. Siberia is an integral part of Soviet Russia, but it is semi-autonomous.

Q. What is "a wild goose chase?" W. H. McK.

A. A "wild goose chase" is a pursuit after something that is as unlikely to be caught as a wild goose. The term alludes to the difficulty in shooting wild geese.

Q. Which minaret in Cairo is the tallest? T. C. M.

A. The one remaining minaret belonging to the Mosque of Sultan Hassan is the tallest in the Egyptian capital. It is 280 feet high.

Q. What is the average income tax paid per individual? W. A. T.

A. According to a Secretary of Treasury Report of income returned for the calendar year December 31, 1920, there were 7,259,944 personal returns made on incomes ranging from $1,000 to $5,000,000 and over. The total tax paid was $1,075,053,686. The average amount of tax per individual was $148.08.

Q. We read that the new statue of General Sam Houston is the second largest equestrian statue in the United States. What is the largest? W. R. T.

A. General Lee's statue in Richmond is the largest.

Q. There is a conjuring trick whereby an unsupported figure floats in the air. Can you tell me who first presented this trick?—H. S. C.

A. The illusion was first produced by the Chinese.

Q. How many people were killed and injured in England by air raids during the War? N. W.

A. The British Library of Information says that the civilian casualties in airship raids from January 19, 1915 to August 5, 1918 were 498 killed, 1236 injured; aeroplane raids, December 24, 1914 to July 20, 1918, 619 killed, 1650 injured.

Q. What causes potatoes to turn black after they are boiled? A. M.

A. The Department of Agriculture says that the discoloration of your potatoes is undoubtedly due to sun-scald. This does not render the potatoes poisonous nor unhealthful for food.

Q. Please tell me the meaning of Burne-Jones' picture "The Golden Stairs." I. DN.

A. "The Golden Stairway" was originally named "The King's Wedding," then "Music on the Stairs." It was designed in 1872, begun in 1876 and finished in 1880. From the fact that the canvas was first called "The King's Wedding," it is safe to assume that the picture simply depicts the musicians assembling for the wedding of their King.

CHILDRENS CROSS WORD PUZZLE

How To Solve Puzzle.

The words start in the numbered squares and run either across or down. Only one letter is placed in each white square. If the proper words are found each combination of letters in the white squares will form words. The key to the puzzle—the first word—is given in the drawing. Below are keys to the other words.

Running Across.

Word 4. An imaginary being that children like to read about.
Word 5. Opposite of wet.

Running Down.

Word 1. Where milk is kept and made into butter or cheese.
Word 2. Crazy; insane.
Word 3. "If at first you don't succeed—, —, again."

Housing Shortage.

WARSAW—In view of the housing scarcity in Poland the Seym has passed a law permitting the billeting of army officers and married sergeants in private houses and flats. Rural and City communities will levy special taxes to pay the rents of requisitioned quarters.

Unskilled workers in the building trades of Germany are now paid the equivalent of $5.76 for a week of fifty-four hours.

Even gold mines have to economize the proprietors of those in the Transvaal having been paring costs during the last few years to meet eventual disappearance of the gold premium.

Police Seek Meanest Thieves; Steal Dog Licenses From Collars

SYRACUSE, N. Y. — Police today have been asked by City Clerk Thomas E. Kennedy to search for the meanest gang of thieves in the world.

The gang, according to Kennedy, has been stealing license tags off dog collars in every section of the city.

Kennedy referred the matter to the police officials following a series of complaints from persons who were forced to return to the city hall for new license tags as a result of the gang's depredations.

It is believed that the tags are being sold at a cut rate.

Better Radio Reception

Roger Babson's estimate of $350,000,000 for radio sets, parts and accessories last year was exceeded. This year, trade experts say, the radio expenditure is likely to pass $500,000,000.

This is certainly "some business." It means an average of $20 to $25 per family for the entire population of the United States. And it is worth the money. Indeed, it is hard to think of any other form of entertainment which provides so much for the money.

Certain improvements, however, are desirable. The time has passed, or is passing, when a majority of fans took up radio for the novelty of it and found their chief satisfaction merely in finding that the mechanism would work. Knowledge of radio essentials is now widespread, mechanism is becoming pretty well standardized, sets readily available have plenty of range and power. Programs, therefore, become the most important factor. And while programs, near and far, can be received pretty well on any moderately good set, the quality of reception on nearly all sets is still far from perfect.

Not one set in a hundred yet reproduces music, even from a local station, as well as the phonograph does. It is said, however, that devices improving the action of loudspeakers are now available making almost perfect reception possible. If so, that may be the biggest radio gain in 1925.

Paper Stinginess

An odd but honest wail from the Iola, Kan., Register probably strikes a sympathetic response in every newspaper office. The wail concerns the paper stinginess of citizens who send in communications they want printed. Many of these notices are printed by the paper simply out of courtesy. And yet sometimes very little courtesy or thoughtfulness is shown by the people who send them. The Register describes them thus:

"From the way these public-notice-writing contributors do their work, one would think that paper cost a dollar an ounce. They get thin, poor paper to begin with, then they type their lines as close together as the machine will do it, and then they cut off any margins that may be left at the top or bottom of the sheet. When such a piece of copy comes into this office, some one who already has too much to do is obliged to re-type it before it can go to the printers."

Obviously such copy is hard to read, hard to correct, hard to alter in any way and hard on eyes and temper of all who must handle it. Persons who mistreat a newspaper office in this way will waste plenty of paper in personal correspondence. Why?

Inept Names

Names should mean something, and old names are precious. These sentiments come with special force in connection with the proposal before congress to restore the ancient name of Mt. Tacoma, discarding the upstart title of Ranier, given by the geographic board in 1890 in honor of a British naval captain. "Tacoma," varied somewhat in spelling and pronunciation, seems to have been the name always used by the Indians, signifying in general "snow mountain" and, in this case, "The Snow Mountain."

Archdeacon Stuck, a distinguished mountaineer, who clung to the old name Denali for the great Alaskan peak now named "Mt. McKinley," says: "There is to the author's mind a certain ruthless arrogance that grows more offensive as the years pass by in the temper that comes to a 'new' land and contemptuously ignores the native names of conspicuous and natural objects, almost always appropriate, and overlays them with names that are commonly neither the one nor the others."

The bill which has passed the senate and is pending in the house would give the official name Tacoma not only to the mountain but to "Ranier National park" and "Ranier National forest" adjoining it, which seems appropriate enough.

There is said to be an impression in some quarters that the efforts of the city of Tacoma to bring about this action means that the mountain is to be named for the city. It ought to be evident that the city was named for the mountain. If the measure fails, perhaps congress, to be consistent, should rename the city "Ranier."

AFTER GOMPERS—WHAT?

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Few questions are more widely discussed in Washington at the present time when the one as to the future of the American labor movement now that Samuel Gompers is dead and gone. After Gompers, what? It is a much-discussed topic not only because of its bearing upon the activities of organized workers, but because it affects politics, legislation and business.

Gompers' immediate successor has been named in the person of William Green, long an official of the United Mine Workers of America, but will Green be able to retain the position at the head of the Federation of Labor, and if so, will his leadership be conservative or radical?

Also, is it possible that a fight for control of the federation may develop to such proportions as to give the organized labor movement a serious setback?

These are some of the sub-divisions of the main question, and all of them suggest possibilities that are important as well as interesting.

Gompers held his leadership of the forces of organized labor for 43 years. This is a record that has no parallel in the careers of public men in this country, and it is all the more notable because he had to be re-elected president of the federation from year to year. He had no long term in which to entrench himself and convert his job into a virtual life tenure after one or two re-elections.

Obviously his was a forceful and dominating personality, and there are those who now predict it will be demonstrated shortly that the Gompers' domination was carried to such a point that he himself was in fact the federation. In other words, these observers anticipate factional differences and secessions that will result in the disruption and ultimate disintegration of the organization. They base this prediction on the idea that an organization that was a one-man organization for more than four decades could not have developed any other leader or leaders of sufficient strength to gain control and continue it on the one-man basis, and, hence, must go to pieces as a result of the conflicting ambitions of leaders of lesser calibre.

HOW GOMPERS HELD ON

Some of these disparaged leaders in their turn resent this exalting of Gompers and insist that he was able to hold the federation presidency so long because he was a shrewd politician rather than because of his industrial statesmanship. They say that for many years there was sufficient opposition to Gompers in the federation to have defeated him at any time could that opposition have been united, but it was always hopelessly divided by the ambitions of a number of actual or potential candidates for the presidency, each of whom would rather see Gompers re-elected than have one of his rivals attain the post of power.

Gompers formed no alliances or combinations within that organization to fight for him. His shrewdness lay in seeing that that was unnecessary and that the multiplicity of his rivals was in effect the strongest possible combination to keep him in office. The result was that he was supported year after year by men who hated him cordially, any one of whom would have dethroned Gompers in a moment could he have been certain of grabbing off the big prize for himself.

In the end it came to be accepted that Gompers would continue at the head of the federation as long as he lived or until he was unable to discharge the duties of the office. John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, made perhaps the strongest contest to dislodge Gompers, but it was recognized at the time as hopeless and understood as primarily a move to demonstrate Lewis' strength as a prospective candidate, when, with Gompers gone, the fight would be an open one.

When death came to Gompers so soon after his election in the fall it was necessary for the executive council to name his successor. Practically every man on the council was openly or secretly a candidate. Result—a man was named who had never been prominently to the fore in the bidding for Gompers' honors. That left all the others on practically even terms as entrants in the big contest that will be staged at the next annual meeting of the federation.

CONTEST IS NOW ON

As a matter of fact, that contest is now under way. There is more activity in labor circles than has been known in many years, and a game of politics is being played that is comparable only to the quadrennial struggles for the nomination for president of the United States. It may not be brought so prominently to public notice—aspirants for labor's chieftainship and their managers do not go in for press agents and brass bands—but it is featured by the same sort of wire-pulling, maneuvering and intriguing that are known in the real politics of the nation.

And with 10 months in which to wage the preliminary campaign just as real a fight is assured as was ever witnessed at a national convention of the Republicans or Democrats. In fact, it will be no surprise to well-informed observers if the federationists put on a regular Madison Square Garden affair next fall.

Meantime the labor movement will mark time. The unions can make no concerted drive for legislation or for organization extension while their leaders primarily interested in the struggle for the sceptre that dropped from Gompers' death-chilled hand. For this, members of congress and the employers of labor are now returning thanks. They may enjoy a brief respite from the cares and trials that beset them constantly when labor is seeking to advance its program for dealing with economic, social and industrial ills.

An evidence of this respite was seen in the recent announcement by Senator Cummins that it had been found impossible to arrange a conference to consider amendments to those provisions of the transportation act of 1920 which established the railroad labor board. What are known as the "Big Four" of the unions of railway workers are not identified with the Federation of Labor, and hence may not be interested in the contest for Gompers' position, but there are 17 unions of employes in the transportation industry that are affiliated with the federation.

However, the real interest of legislators and captains of industry in what is going on in the labor world is in speculating as to whether the future policy of the federation is to be conservative or radical. Gompers was essentially a conservative, as men on the other side of the industrial equation who fought him for years came finally to recognize, and by sheer force of his personality he kept his organization conservative. There was nothing "red" about him except his red-blooded American patriotism, and he fought the reds in every move they made to prostitute American workers to the program of European extremists.

It is no secret that there are radicals in the labor movement in this country. What their ultimate aim may be nobody knows, for they have not as yet declared it, contenting themselves with a "boring in" program while they do their proselyting. But Gompers knew them, and distrusted their purposes, and fought them tooth and nail.

In the great war emergency that threatened this nation and the civilization of the world Gompers met with government officials and representative employers and agreed readily and frankly that "there should be no strikes or lockouts during the war," and that became the broad fundamental principle upon which the National War Labor board functioned. Gompers kept the faith.

There is general interest in the eventuality that is to determine whether his successor as the real leader of organized labor in the United States is to be a man who would do the same thing in a similar emergency should one arise.

NEWSY GOSSIP OF BIG CITIES

By CHARLES A. SMITH.

LONDON, Jan. 16.—Radio listening-in as a cure for nerve cases and insomnia is being recognized by English hospital authorities, who are installing radio sets as a matter of routine in all hospitals.

The hospital authorities noticed that patients who had access to radio sets were contented, and slept well, after hearing evening programs.

Famous doctors and specialists agree that music has tremendous curative powers, and that its growing use will greatly help them.

The South African government is formulating plans for sending lessons by radio to children who cannot cover great distances to the nearest school house.

Parents would be instructed by broadcast as to how their children should proceed with the lessons transmitted, and would also be asked to supervise their "pupils," who, it is suggested, might work in groups.

The government has great hopes that this plan will solve the problem of teaching a widely scattered child population.

Wider powers are to be sought by the British postmaster general to track down radio "fans" who have not bought the government's license to listen-in.

It is estimated that there are at least 3,000,000 owners of radio sets in the British Isles; but, according to figures issued by the postoffice department, only 1,000,000 of them have bought licenses, which means a huge loss of revenue to the broadcasting company and the government, and the stunting of the growth of radio in the country due to insufficient funds.

"Radio ear" is the latest disease of humanity.

A Berlin doctor claims to have discovered the disease, which is an affection of the skin around the ear, and is attributed to the wearing of radio-headpieces which press too tightly.

The trouble yields rapidly to treatment; but "fans" are advised to place linen pads on the ear-pieces in such a way as to relieve the pressure and allow the passage of air.

A new amateur radio feat is reported from South Africa, where a Johannesburg amateur has succeeded in establishing communication with America, 8,000 miles distant.

He sent out signals every Sunday evening on his home-made set, and recently he received acknowledgement that his signals had been received.

A building, similar to the Eiffel Tower in Paris, is to be erected in Berlin shortly for the purpose of radio transmission.

Radioing a "thought" is to be tried out upon its patrons by the British Broadcasting company, official English radio broadcasting company.

The idea is that a prominent man, famous for his intellectual and "thinking" powers, should stand before a microphone and for the space of two or three minutes try to broadcast an easy, concrete thought.

He would concentrate, with all his mental energy and thought, on a certain matter, and endeavor at the same time to transmit that thought into the microphone. The radio broadcatchers would for the moment become thought-catchers and try to receive a mental impression of the thought.

The first "beam" radio station, by which it will be possible to radio direct to a given spot without interference is to be erected at Dorchester, the famous hometown of Thomas Hardy.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 16.—This is perhaps the most expensive city in America in which to die. Until recently no one was buried under ground and the magnificent mausoleums constitute one of the wonders and show places of New Orleans.

The most famous of the burial grounds in the Metairie cemetery. It contains among others the monuments of General Albert Sydney Johnston and General Stonewall Jackson. The average monument costs around $30,000 and a few cost $150,000.

Sight-seeing wagons are at every hotel to take visitors to the burial grounds. The approach to them are through picturesque groves with chains of artificial lakes. There are pretty walks, white shell roads and huge live oak trees festooned with gray Spanish moss.

A few miles away is Lake Pontchartrain, where General Jackson landed in 1814. Near the old Spanish Fort is a glimpse of Holland with the myriad sails of the oyster luggers.

Returning from the Spanish Fort we drove through St. Charles street, one of the finest residential streets in the world. It was dusk and lights were beginning to blaze in the fine colonial structures. In the yards one saw many stately palms and tropical plants.

In the center of the wide street is a grassy mall where the street cars run. This strip was once the open sewers of New Orleans which has won an heroic fight for sanitation. The water is pure and pestilence has been wiped out.

The French quarter is, of course, the piece de resistance for the sightseer. In these narrow streets where old homes with their picturesque balconies have withstood time valiantly is to be found the gaiety of New Orleans. Midnight cabarets flourish and smiling ladies sit at tables to encourage drinking and get their percentage therefrom. The cabarets are colorful but not ornate.

The old French market occupies four city blocks. More than 20 languages are spoken there. The market offers the greatest variety of fruits, vegetables, meats, fish and game to be found anywhere. The sharp bargaining creates a babble of tongues. The New Orleans marketer knows how to drive a sharp bargain.

New Orleans loves the sport of kings. The racing forms are eagerly sought and everywhere you see people studying "past performances." Several daily turf papers are published here. They tell of gambling house runners, but I did not encounter the gentry. Perhaps my gay shirts gave them the idea I was one of them.

I met the "New Orleans Kid," an odd bit of human flotsam who has roamed the world, but always comes back like a bad penny to New Orleans. "The Kid" believes in taking life as he finds it. "When I wear out my shoes I find I am on my feet," he said with a pholisophic grin. His last quixotic adventure was in Spain, where he said he was asked to leave merely because he remarked that Spain would be a nice place to start something.

The Creole ladies are famed for their beauty. And they are indeed beautiful, but there is a haunting melancholy about them it seems to me. They suggest moonlight nights, a balcony and a Spanish guitar.

FEARFUL AND WONDERFUL

Glands, radio and cross-word puzzles occupy this age. A gland fluid, taken from the base of the brain in animals, of course, is to be used as a restorative for human beings.

Dr. H. M. Evans, distinguished scientist of the University of California, who calls his discovery "vitamin X," has developed an extract of the pituitary gland with which animals can be made to grow to gigantic size.

Science is just beginning to understand that most wonderful of all machines, the living body "fearfully and wonderfully made."

POOR SACRED MONKEYS

Religious men and women in India are agitated because old-blooded Christians, or their agents are slaughtering India's thousands of sacred monkeys, for the sake of their glands, the latter being transplanted in the bodies of aged, weak humans.

The sacred monkeys are vanishing rapidly, and natives warn the government that the gods—monkey gods, presumably, will have vengeance on India.

FIVE CONTINENTS PICKED UP

A radio expert in Paris "picked up" in one day the broadcasting on five different continents. He got Mesopotamia in Asia, Canada in America, England in Europe, Palmerston, New Zealand, and Oran, in Africa.

When the great day comes and the four angles, as described in the Bible, lift up their voices, at the four corners of the earth, they will be heard by radio listeners on the other side of the world before they are heard by those a quarter of a mile away. That is a miracle.

HE ENJOYED KILLING

In Budapest Lieutenant Lederer, arrested for murder, confesses that he hanged 15 persons. He adds, "I always put on white gloves for the ceremony, and found my greatest pleasure in the hangings."

At that we all shudder, and wonder how any monster could actually enjoy hanging his fellow men.

And yet, not long ago English merchants, on their knees, outside parliament, begged that there might be fewer sets of gallows in their small town. The king, bishop, lord of the manor and the merchants all had their gallows and separate hangmen. The merchants protested that too many men were being hanged. But nobody was willing to give up his gallows, or the right to hang his fellows.

Now a fine estate for sale with gallows and the right to hang men on it would not attract buyers. Refined families would avoid it.

Wheat went above two dollars a bushel in Chicago on Tuesday. Gentlemen recently selling short are now thinking hard.

Early in the Coolidge campaign, when wheat was below $1.20, this column predicted that the price would rise steadily above $1.50, and to help to elect Coolidge. That happened, with a big margin to spare, in votes and in the price of wheat.

Wall street was not quite so cheerful yesterday. There was nothing much the matter. But money for gambling went up to 3½ per cent, and brokers had to have a reason.

Some of them settled on Secretary Hughes' resignation. Any explanation is better than none, although why Mr. Hughes' departure should make stocks less valuable, the ordinary lamb does not know.

There may be some bad news coming out, something not yet discounted.

It is proposed to create an "airport" for New York by roofing over the yards of the Pennsylvania roalroad. Temporary landing and leaving places for flyers might thus be provided in many cities. That ought to be done. Automobile roads, without grade crossings, could also easily be provided, making a roadway above railroad tracks running out through city suburbs. Railroads should be properly compensated, of course.

Makeshift airports will soon be outgrown, however. Before you die in every big city the week-end will see thousands of flying "club cars" each with its load of passengers, flying off to mountains, or seaside, in summer, to Florida, California, etc., in winter.

In 10 years Florida will be as near New York as Atlantic City is now.

WHO'S WHO

MAJOR GENERAL CHARLES P. SUMMERALL

Major General Charles P. Summerall, who will succeed Major General Robert L. Bullard on January 16 in command of the second corp area, during the World war commanded successfully the First Field artillery brigade, first division and fifth, ninth and fourth army corps of the American expeditionary forces.

The new commander at Governor's Island is one of the general officers recommended by General Pershing in his final reports as chief of staff for promotion to the permanent rank of lieutenant general. General Bullard, who held the higher rank before the armistice and for some time thereafter, is another.

General Summerall was born in Lake City, Fla., and appointed to the military academy from that state in 1888. He was a colonel of artillery when the United States entered the World war. In addition to active participation in the hostilities in France as brigade, division and corps commander, General Summerall represented the United States on the inter-allied mission appointed by the supreme war council.

Upon his return to the United States General Summerall commanded the First division at Camp Taylor, Kentucky, and at Camp Dix, New Jersey. On August 5, 1921, he was assigned to command the Hawaiian department. On October 12, 1924, he was detailed to command the Eighth corps area, headquarters at San Antonio, Tex., from which post he will go to Governor's Island next month.

General Summerall will be succeeded at San Antonio by Major General Ernest Hinds, now in command of the First division.

DONAHEY O. K.'S FISH HATCHERY

Governor Promises to Support Guilford Dam Bill.

Governor Donahey will support legislation designating the Guilford dam site as a state fish hatchery, if such a bill is enacted by the state legislature, delegates from the Columbiana County Fish and Game Protective Association, who attended the annual meeting of the League of Ohio Sportsmen at Columbus, Wednesday, were told, they said today.

President John L. King, of Salem, and attorney Frank Grosshans, of East Liverpool conferred with Governor Donahey at the executive mansion, when the proposed hatchery was discussed. The governor expressed his interest in the plan and pledged his signature to the bill if it is enacted.

The two sportsmen also conferred with State Senator Harry M. Carpenter of Steubenville and State Representative Ralph Emmons of East Rochester. Both legislators promised to use their influence to have the bill approved at the present session of the legislature.

The Guilford dam proposal has hung fire for several years. As both the legislature and the governor now seem friendly toward the project, it is likely that the legislation will be enacted.

Both Mr. King and Attorney Grosshans attended a banquet of the League Wednesday night. Senator Carpenter and Representative Emmons were their guests. Mr. Grosshans was appointed a member of the legislative committee of the league.

Jazz-Crazed

The youthful figure in California's most unusual matricide will not hang, although her brother expressed the wish that she might. The state law prevents the extreme penalty being imposed on persons aged under 18. But the state will likely demand life imprisonment for Dorothy. This was indicated when jurisdiction over the case was retained by the superior court instead of the juvenile authorities.

District Attorney Brady interviewed the girl and said he was at a loss to know just what to do.

"It is the first case of the kind on record in this state that I know of. Her youth and the circumstances surrounding the killing are all unusual," he said.

The girl's arraignment set her police court hearing for Thursday, January 22. A perfunctory coroner's inquest will be held tomorrow.

Round-up of "Shicks."

Authorities early today had not decided whether the girl would be present, but it was expected she would. Her brother was to testify concerning the finding of his mother's body and another dramatic meeting between the estranged sister and brother was in prospect.

Police today continued their "sheik" roundup. Warrants were issued for 17 young men as a result of the girl's story and three of them had been arrested early today.

"They are just as guilty of this as I," she snapped when told that her erstwhile associates in "jazz land" were to be arrested.

"They started me and kept me going on the way to this."

She had a good word for only one of the seventeen. It was for Keith Lord, popular young banjoist, now in Los Angeles.

"Keith was a gentleman—different from the others," she said.

Lord, Dave Stein and Harry Chinitz were the three under arrest today. They were charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor and later the charge against Chinitz was changed to a statutory offense.

As a precaution against possible suicide, Policewoman Sullivan spent the night in the girl's cell.

"Bright Lights, Liquor" Creed.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 16.—"Bright lights and plenty of liquor."

That was the creed of Dorothy Ellingson, 16-year-old girl killer, according to Keith Lord, cafe banjo player, formerly of San Francisco, who today told what he knew of the girl known here as Dorothy Rousse.

"That seemed to be her ambition—life and booze," said Lord.

Lord appeared anything but excited when the news of the girl's confession was given to him.

"She told them she did the shooting, did she," he said. "Well, it's too bad. I knew her in 'Frisco and knew that she was nutty about wild parties and night life with lots of liquor, but I never thought she was the kind to do any shooting."

That's how Lord summed it up. He was cleaning a valuable banjo when he told all he knew about the girl and did not stop for a minute unless it was to emphasize a remark.

Said Mother Was Dead

"I met her when I was working at the New Shanghai cafe just on the border of Chinatown," Lord continued, "and was introduced to her by Harry Chinitz, another musician. She told me she was 19 and she looked the part. Sophistication was written all over her. We went out to places several times, she and I, and I learned very soon her idea of life was the "bright lights" and plenty of liquor. That seemed to be her ambition—life and booze.

"She told me her mother was dead and that she lived with friends by the name of Ellingson.

"Yes, it is true that the police found a letter from me in which I offered to send her money for her fare to Los Angeles and I wrote it because she wrote first and said she was going to leave San Francisco and come here. As far as any love affair is concerned there's nothing to that. In fact, we weren't even good friends. I knew her, thats all."

Shocking Case, Says Welfare Worker.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—"The Dorothy Ellingson case is the worst I ever heard of—More shocking by far than any of the 30,000 I have handled."

That was the comment today of Miss Stella A. Miner, director of the Girls' Security League of America and nationally known welfare worker, on the confession of Dorothy Ellinger, 16, of San Francisco, that she killed her mother to clear the way for her dance down the trail of jazz.

Miss Miner, who has come into contact with girls from every walk of life during her 17 years' experience in welfare work, characterized the shooting as the act of a "feeble minded, diseased moron."

"I have studied girls who were thieves, moral degenerates and criminals of the lowest type," she said. "But this case is beyond my comprehension."

"The girl evidently was carried away by her primitive instincts—her desires were those of a girl of 16, but her mind was that of a six-year-old. Probably she would have shot her mother when prevented from carrying out any intense desire."

Society is Blamed

Miss Miner said she saw no similarity between the tragedy and the Loeb-Leopold case.

"Loeb and Leopold were over developed mentally, while this girl's mentality was underdeveloped," she said.

Asked if she believed the jazz craze was entirely responsible for the crime, Miss Miner said:

"No—society is to blame. If society did it's full share in welfare work, it would get hold of these girls before they get in trouble. We should find out and take care of their difficulties before it is too late."

"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. Girls don't become wicked all at once. Dorothy Ellingson must have been in trouble before. At the first sign that she is delinquent or feeble minded, a girl should be placed where she can not get into more serious difficulties."

Today "Black Friday" In California; Three Men go to Gallows

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 16.—This was "Black Friday" in California prisons.

Three men were to go to the gallows—two at San Quentin in a double hanging and one at Folsom. The tripple execution, the first in recent years, results from the murder of Charles Capman, Los Angeles, broker in a holdup.

John Sears and Jack Ferdinand were to hang at San Quentin and John Geregas at Folsom.

Names Dates of Eight Sales.

According to the detectives, corn whisky, mostly in pop bottles, is sold at $1.50 per half pint in the sister city. The detectives allege they made purchases of corn whisky in eight places, evidence of which is now held by Mayor Brown.

The mayor said sales were made by the following Wellsville men:

Benny Carbisillo, third street, on December 26. William Ammon, 213 Third street, December 27. Polovia Brinzia, 309 Broadway, December 29. John Checkler, 337 Third street, December 26. Samuel Gugone, Broadway, December 26. Frank Martina, 1421 Main street, December 27. Charles Prizzia, 1230 Commerce street, December 30. L. Vacarillo, 321 Commerce street, December 30.

Leak In Raid Plans.

The private operatives charge that the plans of the proposed raids leaked out, and, as a result, whisky was found in but two of the places visited. A gallon jug was found at the home of Polovia Brinzia, 309 Broadway, while a warm pop bottle of whisky was confiscated at the home of L. Vaccarillo.

The sales charges against the offenders were dropped when the prisoners agreed to enter pleas of guilty to charges of possession Mayor Brown asserts.

According to the Steubenville detectives, their investigation in Wellsville started after Prohibition Commissioner McDonald had received a complaint from Wellsville citizens relative to alleged laxity in dry enforcement there. The prohibition department sent two of its representatives into Wellsville to investigate the complaints.

The two agents, accompanied by Chief of Police Fultz, of Wellsville, were taken to suspected places but no liquor was found. The chief said, according to the detectives, that Wellsville police had made a raid a few days previously.

Mayor Defends Detectives.

When complaints continued to pour in, representatives of the detective bureau went to Columbus and conferred with Commissioner McDonald. They were authorized to go into Wellsville, obtain evidence on violators and file charges in Mayor Brown's court. C. E. Harris, head of the agency, telephoned to the mayor upon his return to Steubenville to obtain his consent to handle the cases. This the mayor agreed to do, at the request of the state prohibition commissioner.

After a few days' investigation Harris again went to Columbus and submitted his evidence to McDonald, who instructed that he make the arrests, officials said. Last Saturday's raids followed.

Mayor Brown, in defending the detectives, asserted that no arrests were made where only a small amount of wine was found. Only in cases where six, seven and ten barrels were discovered were charges filed as the detectives were convinced that this amount was far more than was needed for the ordinary family.

Police and Detectives

Ambrose Hancock, secretary of the club, appeared before Mayor Brown last night and entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of illegally possessing liquor. His hearing was set for next Wednesday.

Collect Liquor-Soaked Earth.

Waiting their opportunity for some one to leave the building, the raiding party got by the outside door at the Turners' hall, they said. They forced their way through the second door and started to cut their way through the third door with an axe, when it was opened, they reported. The officers found no liquor but located a quart bottle upside down draining through a hole in the floor. One of the officers cut a hole in the floor and collected earth where the bottle had been drained. This was taken to the city hall as evidence.

Leonard Copeland, who is alleged to have opened the third door to the raiders after they had started to cut through, was arrested, charged with possessing liquor. He entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned before Mayor Brown last night and was released under $1,500 bond for a hearing next Wednesday.

Detective Criticizes Fultz.

The Steubenville detectives left here today for Steubenville, asserting their work here completed for the time being, at least. They will return next Wednesday when the hearings against the Turners' and Eagles' Clubs are to be held.

Harry Webster, a member of the detective agency today criticized the raids which were being made in East Liverpool by Wellsville police.

"It's a case of sour grapes only", he declared. "We have tried to play a square game with Chief Fultz, but if he wants to play dirty we will meet him with the same kind of tactics. I have a card up my sleeve, which I don't care to show just yet, but which I am sure will put Fultz out of business."

The Steubenville force shifted the scene of their operations to rondale, Jefferson county, Wednesday, arresting three men, all foreigners, charging them with liquor violations.

The trio were taken before Mayor W. G. Parkes of Smithfield, where one of them, charged with illegal possession, was fined $400 and costs. The other two, upon whom detectives assert they had sales, entered pleas of not guilty. They were released on bond pending a hearing next Monday.

In a signed statement, obtained by the Smithfield mayor, one of the offenders claimed he had purchased his liquor in Wellsville, the detectives said. He refused to divulge the name of the party who sold him the liquor, however.

Operative Webster today declared that his assistants and police in their raids in Wellsville, Saturday, had found approximately 4,000 gallons of liquor, mostly wine. The owners were ordered to destroy it, after pleading guilty to the possession charges. Webster said he would make a check-up within a few days to determine whether or not the mayor's orders had been carried out. If they have not new charges will be referred against the owners.

Fifth Birthday Of Prohibition; Friends, Foes Talk

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16—Federal prohibition is five years old today.

Congress is preparing a birthday gift to commemorate the event in the shape of an amendment to the Volstead law making it mandatory on judges to impose jail sentences as well as fines on those who are convicted of violating it. The amendment was approved by the house judiciary committee and soon will be up for passage.

The natal day of prohibition would have passed unnoticed in the capital had it not been for the usual statements concerning its effects, published by its friends and its enemies.

Wayne B. Wheeler, generalissimo of the anti-saloon league, said prohibition is a great success and predicted that in another five years people will think it strange that they ever patronized bootleggers.

Captain W. H. Stayton president of the association against the prohibition amendment, said the Volstead law was a flat failure and predicted that it won't be long before national sentiment compels a modification of the law.

Wellsville Raiders

therein. In one place, Zazerrella's, in Commerce street near Thirteenth, we found almost four and one-half barrels of wine. This man's place was among those visited by the dry detectives last Saturday. Another instance of the same kind can be pointed out at John Dissaro's, where we found nine barrels of wine left by the Saturday raiders. We dumped the whole lot. We don't believe in this method of cleaning up."

"And we're going to dump every drop we can find.

"We're going to clean up Wellsville as well as other places, if we've got to work night and day to do it."

Practically the entire Wellsville police force and Mayor James S. Barnes made up the raiding party that made the rounds of the city last night.

The raids will continue, Chief Fultz announced today.

Eight Men Jailed After Two are Shot In Mining Town

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Jan. 16.—Eight union miners and five non-union miners were placed in the county jail here today and other arrests are expected this afternoon in connection with the shooting to death of Walter Tobin, a non-union miner and the probable fatal wounding of John Kello, a union miner in a free-for-all fight at Granttown, a mining settlement near here last night.

Sheriff J. C. Riggins is maintaining several extra deputies on guard at various points in the county to prevent another outbreak.

CLUTTER CHARGED WITH LARCENY

Arthur Clutter, 19, of near the Oak Grove Campground, is in the county jail in default of a $600 bond, as the result of charges of grand larceny, which have been preferred against him by H. C. Timmons, a neighbor.

Clutter was arrested yesterday by Chief of Police John Fultz of Wellsville, after Timmons filed charges of grand larceny against him before Justice P. V. Mackall. Timmons says that during the absence of his family from their home last November 18, Clutter entered their house and stole approximately $200 worth of clothing, groceries and jewelry.

The young man pleaded guilty to the charge and was held for action by the grand jury. He was unable to furnish bond.

London Fog-Bound.

LONDON, Jan. 16.—London and its environs again were fog-bound today.

Direct parcel-post service for unregistered packages was recently inaugurated between the United States and Indo-China.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Selling pressure continued in the stock market in the early trading today. Most of the industrial leaders recovered at the opening but were unable to withstand the heavy volume of selling which broke out over the market in the first period and prices were again inclined downward.

Stocks and bonds of the St. Paul road were uniformly weak, as a result of the official statement of President Harry E. Byram admitting failure of the road to cover 1924 operating expenses and announcing that bankers for the road required an independent report of its physical and financial condition in order to evolve a plea for refunding the 1925 maturity of $48,000,000 for four per cent bonds. The bonds dropped from 2 to 4 points and the preferred stocks was down 2 points in confused selling.

'Why Christ Must Die,' Topic of Evangelist J. W. Lockhart

Baptismal Services Follow Revival Meeting in Church of Christ Thursday Evening.

Revival services at the First Church of Christ, under the direction of Evangelist J. W. Lockhart of Des Moines, Iowa, continue with successful results. Last night, the evangelist spoke on the theme "Why Christ Must Die."

Baptismal services were held at the conclusion of the preaching services. At the Thursday evening service, Prof. Harbinson sang "My Savior Died For Me," Music was also rendered by the chorus choir.

Yesterday, Dr. Lockhart and Prof. Harbinson conducted a meeting in the Edwin M. Knowles pottery, Newell, and today they were to address students at the Ohio Valley Business College. An effort is being made to have 1,000 persons attend Bible school next Sunday. A meeting for women and girls only will be held Sunday afternoon. The sermon subject for this service is "Sweetheart, Wife, Mother."

Tonight the evangelist will discuss "Why I Am a Christian." In his sermon, last night, he said:

"This is a question that lies along the border land of the Infinite which we may never be able to fully understand, but a long while ago I decided to understand all I could and then accept the rest on faith. I can see how Jesus had to die to show God hates sin with an infite hatred. It shows the extremity to which sin will drive men.

"It was sin that falsely accused the Lord, it was sin that had betrayed him, it was sin that spurned him, spat upon him, placed the crown of thorns upon his head, rent his garments and then laid the rude Roman cross upon his weakened body, it was sin that drove the nails through his quivering flesh and then raised him between the heavens and the earth, and scoffed at him because he did not use his powers to come down from the cross.

"Jesus must die to show God's love for the world. Love's strength standeth in love's sacrifice. We can measure our love for another by the willingness we have to sacrifice for them.

Then Jesus must die in order that he might rise again from the grave. Had he not died there would have been no resurrection morning, no demonstration that there is life beyond the Grave. And Oh, what a saving power to this old world to have this certain hope of life immortal. I go up and down the world and everywhere I find death and mourning and what a comforting message I can bring in Jesus name as he bids me say, 'Because I live ye shall live also. He that believeth in me though he were dead yet shall he live.'"

Half the world is half asleep

Can success in life be undermined by constipation? Indeed it can. The poisons of this disease tire you out, wear you down, make you listless and make you lose interest in things in general. Ambition is most often prompted by a thoroughly healthy body. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brings permanent relief from constipation.

He didn't have the energy to fight

LOST . . . another big order . . . the fourth defeat that day. All because he didn't have the energy to fight when his prospect said "No." Something had blunted his senses and stolen his strength.

That "something" was constipation. What a shame so many people suffer from constipation when there is an easy, pleasant, sure way to permanent relief—the regular use of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—two tablespoonfuls daily, or in chronic cases, with every meal.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is what doctors call a bulk food. As it travels through the system, its fiber remains unchanged. Therefore, it sweeps the intestine clean and drives out the vicious poisons of constipation. ALL-BRAN also absorbs and carries moisture through the intestinal tract, stimulating it to healthy, normal action. ALL-BRAN works as nature works.

Serve Kellogg's ALL-BRAN with milk or cream, sprinkled over cereals, or cooked with cereals; in soups, or made into the many recipes given on the package. Delicious with fruits too. If eaten regularly, it is guaranteed to bring permanent relief or your grocer returns the purchase price.

Caution! Be sure to get Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Only ALL-BRAN brings sure results. Kellogg's is the original and only ALL-BRAN. All grocers sell it. Leading restaurants serve it. Buy a package today.

RULINGS GIVEN BY JUDGE MOORE

Decisions Handed Down On Motions Presented to Court.

When the case of Dell M. Walker, of Salem, against Ferman A. Rinehart, as director of public service of Salem, was before Judge James G. Moore on a motion, the court refused to make additional parties defendant, as the court had been requested. This motion was overruled by the court. It had been proposed to have the other certain public interests of Salem brought into the case, but the court could not see its way clear to allow this motion.

In the case of John Byder and others against William E. Burson, which is for a specific performance of contract to compel conveyance of land under contract, the defense has been granted leave to answer until February 7.

In the case of W. B. Davis against the McLean Tire and Rubber company, of East Liverpool, the receiver has been ordered to sell a certificate to purchased book accounts at private sale, and make an accounting to the court.

The First Christian church of Wellsville has been granted the permission of the court to incumber its real estate as prayed for.

The demurrer to the answer has been overruled by the court in the case of G. W. Todd, as guardian, against Howard Sell and others, which is an action to recover $140,000 and interest.

FARM BUREAU TO HOLD MEETING

The annual meeting of the Columbiana County Farm Bureau will be held in the Grand theatre Saturday, beginning at 10 o'clock. The session is expected to close not later than 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

L. B. Palmer, president of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation of Columbus will make the principal address during the day, and he will speak in the afternoon.

John M. Kerr of Yellow Creek township will preside, and following a season of community singing, the invocation will be pronounced by the Rev. Peter W. Macauley of the Lisbon Presbyterian church. The minutes of the last meeting will be read by Secretary Homer P. Williams, and a roll call by townships will follow.

H. W. Matthews of Salem, president of the Columbiana County Horticultural society, will give an address upon the fruit situation in this county.

Election of officers will be the order of business during the afternoon session. Former County Agent Clarence E. Rowland, now stationed at Elyria, will present his report of the work done by the farm bureau last year.

Issuing Dog Licenses.

A total of 503 dog lincenses have been issued so far this year, according to the records in the office of Deputy County Auditor Randall Hamilton. The heavy demand for licenses just at this time is due to the fact that many people pay this license fee when they go to Lisbon to pay their taxes.

Case Appealed.

After Robert Newell, of East Liverpool had recovered judgment for $22 for labor in the court of Justice of the Peace John H. Burgess, of East Liverpool, against G. A. Barrett, Barrett took an appeal to common pleas court, posting a bond for $50. The transcript in the case has just been filed.

East Palestine

Sunday morning witnessed the starting of a new religious body in this city, known as the Community Church of Christ with Rev. Dennis C. Meyers, former pastor of the local Christian church, as minister. The church will meet in the Grand theatre, West Rebecca street. The new cult is said to have been organized a few days ago with thirty-seven members, twelve of whom are said to be preparing for offices of deacon and deaconess. Frank Schreiber is clerk and Mrs. C. B. Purdue is treasurer of the new church.

Mrs. Mary A. Smith, aged 67, widow of the late William Smith, died in the home of her sister, Mrs. Solomon Faulk, Sumner street, Friday evening, from a paralytic stroke. Mrs. Smith was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ward and was born on the Ward farm, just south of this city, in October, 1858. After her marriage she spent the remaining years of her life in this city, where she was a member of Methodist Episcopal church and other groups. The deceased is survived by a son, Homer Smith; by a sister, Mrs. Ada Atchison; two brothers, Charles and Sherman Ward; two sisters-in-law, Mrs. Faulk and Mrs. Richard Leake; one brother-in-law, J. S. Smith and five grandchildren, all of this city. Funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon from the home of Mrs. Atchison, East Main street, with Rev. W. H. Mitchell, pastor of the local Methodist Episcopal church, in charge. Burial was made in the local cemetery.

Members of the Fidelity class of the Presbyterian Sunday school, met Friday evening in the church parlors. Mrs. Ernest Kirtley led the devotional exercises, which were followed by a short business session. Plans were completed for the holding of a birthday anniversary party, on Feb. 6, each member contributing as many pennies as she is years old. Games and contests entertained during the social hours and a lunch was served by the committee in charge.

495 School Children Develop Goiter Lack of Iodine Causes Thyroid Trouble

In Akron, Ohio, a health survey, especially with regard to goiter, was made among school children, with very interesting results. With the consent of parents and school authorities, goiter was searched for in a large number of pupils. Iodine was then properly administered to these pupils whose parents had consented. Out of 2,190 children who took the iodine, there developed but five slight enlargements of the thyroid gland. Out of 2,305 not taking iodine, 495 developed goiter. The investigations and demonstrations were made by Dr. David Marine and Dr. O. P. Kimball, two of the most famous goiter specialists in this country.

Health officials in many states urge every family to use table salt containing iodine as a preventive of simple goiter. If the deficiency of iodine in our food were corrected at an earlier period, goiter would almost never develop. Just as the body needs lime for its bony structure and iron for its blood, so it must have iodine in small quantities for its glands. The thyroid gland may be called the iodine storage reservoir of the body. This gland must be constantly supplied with iodine in order to take its part in controlling the growth of the body and the development of the mind and nervous system.

GROCERS

MULKEY'S IODINE SALT is put up in 2-lb. round cartons with pouring spout. Same taste and color as regular high grade salt and gives exactly the same flavor to food on which it is used. The name MULKEY'S on label is assurance that you are getting the original iodine salt distributed through the grocery trade for Goiter prevention.

MILL WORKER BURNED BY OIL

Thos. Edmondson Taken to Allegheny Hospital.

Thomas Edmondson, of this city, employe of the American Sheet & Tin Plate plant here, was taken shortly before noon today to the Allegheny General hospital, Pittsburgh, as a result of burns he received while at work in the mill.

Edmondson was splashed by hot oil, thrown from a can which was accidentally knocked off a stove at the mill. The accident occurred so quickly that Edmondson was unable to get out of the way.

He received burns about his legs, hands and face. Dr. J. S. McCulloch, after a preliminary examination, asserted the man's injuries would probably not be serious.

Edmondson was removed from the mill to the Third street station here in the MacLean ambulance, and placed aboard a Pittsburgh train.

'SIN UNCOVERED' SERMON TOPIC

"Sin Uncovered" will be the subject of a special sermon tonight in the First Evangelical church, by Miss Anna McGhie, Akron evangelist, in charge of revivals here. Tonight will be known as "high school night" at the church.

Last night Miss McGhie discussed the topic, "Signs of the Times."

She said, in part:

"This second lesson is not ancient history. It could have been written this morning and yet be applicable to present conditions. The Bible is the only book that reveals the past, present, future. Most of the people are interested in the study of Jews and how God is dealing with them, but we should be even more interested in studying the Gentile nation and how God is dealing with us.

"God gave the gentile church a great world program. Two thousand years ago Jesus said, 'go into the world and preach my gospel.' But we have not traveled very far since there are only 600,000,000 that have not heard the name of Jesus yet. We have failed God. Men are lovers of pleasure more than lovers of God. Because of this Henry Ford has become the richest man in the world in the past few years. The people of Ohio are spending more money each year on fancy dogs than all the combined churches are giving to missions.

The prophet Nahum tells us that in the days of His preparation, men would run to and fro over the face of the earth. It is only on the past 100 years that we have the invention of the steam engine, the railroad train, the steam ship, automobile and airplane. "The chariot shall race in the street, they shall jostle one aganist another in the broad ways, they shall seem like horses and run like lightning.' Go out on one of our highways and you shall see automobiles racing and running like lightning.

"Satan has his agents of darkness classified and there are those which operate in the social realm and on the marriage relation. One marriage in every 10 ends in divorce. There are those which operate on the commercial world. Satan is working men seven days in the week which is not God's plan. There are evil spirits which operate in the religious world. There was never so much religion and so little salvation as there is now.

"People had a form of godliness but without the power thereof. It is almost impossible to get church members to pray or testify. Their lips are sealed if asked to speak for God but they can talk about everything else. The devil is capturing souls and getting them under his control by the most innocent seeming devices. The ouji board, fortune telling, and polite forms of gambling. The greatest war, the greatest famine, the greatest pestilence, the greatest earthquake have all occurred within this decade. The return of our Lord will be the next great world event.

When Jesus comes to take his bride away, will you want to be left after all the praying people are gone and all restraint on sin is removed? God is hitting things up fast in order to get ready for the next sensation.

Yellow Creek Church Services.

Services will be held at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday in the Yellow Creek Presbyterian church.

LADIES AID HAS CHURCH PARTY

The Ladies' Aid society of the First Presbyterian church entertained approximately 150 women of the church last night at a coverdish supper and program.

The supper arrangements were in charge of Mrs. George Fassett, Mrs. Will Haugh, Mrs. Joseph McDevitt, Mrs. Joseph Ault, Mrs. John Deitrich, Miss Luella McLean and Miss Nannie Faulkner.

Following supper, a program was given by various members of the church. The program was directed by Mrs. E. G. Whitacre, and included stunts, music, vocal and instrumental, and congregational singing.

Pink carnations were used in the decorations throughout the church and in bouquets on the tables.

ATTEND MEETING IN CERAMIC CITY

Members of the congregation of the First Methodist Episcopal church, of this city, are planning to attend the Lockhart-Harbinson revival services which will be held tonight in the First Church of Christ, East Liverpool, according to announcement by Rev. Harry Stewart, pastor.

The services in the East Liverpool church are in charge of Rev. J. W. Lockhart, of Des Moines, assisted by J. F. Harbinson, of Freeport, Ind., song leader.

Tonight will be known as "disciples night" at the services, with delegations from surrounding churches attending.

Rev. Stewart announced today that a special car will leave Wooster's stop, in the west end of the city, at 6:50 p. m. tonight, for the accommodation of the church members. The car will make stops at Eighteenth street and Clark avenue, Seventeenth street and Clark avenue, Twelfth and Main streets, Ninth and Main streets, Fifth and Main streets, Highland avenue, and Kountz avenue.

Approximately 100 local church members are expected to attend the services. The Sunday school orchestra of the Methodist Episcopal church, will accompany them.

FREEDOM TEAMS HERE TONIGHT

High school basketball squads are set for their opening home schedule contests tonight with the teams from Freedom high school. Boys' and girls' teams will clash in the high school gymnasium.

Although Zimmerman's passers played the Alumni here before the holidays, the contest took the form of a practice tilt, inasmuch as it was not included on the regular card.

The Orange and Black quintet won its opener of the season at Chester a week ago and expects to turn in another victory when they exhibit their wares before home fans for the first time this year.

The girls' game will precede the main engagement. Play will start at 7:30 o'clock. Owen Buxton will referee.

LIQUOR HEARING CARDED TODAY

J. Davis, of East Liverpool, arrested by Wellsville police Wednesday on a charge of possessing liquor in violation of prohibition statutes, is scheduled for a hearing this afternoon in the court of Mayor James S. Barnes.

Davis was placed under arrest when Wellsville police raided the Man O' War billiard parlor, Sixth street, East Liverpool, in connection with the enforcement campaign the Wellsville officers are waging in the Ceramic City. He has retained Attorney W. A. O'Grady.

It will be the first contested hearing before Mayor Barnes since the launching of the liquor offensive. Davis is out on bond of $1,000.

Lease Is Recorded.

A five-year lease, taken on the first floor of the Wellsville city hall building by Albert Morrow, has been recorded in Lisbon.

The room was that formerly occupied by the postoffice. Mr. Morrow has remodeled the interior for the establishment of his pool room and tobacco business, which he will move from his present quarters across the street.

Fined On Traffic Count.

Okie McPeak, charged with a violation of traffic ordinances, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Patrolman Newton.

McPeak is alleged to have used the wrong license plate on an automobile he was driving. He paid a fine of $32.60 following a hearing before Mayor James S. Barnes.

REVIVAL MEETS TO START FEB. 1

Rev. T. B. Shearer to Hold Services in First Christian Church.

Annual series of revival services will be launched on Sunday, February 1, in the First Christian church, according to announcement today by Rev. Thomas B. Shearer, pastor.

Rev. Shearer will conduct the services himself. Meetings will be held each evening, with the exception of Saturday. The revivals are scheduled for a period of three weeks.

In connection with the services, members of the congregation will hold a series of cottage prayer meetings, three sessions being scheduled for each week of the services. Meetings will be held on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Arrangements for the cottage prayer meets were completed last night at a meeting of the Delta Alpha Sunday school class. These meetings will be held in the afternoons at 2 o'clock.

The schedule for the three weeks follows:

Monday, Feb. 2—Mrs. A. B. Merical, Wells avenue; Mrs. Thomas B. Shearer, leader.

Wednesday, Feb. 4—Mrs. Paul Jeffries, 1010 Commerce street; Mrs. Donald Morris, leader.

Friday, Feb. 6—Mrs. Pumplum, 314 Eighteenth street; Mrs. Harry Glover, leader.

Monday, Feb. 9—Mrs. Harry Glover, Seventh street; Mrs. Frank O'Hara, leader.

Wednesday, Feb. 11—Mrs. D. McCartney, Anderson avenue; Mrs. Oliver, Beymer, leader.

Friday, Feb. 13—Mrs. Martha Mendell, 606 Fifteenth street; Mrs. Bessie Freeland, leader.

Monday, Feb. 16—Mrs. Thomas B. Shearer, 992 Main street; Mrs. Robert Newby, leader.

Wednesday, Feb. 18—Mrs. Emma Zearley, 1312 Commerce street; Mrs. Paul Eaton, leader.

Friday, Feb. 20—Mrs. Nancy Kinney, Tenth and Wood streets; Mrs. Ed Clendenning, leader.

U. P. MEN'S CLASS PLANS SUPPER

Arrangements have been completed for the Men's Bible class supper and program which will be held tonight in the First United Presbyterian church, according to announcement by Rev. R. W. Ustick, pastor.

Supper will be served promptly at 6:30 o'clock in the dining room. Men of the church as well as members of the Bible class will be invited to attend.

A special program has been planned for the evening. Beginning at 8 o'clock, the choir of the St. John's Lutheran church, of East Liverpool, will render a sacred concert. The choir is directed by C. J. Berg, of Wellsville, and includes a number of local singers. The concert will be given in the church auditorium. The public is extended an invitation.

Sunday Sermon Topics.

Rev. Harry Stewart, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, will discuss the subject, "The Race of Life", at services on Sunday morning. His evening topic will be "Obedience and Knowledge."

Bachelor's Farewell Lands Him in Court; Handed Heavy Fine

WILMINGTON, Del. Jan.—The marriage plans of Jaul V. Bateman, twenty-four, of Philadelphia, were halted temporarily by Judge Daniel O. Hastings, when he was charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated and fined $300 and costs. Bateman was unable to pay the fine and left his automobile as security.

Batemen admitted he was under the influence of liquor, but said friends in Germantown had given him a farewell dinner in view of his approaching marriage. He was met outside the courtroom by his fiancee, who refused to give her name, and the couple hurried away.

STATE SENATE IS DEADLOCKED

Legislative Business is Hanging Fire at Capital.

Legislative business is still hanging fire at Charleston owing to the deadlock in organizing the upper branch for business. The deadlock came as the result of Senators White and Highland refusing to attend the sessions and participate in the election of a presiding officer. Without the vote of the above members the senate membership is tied with 14 Republicans and an equal number of Democrats.

The action of the insurgent Senators in staying away from the sessions has brought the semi-official suggestion that they be arrested and forced to attend. However, no definite plans along this line have been framed by the majority leaders.

As a result the house of delegates, unable to get its legislative machinery at work until the other branch is organized and the two send a joint committee to wait on the governor and ask if he has any message for the legislature held an equally brief session yesterday. Its only action was to get a committee, consisting of Delegates Spradling of Fayette county, Cotton of Ohio county and Cofield of Wetzel county, appointed to confer on seating arrangements.

WELLSBURG HIGH HERE TONIGHT

The stage set for the basketball game here this evening when the local high school passers meet Wellsburg on the Rock Springs park floor. This is expected to prove one of the most interesting games of the season and marks the first meeting with a Wellsburg team in years.

The Brooke county team is one of the best turned out in years and has been meeting with success in the games played this season. They will be accompanied here by a large delegation of students.

The preliminary game in which the Chester high second team will appear is scheduled to start at 7:30.

New Music of the Week

Cross-words by the Duncan Sisters

These diminutive entertainers have the "blues" this week. The first is over cross-word puzzles, and the necessity of dropping the search for higher learning to wash their necks. "Cross-Word Blues" is well enough named. "Mean Cicero Blues" is a classic study of hues.

* * *

A Waltz and Three Fox-Trots

Meyer Davis' Le Paradis Band of Washington makes its first Victor records this week. This famous organization employs no brasses. "Washington and Lee Swing" is somewhat military, while "Nobody Likes You Like I Do" is a familiar Bohemian melody set into a fox-trot.

Jean Goldkette and His Orchestra make a nice slow record of "Honest and Truly," a waltz that invites even the timid to essay an arabesque. "You Should Have Told Me," a fox-trot by Ralph Williams and His Rainbow Orchestra, steps on it in contrast with its more placid companion.

SEVEN MARRIAGE LICENSES ISSUED

The following marriage licenses were issued during the past week at New Cumberland:

James David Ganet, Cleveland, and Patricia Helen Stevens, Cleveland.

Clownie Stover, Newell, and Lucy Riffle, Newell.

Frank Uzarski, Weirton, and Cecelia Alexion, Weirton.

Paul Gordon Whitmore, Steubenville, and Mary Clarissa Le Tellier, Pittsburgh.

Roy James, Wellsburg, and Mary Virginia McCluskey, Wellsburg.

William Jacob Israel, Fairmont, and Frances Lucille Johnson, Wellsburg.

Thomas William Croston, Wellsburg, and Hilda Marguerite Arbogast, Wellsburg.

MINSTREL SHOW MEET SCHEDULED

Definite plans for the minstrel show to be staged under the auspices of the local fire department will be made at a meeting Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the fire station. At this session, which will be attended by those who intend participating, arrangements will be made for holding rehearsals. This feature will be in charge of "Peck" McKinney and Buck Stevenson.

STEVENSON FARM CHANGES HANDS

Announcement was made today that the Stevenson farm near Grandview school, consisting of 63 acres and 13 lots, had been sold to Chester and Steubenville parties.

Surveyors began work this morning on the ground and it is expected that 250 lots will be staked off and offered for sale early in the spring.

FIREMEN ANSWER THREE ALARMS

Members of the fire department were busy here during the past two days responding to three alarms in different sections of the city. Two of the blazes were caused by over heated furnaces and gas stoves.

An alarm shortly after noon Thursday took the fire fighters to the home of Erwin Fair in Carolina avenue, where they found an overheated furnace. No damage was done. Returning to the station they were summoned to the home of Percy Willison on Pyramus street, where a garage was on fire. It was completely gutted and a machine owned by Mr. Willison destroyed. Shortly after 8 o'clock this morning fire was discovered in the home of D. M. Tuttle, Penn avenue, near Ninth street. An upper room was badly damaged.

Class Banqueted.

More than 60 persons attended the chicken supper tendered members of Loyal Daughters' class of the First Christian church last evening in the dining room of the church. The supper was served by the Loyal Sons class which lost in a recent membership contest.

Revival Meetings.

Large crowds are attending revival services at the Church of the Nazarene. Rev. C. B. Fugett of Ashland, Ky., is delivering the sermons. He is being assisted by Mrs. Fugett and the pastor, Rev. B. H. Pocock. Special music is a feature of the meetings which will continue until January 25.

To Attend Services.

Delegation from the First Christian church will attend the evangelistic meeting this evening at the First Church of Christ, East Liverpool. Large number of members of the local church attended the service early in the week.

Old Lotus Seeds Arrive.

Five seeds of the Lotus of the Nile have been received by Dr. W. C. Coker of Chapel Hill, N. C., for the department of botany of the state university there. The seeds are said to be more than 400 years old. These and similar seeds when soaked for eight months showed no sign of germination, until their ends were filled so that the underlying tissue was exposed, after which they germinated and developed healthy plants. Out of a lot of 35 studied all germinated under that treatment in four days.

Military Training Order Being Strongly Opposed in Japan

TOKIO, Jan.—Authorization by the department of Education of universal military training in the school and colleges of Japan has met with great opposition recently over the country.

It has become an issue, and public men are opposing it. It is thought a change in the department's ruling will be made before April; otherwise it will then go into effect.

Justice is ever on the victor's side.

With Amazing Speed It Stops That Tough Hang On Cough That Racks Your Whole Body

For simple coughs any simple sweet sugary cough syrup will probably do.

But when you want to throw out of your system one of those old timers, that simply won't be conquered, but lingers on and on causing sleepless nights and days of torment then you've just got to have a real cough medicine.

Then you must ask your druggist for a bottle of Bronchuline Emulsion for the harder and tougher and tighter they come the more joy Bronchuline gets in knocking them out.

Bronchuline isn't a cheap cough conqueror, mind you, for first raters are never cheap. But if you are one of the unlucky ones that a persistent, health destroying cough is pushing towards the grave, get a bottle today and notice how the first dose takes right hold and soothes the terrible soreness.

Often three or four doses bring blessed relief and half a bottle forces the most stubborn cough into submission.

"A bottle of magic" one old man calls Bronchuline Emulsion. He was all worn out and ready to give up when a friend brought him the good news about Bronchuline.

Don't let a cough hang on—it's dangerous company—Get rid of it quick. Ask Jesse D. Holloway and Carnahan's drug stores, East Liverpool and Newell, W. Va., or any up to the times druggist for a bottle of Bronchuline Emulsion. It's a good medicine to have around the house because it contains no chloroform or dope and often two or three doses will stop any ordinary cough.

DREAM CASTLE MAKES OREGON MISS HAPPY

Portland Girl Wins "Home of Lights in Essay Contest.

$15,000 PRIZE

Julia Sutherland Groo Gets Many Thrills.

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan.—Do dreams ever come true?

Here in Portland a very pretty 18-year-old high school girl awoke one day to find that her dream of fairy castles was soon to become a reality.

For Julia Sutherland Groo is the winner of a $15,000 electrically equipped home, grand national prize offered in the Lighting Educational Committee's home lighting essay contest. She laid claim to being the happiest young woman in America the day she was informed that she was to be the "first lady" of the "castle of lights."

When a woman reporter of a local paper told the attractive high school senior of the award she was so overjoyed she kissed the scribe and danced with joy.

Julia, like 1,000,000 other high school students of the United States and Canada, had entered the essay contest. She rewrote her essay six times, toiled and worried over it—hopeful that perhaps she might get one of the many prizes offered. Perchance back in her mind was the thought of the beautiful home—but that was a dream, she said — and "dreams never come true."

Her first big thrill was a check for $200 received at Christmas for having won the district prize in the contest. She was then to compete for the grand prize. Yet it seemed so far away. But Julia's work was not in vain and the "house of lights is soon to be built for her near the present home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jay S. Groo, on Portland Heights.

The thrills had only started for the talented young girl. Reporters interviewed her, movie and camera men snapped her prettiest smiles, Mayor Baker, of Portland, made a personal call, civic clubs placed her on their programs to learn all about her home. And admiring "swains" suddenly became more ardent.

And at the auditorium of Lincoln High school—before more than a thousand students—she received the formal notice of the magnificent award. Life, she says, has become just one grand dream to her which will reach its zenith some few months hence when she touches the button to set aglow her magic "dream castle."

Miss Groo intends to enter the University of Oregon next Fall and study art under Avard Fairbanks, sculptor.

Canada's New Bridge is Long.

At Lethbridge, Alberta, Canada, a new steel viaduct 5,327 feet long has been opened to traffic. This mile long bridge connects Lethbridge and MacLeod. The maximum difference between the river bed and base of rail is 314 feet. This structure is about 760 miles of Winnipeg.

Germany Far Behind U. S. in Autos; Big Field for Americans

BERLIN, Jan. — There are eighty times as many automobiles per capita in the United States as there are in Germany, according to A. E. Dunning, Secretary of the American Chamber of Commerce in Berlin.

Dunning brought out these figures to prove the United States auto makers have a big future in Europe.

Was a "Bear Cat"

My wife was never an angel, but after five years of liver and stomach trouble she became a 'bear cat.' No doctor or medicine helped her and we thought there was no help for her. Our grocer told me of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, which had helped him for same trouble, so I brought home a bottle, but she promptly threw it out. I got it back and after a week coaxed her into taking it. She is now enjoying the best of health and disposition." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Jesse D. Holloway and Druggists Everywhere.

Do This After Severe Illness

How to Speedily Gain Strength and Put on Needed Weight.

Nothing like the wonderful vitalizing vitamines in Cod Liver Oil to help convalescing people to quickly get strong and well—everybody knows that.

But no body wants to take the ill-smelling, horrible tasting, stomach upsetting oil itself, so nowadays, up to date medical men are ordering a tablet of Cod Liver Oil and it surely has proved a blessing to thousands of people who have been sapped of their natural strength after a severe illness and especially after the Grippe or a stubborn cough or cold.

Ask Anderson, Larkin, Carnahan, or Mathews' Medicine Store, or any regular druggist for a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets. They cost but little, are sugar coated and as pleasant to take as candy.

Skinny men and women take them to speedily put on plenty of good healthy solid flesh and for this purpose they are so extremely good that thin men and women often take on 5 pounds or more in 30 days. As a matter of fact, your druggist will return your money if you don't take on 5 pounds in 30 days.

Great for weak, skinny, backward run-down children, too, and gives them a hearty appetite.

Be sure and ask for McCoy's, the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—60 Tablets—60 cents.

Plum Pudding Blasts Puzzle Housewives Of Mining Region

POTTSVILLE—Explosions of dishes of plum pudding in several Pottsville homes have been reported to city officials. Investigation showed that the explosions were due to start expansion in the puddings after being dished.

In several cases women engaged in preparing for holiday dinners were much alarmed as pans and puddings went bang against ceilings. Puncturing of the top of plum pudding with a fork will prevent such occurences, officials said.

Complete reconstruction in France is expected before 1926.

A WORD FOR BEGINNERS.

The best way to solve a cross-word puzzle is to run quickly over the list of horizontal and vertical synonyms and compare them to the spaces in the puzzle extending crosswise or downward from the number of the synonym. Some word which will just fit in the number of space available will quickly occur to you in some instances, giving you a foundation from which to solve the more difficult words. The words must interlock perfectly.

POEMS THAT LIVE

For Love's Sake Only.

If thou must love me, let it be for naught
Except for love's sake only. Do not say
"I love her for her smile, her look, her way
Of speaking gently; for a trick of thought
That falls in well with mine, and certes brought
A sense of pleasant ease on such a day,"—
For these things in themselves, beloved, may
Be changed, or change for thee,—and love so wrought
May be unwrought so. Neither love me for
Thine own dear pity's wiping my cheek dry,
A creature might forget to weep who bore,
Thy comfort long, and love thy love thereby,
But love me for love's sake, that evermore
Thou may'st love on through love's eternity. —Mrs. Browning

I LAY IN SORROW, DEEP DISTRESSED

I lay in sorrow, deep distress'd;
My grief a proud man heard;
His looks were cold, he gave me gold,
But not a kindly word.
My sorrow pass'd—I paid him back
The gold he gave to me;
Then stood erect and spoke my thanks,
And bless'd his charity.

I lay in want, in grief and pain;
A poor man pass'd my way;
He bound my head, he gave me bread,
He watch'd me night and day,
How shall I pay him back again
For all he did to me?

Oh, gold is great, but greater far
Is heavenly sympathy! —Charles Mackay.

On Death

Can death be sleep, when life is but a dream
And scenes of bliss as a phantom by?
The transient pleasures as a vision seem,
And yet we think the greatest pain's to die.

How strange it is that man on earth should roam,
And lead a life of woe, but not forsake
His rugged path; nor dare to view alone
His future doom, which is but to awake.

—John Keats.

Cigarette a Modern Smoke

Although billions of cigarettes are smoked throughout the world today, the first reference to them in modern European society was in 1842, with their introduction into France and Italy. Laurence Oliphant is credited with introducing them into England. They did not get much of a following in the Central and Western European countries, however, until about 1870 and it was even later than that that they became at all popular and general in the United States.

Although $3,600,000 has been spent in construction of Liverpool's cathedral, at least $9,600,000 more will be needed to complete it.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

THE MOORE FURNITURE CO.
"The Store of Beautiful Furniture"

NEWS NOTES FROM MOVIELAND
BY BABY DEAN

Thanks to Paramount Picture Co. (Famous Players-Lasky) we are being introduced to many new and lovely faces on the screen. Here is a blond beauty from Norway—Grethe Nissen. Although but nineteen Miss Nissen had a number of European stage successes to her credit and won her way to the heart of the great American public by her pantomine success of "Beggar on Horseback."

Paramount officials, always on the lookout for fresh talent, saw her performance and offered her a place among the long line of well known players in their company.

Grethe is said to have a most individual personality. She will be seen in the Paramount screen version of "Beggar on Horseback."

Marguerite La Motte is said to have been given her first chance in the movies because of her trim ankles. She says the exercise that produced the ankles was jumping rope when she was a child.

Tom Mix has just finished a wild west picture called "The Deadwood Coach" and is preparing to play "Dick Turpin." In this latter, the story of a famous English highwayman, Mix has to wear plumed hat, high boots, brocaded velvets and a long cloak. "Just what Tony will think of me in this get-up I am afraid to guess. And I know somebody will have to hold Duke when he first sees me."

Patsy Ruth Miller has a 15-year-old brother, Winston. When Frank Lloyd selected Patsy to play the lead in "Judgment," he also sent for Winston, but rejected him for the part he had in mind because he doesn't look like Patsy at all. Patsy has finished "Judgment" and has been signed by Universal to play opposite House Peters in "Head Winds," and Winston has a featured role in "Kings of the Turf," playing the part of a jockey.

When Richard Rowland, president of First National Pictures, returns from Europe and Colleen Moore gets to New York they will act as godparents to John Francis Dillon, Jr., whom the stork recently presented to Mr. and Mrs. John F. Dillon. Baby's father is the director of "One Way Street" now being filmed at Biograph Studio, N. Y. City.

Another handsome member of the Latin races is following in the footsteps of Rudolph Valentino, Ramon Navarro and Antonio Moreno and his name is Ricardo Crrtez.

Cortez was born inVienna, Austria of Spanish parents, but came to this country with his parents, when he was only three years old and went to school in New York. It was there, too, that he got his first job as broker's runner at $4 a week. And he was determined even then, to be an actor.

His first screen work was as extra with Violet Mesereau at the Fort Lee Studio. He also worked as "fly boy" high up among the ropes of the old Broadway theatre and sold candy and ushered in the same place. He got a chance to be a "supper" in stock in Albany and for two years played all sorts of parts—including "bits," juveniles and leads. But the pay was small and back into business went Ricardo.

As traffic manager for the Fleet Shipping Co. he went to Los Angeles on business. One night Jesse Lasky, vice president of the Paramount company, saw him dancing in a hotel, noted his looks, bearing, etc., and asked him to call at the picture headquarters. The result was a contract.

"Children of Jazz," "The Next are some of the pictures in which he made favorable appearances. He was cast for the part of "Tony Channing" in "Fact of Clay," played opposite Bebe Daniels in "Argentine Love" and is now being featured in the screen version of Molnar's "The Swan," which Dimitri Buchowetski is producing at Paramount Long Island Studio.

Cortez is unmarried although time was when he was reported engaged to Agnes Ayres. But Agnes married M. Reachi, Mexican diplomat, and Ricardo is busy with his screen career. He is six feet tall, of dark complexion and is fond of swimming, golf, hand-ball, squash and horseback riding.

Eleanor Boardman is one of the most promising of our younger screen stars. Her name now blazes in front of the best picture houses.

In one of her latest releases Eleanor shares honors with "Peter the Great," the German police dog who was brought to this country recently and does clever work in "The Silent Accuser."

Miss Eleanor is a Philadelphia girl and was educated in the Philadelphia School of Applied Arts. She had stage experience before doing picture work, which always seems to us to help, although it is said that the two arts—those of the stage and screen—are so dissimilar that one cannot help the other.

"Souls for Sale," "Gimme," "Strangers' Banquet," Three Wise Fools," you will recall as some of the pictures in which she has appeared. "Wine of Youth," "Sinners of Silk," "The Silent Accuser" and "So This is Marriage," are her later releases.

We think Rafael Sabatini, author of "Scaramouche," deserves being the winner of the $10,000 prize offered by Adolphe Zukor, president of Famous Players-Lasky, for the story which made the best motion picture in the year ending September, 1924. A large number of worthy pictures were considered, and the field finally narrowed down to 17, from which "Scaramouche," "The Thief of Bagdad" and "The Woman of Paris" were chosen for final decision. "Scaramouche" was selected "because it was from all viewpoints an exceptional motion picture. It possessed that fidelity of action essential to effectiveness; it reflected realistically a particularly dramatic period in history; it possessed great pictorial beauty and was directed with skill and played by a brilliant cast." The Fairbanks opus, "The Thief," was disqualified because it was based on Arabian Nights legends, and Chaplin's "A Woman of Paris" was felt to be more of a directional than a literary triumph.

Estelle Taylor's first Christmas gift this year was from an artist student in Berlin, Germany, and was an oil painting of herself.

Dorothy Mackail does not care for jewelry and wears only a ring her mother gave her when she was a little girl.

"If I ever drop acting, me for camera work," says Corinne Griffith. She recently photographed two whole sequences of her new picture, "Declasse," Ethel Barrymore's stage success.

Leatrice Joy has changed her mind and will not quit the films to devote herself exclusively to Baby Leatrice, as she threatened. She is to play the principal part in "The Dressmaker From Paris."

Ann Pennington, she of the pulchritudinous knees, is to play the title role in "The Mad Dancer."

When Louise Fazenda left Mack Sennett's lot with a contract from Warner brothers to play "featured leads" she gave a sigh of relief.

"No more slapsticks," thought Louise.

Recently she was loaned to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to work in Robert Z. Leonard's production of "Cheaper to Marry." Here are a few things she had to do.

Make a thirty foot dive; stay under water one minute; make three comic falls; ride an ostrich; take a mud bath; have a permanent wave.

"Guess I'll go back to Sennett's where they make dramatic pictures," sighs Louise.

New Gravity System From Adirondack Gives City Supply

WHITEHALL, Jan.—Whitehall's new gravity water supply system was put in operation recently and furnishes the city with an unlimited supply of water from the Adirondacks. One of the novel features of the construction is that pipe line running from the original dam in the mountains to the reservoir in this city crosses South Bay, of Lake George, on the lake bottom. Laying the pipe on the lake bed was not so difficult as it sounds.

The pipes were laid from a scow onto a wooden crib, and when the full length was finished, it was simply dropped overboard.

Three Generations of Women

Since the humble origin of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in 1881, made on a kitchen stove, three generations of women have used this old-fashioned root and herb remedy for their ailments with wonderful success. Very often we hear of families where the grandmother, mother and daughter testify to its virtue. This accounts for the astounding growth and demand for this dependable medicine from all over the United States and from many foreign countries as well.

"God!" Rossiter said to himself, the professional in him alive. "If a director saw her now, he'd go off his head! She can do anything with the muscles of her face—her body, too! I knew it! She has the gift—wonderfully." He asserted with perfect calm: "You've let your father's history prey on your mind and distort everything. There are few places on this earth where it matters so little what one's father was as here in Hollywood. What you make of yourself is what counts here. Good heavens! If I were a girl and had your face, I'd run to the first studio! Do anything they gave me to do! Get my start somehow! I'd show the world what John Dascome's daughter could do! There's Jasmine James! The less said about her family the better—everyone knows it—but the plucky little girl didn't get desperate over it. She just kept out of bad company and smiled herself into the studios and worked. And Arline Blair—she came back—this is a place where a girl can come back. It's a deal more Christian-spirited and not a whit more sinful than Boston! I respect those girls!" Rossiter was doing some acting; he dropped to resigned conviction. "You have twice their beauty and the grit; I told you so in New York. But it isn't in you to hold to a purpose in spite of everything and work. You've shown since coming here that it simply isn't in you."

Clarice was on fire again. "It is! I could! That's what I meant to do when I came here!" Her eyes filled again. "But you were hateful to me!" She came closer, lifted her face to his, eyes and voice infinitely appealing. "Why, if it doesn't matter—about father—did you change like that? Please tell me! . . . Please?"

She was the May morning again, and Rossiter cursed himself for not having been heartless, not having bowed himself out. He was as confused as was possible to him; he was caught in a net of his own spreading. He could not say, "I didn't want any Dascome blood in my children."

He looked away. "I've just told you—I have no confidence in you."

Suddenly her arms were about his neck, her lips on his, a swift passionate pressure. "I'll do anything, anything! I'll work day and night. I can. I will—if only you'll love me—as you did!" She kissed his cheek, held his face to hers. "You did love me once—I know it. You wanted to marry me. You say it doesn't matter—who I am—and I'll never do anything you don't like. I won't hate anybody—I'll do right—if only you'll love me!"

It was complete abandon. Rossiter was burning. It was not in him to resist the physical appeal, not when made by Clarice. He held her close and kissed her. Kissed her again, half in desperation; the girl did not realize! It was marriage she was pleading for, and he couldn't give it. She was so young—and so honest. He thought of Karesia. "Clarice! Good Lord!" He held her off. "You don't know what you're doing!"

She stood quivering and gasping. "You love—Mrs. Kaime?"

"Yes. I do."

"You're going to—marry her?"

"I am—if she'll have me."

She jerked away and flung herself down on the couch, and beat the pillows with her clenched fists. "I wish I were dead! I wish I were dead! . . . I can't bear it—I hate her!"

Rossiter did not trust himself to look at her. He walked about seeking composure and gained it. It struck him forcibly that he had made a bitter enemy for Karesia. Dascome had some object in insinuating himself into Karesia's house, safe to say that his object was not a good one. Clarice was of the same stock, and this morning's work had made her a danger.

Rossiter went to her and touched her shoulder. "Clarice, I want to speak to you."

She lifted a face so livid that it was blue. "Well?"

"I want to tell you something—read that." He had taken up the newspaper he had dropped; he pointed to an article.

Clarice read duly at first, then with head bent:

SONYA KARESIA

Well-Known Short-Story Writer Makes Hollywood Her Home.

There was a time when New York was the Mecca towards which our writers wended their way. Today, Los Angeles is their goal. They come, love it, and stay. Los Angeles and the Hollywood hills are graced by their homes; we take pride in our colony of literati as we do in the vast motion-picture industry which has been the means of bringing them here.

Sonya Karesia is the latest addition to our literary colony. In the last two years, she has reached a foremost place in the ranks of short-story writers. Her stories of Russian life won almost immediate recognition. Her "The Idol of St. Petersburg" was a remarkable story, and her "The Dancer of Petrograd" has been the most discussed story of the past year, because of both its literary excellence and its absorbing interest. She has also published stories the scenes of which are laid in the Orient, China and Japan.

Sonya Karesia? A Russian, you will say. No. She is an American. Her mother was a Russian, a famous dancer in the days when St. Petersburg was ruled by the Czar. Her father was Allen Keith, a Californian. He was a civil engineer and lived in Russia for many years. Old Californians will remember Johnson Keith; he was a forty-niner and Sonya Karesia's grandfather. Sonya Karesia was born right here in Los Angeles. She has lived in Russia, she went through the Red Terror Most of her life has been spent in the Far East, but she is an American, every inch of her, and a Los Angelean. To her birthplace she has returned and evidently to stay, for her beautiful new home in Hollywood is substantial proof of her intentions.

In private life, Sonya Karesia is Mrs. Karesia Kaime. For her nom de plume, she chose her mother's name, which is also her given name. She is the widow of Edward Kaime, a widely traveled American who lived for a number of years in the Orient. He was interested in oriental customs and languages and was the author of several books of travel.

Mrs. Kaime is modest. She stole a march on us, but talents such as hers cannot be hidden under a bushel. It will be interesting to hear what this traveled young woman thinks of our City of the Angels, her birthplace.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS
BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

A Daughter's Deceit.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have a daughter 17 years old who is attending high school. Her father never went further than the fourth grade of grammar school and he has always gotten along all right and owns his own business now. He cannot see why our daughter needs so much education, but of course she and I do. She has hoped to go to college too, but I guess that is hopeless because her father would never furnish the money. I have tried to save for it, but my husband lets me charge things to him and he doesn't give me any money of my own. About six months ago our bill was charged with silk stockings and a pair of shoes I never bought. My husband said he would not pay the bill and he never did. Now we are charged again with two pairs of silk stockings, silk for a dress and a silk scarf. I opened the bill when it came and I was so angry I went to see about the mistake myself. They looked up the charge and the clerk who sold the things said she sold them to my daughter. I don't know what to do about it. Should I pretend to her father that I bought the things myself? He is very good to me and would not say a wrd. How should I punish my daughter so that she won't do such a thing again?

ANXIOUS MOTHER.

Your daughter's deceit is a very serious thing and she should not be shielded from punishment. My advice is to tell her father just what happened. It may be that after the truth comes out the father will se that he is not giving his daughter the clothes she needs.

Peggy's Problem.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 19 years old and have been going with a young man for three years. My folks did not object to our marriage which was to be soon. Now he does not write to me. I have written to him several times but he does not reply. Should I consider our engagement broken? Is it wrong to go with other boy friends? PEGGY.

If you are reasonably sure that the young man no longer cares for you and has stopped writing to make you see how he feels, try to forget him and go with other young men.

It's Up To The Boys

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of 16 and have never gone with a boy. But there are two boys about two years older than myself that I like very much. Sometimes I think they like me and other times I don't. How can I find out? I sent each of them a Christmas card through the mail. Did I do wrong? One of them wants to get me a date with some other boy I have never met. I told him that mother would never stand for that. Did I do right? I have thought of leaving school as I am only in the ninth grade. Do you think it would be wise to quit when I have a chance to keep on going? BROWN EYES.

If the boys like you to any extent they will ask to call or take you somewhere. As long as they do not you may be sure they regard you as a friend and are not very deeply interested in you. You really should not have sent the Christmas cards since you are not closer friends. You might have told the boy to bring his friend and another girl over to your house some night. In that way your mother would have had a chance to meet the strange boy. Do not think of leaving school. If you are backward you are all the more in need of education.

YOUR HEALTH

Treat Your Stomach Right If You Would Keep Well

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City
United States Senator from New York.

DR. COPELAND

IN a candy store the other day I saw this sign: "When you 'treat' your stomach, treat it right."

Of course this was intended as a reminder to buy a box of the tempting and wholesome candies on sale. Who can doubt that a little candy now and then is a real treat? In proper amounts, candy gives your sense of taste delightful stimulation and your stomach has a treat of the right sort.

To mistreat the stomach and to continue this mistreatment, is an unforgivable practice. On the contrary, the surest guarantee of good health is proper eating. To paraphrase the saying I saw, you should treat your stomach right to-day, to-morrow and all the time. By so doing you will add to your happiness and expectation of life.

Indigestion, dyspepsia, heartburn, bloating, colic and other signs of abdominal distress are likely to come from eating food that does not agree with you or neglect of the digestive tract. Constipation and diarrhoea are evidences of the same causes.

One of the things the stomach resents is being kept continually at work. Where is the cook who does not find fault if meals are demanded at all hours? Of course, she wants the intervals between meals to be long enough to permit washing the dishes, cleaning the kitchen and putting things in order for the next meal.

Food should not be dumped into the stomach until the digestive processes have been completed, the stomach has become emptied, and until there has been an interval of rest for the stomach to store up enough energy to begin the digestive function properly. When you have finished one meal, consider it finished and take no food until sufficient time has elapsed to clear the stomach. This means that three or four hours, at least, should pass before a second meal is eaten. Five hours is a better rule for some persons.

Fermentation in the lower bowel due to bad elimination, is an all-too-common experience. This appears to cause a damming back of the gases and a disturbance of the digestive powers.

You are not treating your stomach as you should if you persist in eating things which long experience has taught you do not agree with you.

"When you 'treat' your stomach, treat it right."

Answers to Health Questions

J. N. Q.—Whenever I try to take a deep breath I get pains around my heart which prevent me from taking a really deep breath. What causes this and what can I do for it?

A.—You should have your chest examined by a competent physician. The trouble may possibly be caused by intercostal neuralgia.

• • •

H. L. G. Q.—What would you advise for the removal of moles from the face and body of elderly persons? They sometimes become protuberant and inconvenient.

A.—Moles may be made less noticeable by the use of the electric needle but this should be done by a competent person skilled in this particular kind of work.

• • •

Dr. Copeland will answer for readers of this paper questions on medical, hygiene and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. Where the subject of a letter is such that it cannot be published in this column, Dr Copeland will, when the question is a proper one write you personally if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is enclosed. Address ALL INQUIRIES to Dr Royal S. Copeland, in care of this office.

Divorce on Increase In England; Report Of Register Issued

LONDON, Jan.—Divorce is on the increase in England and Wales.

The 1923 report of the Register of Vital Statistics, just published, gives these facts.

With an estimated population of 38,403,000, the total births registered reached 758,131, or 19.7 per thousand.

The deaths numbered 444,365, a rate of 11.5 per thousand.

The total number of marriages was 292,408.

There were 2,834 divorces.

Misconduct is the only grounds for divorce in England.

May college men are making their way by giving blood through tranfussions and charging for the service, some hospitals in this country having lists of those who are willing to furnish blood on a moment's notice.

Runyon Says

Baltimore's Baseball Frenzy.
That Was When Orioles Won.
'Robbie' Made Temperance Speech.
Dan Brouthers Spoke To Girls.
Rivalled Washington's Outburst.

By DAMON RUNYON.
(Copyright, 1925, by International Feature Service.)

WHEN Washington finally won the world's series last fall the town, in a manner of speaking, HOWLED. It cut loose and celebrated.

It made the victory occasion for an extemperaneous carnival. Men and women and small children streamed through the streets of the nation's capital blowing horns, throwing confetti, cheering.

Clark Griffith, the old Silver Fox of baseball, president of the club, and connected with it through years of baseball vicissitudes, stood on the steps of the Hotel Willard and was vigorously kissed by beautiful ladies as a sweet tribute to his team.

The writer had the good fortune to be in Washington that night. He had never seen anything to approach the enthusiasm in spontaneity, in sincerity. No other city in his experience in baseball has made as much of a triumph.

But in Baltimore a few nights ago he encountered Joe Kelly in reminiscent mood, and heard the tale of a similar celebration years ago.

That was when Ned Hanlon's baseball immortals, the Orioles, won their first pennant in the National league. It was in 1894, 30 years ago.

Joe Kelley, now a distinguished looking, gray haired, ruddy complexioned citizen of Baltimore, to whom everybody speaks as he goes along the streets, was playing the outfield for the Orioles in those days.

You will find Joe Kelley's name in baseball history written large.

There is what is called an All-Time, All-American baseball team, purely mythical, of course. In the line-up are listed the nine players with the highest fielding and batting averages in the history of baseball.

Joe Kelley figures as an outfielder on the All-Time All-American baseball team. That's how good he was. Old timers say there is no man in baseball today who can approach Kelley's all around ability 30 years ago.

The Orioles in '94 were nearly all young fellows, reckless, daring, gay baseball blades, too, famous over the baseball land for their dash and truculence.

What a great thing it must have been to be young and an Oriole!

They won their first pennant on the road, that is to say, while away from home. Baltimore was mighty proud of that achievement. Baltimore set about making the Orioles understand that it was proud of them.

It must have been a tremendous occasion when the club meets.

A huge crowd met the players. There was a big parade, the players in carriages, two to a carriage. Then there was a big banquet at the Hotel Rennert, fireworks, bands.

The players wore "full dress" attire, and their baseball caps to distinguish them from the members of the committees when they were on review. That was an odd sartorial touch. The town boomed with their praise.

"Of course, the Volstead Act hadn't been heard of thirty years ago," said Joe Kelly. "Therefore, the banquet wasn't what you would call dry. In fact, it was quit wet.

"We were to play the New York Giants in the Temple Cup series a day or so later, that series corresponding to the present world's series, and I remember Wilbert Robinson's speech, which was designed as a warning to our young men against over-indulgence.

"'Members of the Baltimore Orioles,' Robbie said, 'glasses up—and GLASSES DOWN.'

"He meant for them to lift them in response to any toasts, then set them down again without touching the contents. The speech made a big hit with temperance people all over the State.

"But we didn't win the Temple Cup series," Joe Kelley sighed. "The New York Club came in and walloped us in four straight games.

"They had Amos Rusie and Jouett Meekin pitching for them. That's just about the same as having two Walter Johnsons in Johnson's best form. Rusie and Meekin pitched great ball against us, while our pitchers weren't in good form.

"A lot of New York fans followed the Giants into Baltimore carrying new brooms. These indicated they meant to make a clean sweep, and they did.

"I can't admit that Washington or any other town in this country has ever displayed the enthusiasm shown by Baltimore for the Orioles when we took that first pennant," said Joe Kelley, loyally.

"In fact, all Maryland was worked up about it. They came to greet us from all over the State. I remember that when we hit Cumberland a delegation of young women was at the depot to welcome us, and Dan Brouthers made a speech which started out, 'Fair daughters of Cumberland.' How's that for a ball player?"

Thus you younger fans of today learn that your fathers had their moments of basebell enthusiasm.

Dan Brouthers in those days was about what Babe Ruth is today in point of fame. Brouthers was a tremendous hitter. Some old timers think he could hit a ball as hard as Ruth.

Brouthers is today connected with the Polo Grounds, in New York, one of John J. McGraw's employes. McGraw thirty years ago was a spindling kid playing third for Orioles. Amos Rusie, the New York pitcher named by Kelley, is also employed by McGraw at the Polo Grounds.

K. O. PUNCHERS MEET TONIGHT

Flowers-Delaney Battle Will Draw Capacity House.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—In the fond expectation, typical of this enlightened day and age, that one or the other of the principals will be carried out of the ring, feet first, the greatest crowd of the indoor boxing season will grace the occasion at the duly advertised meeting of Tiger Flowers and Jack Delaney at Madison Square Garden tonight. You couldn't keep them away with a board of health band bill.

Flowers, a polite colored gent in every day life, suddenly reverts to the berserk ferocity of the African jungles when the time keeper rings his bell. Delaney is a natty boxer with a crushing right hand punch. Neither man seems to be able to laugh off a punch. The inference is obvious.

It is that tonight's proceedings have slight chance of lasting the scheduled limit of twelve rounds, and, therefore, the merry villagers have acted accordingly. As early as yesterday morning there wasn't a reserved seat for sale at the Garden.

"Get away," said the box office man to prospective purchasers, in that courteous way of his. They got.

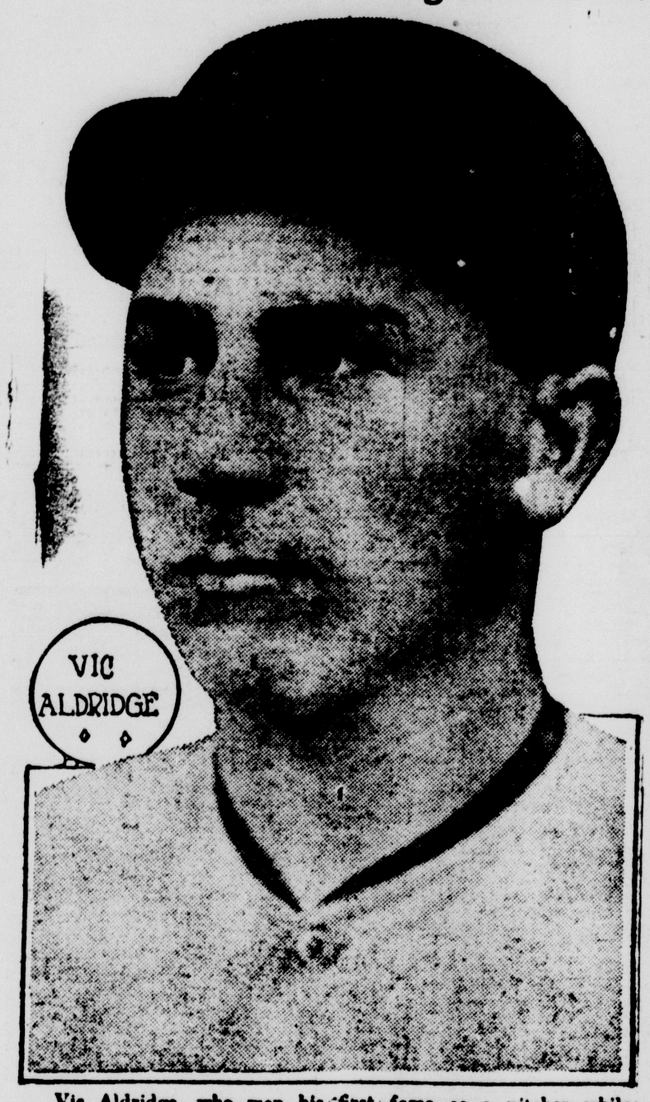
That means that somewhat less than 14,000 souls will be in the house when they tenderly pick either Flowers or Delaney from the floor tonight. The writer has a bright idea that it will not be Delaney, although in the language of the poets the boys are picking Flowers.

He, however, seems to have more fragility of the chin than Delaney, although neither is exactly a granite monument in this respect. Delaney's record shows knockouts at the hands of Augie Ratner and Young Fisher, indicating that Jack is far from robust or the gentlemen in question wore saddles instead of gloves. Neither can punch his way out of a paper bag.

Flowers has stopped the last five or six men he has met but previous to this carnal seance, suffered six knockouts, no less. Two were scored by Kid Norfolk, another by Lee Anderson and a fourth by the aged Sam Langford. Thre must be something humorous about a chin like that.

Yet the winner is morally certain of meeting Harry Greb for the middleweight title and, for all I know, may be a champion-in-prospect. Greb has known better days.

This "Hoosier Schoolmaster" To Teach Pitching on New Hill



Vic Aldridge, who won his first fame as a pitcher while teaching school in the rural districts of Indiana, opines he'll have a big year in the uniform of a Pirate the coming season. Aldridge, one of the Cubs who moved in the wholesale swap between Chicago and Pittsburg some time ago, got his real start with Indianapolis.

M. P.-CHRISTIAN TEAMS WINNERS

Easy Victors Over Sunday School League Foes.

In Sunday school basketball league battles fought last night on the M. P. floor, the M. P.'s defeated the United Presbyterians by the count of 41 to 19, and the Christians won from the Chester Presbyterians, 34 to 12.

In the preliminary contest the M. P. Juniors walloped the First U. P. Juniors, 37 to 13.

Both M. P. and Christian squads had things pretty much their own way in games with their respective rivals. The M. P. five led by the count of 21 to 11 at the half, while the Christians made it 21 to 4 in their clash with the Chesterites.

The second half play in each engagement was much a repetition of the first, both leading teams finding little opposition. Mackey was the scoring star for the M. P. quint with 10 field goals. Todd, Wilson and Carey also had a big hand in the M. P. victory.

Roberts, Dickey and Berge performed in excellent style for the U. P. passers.

The Christians depended largely upon Howard, Owens and Heddleston in their game with the Chester cagers, while the latter club's star performers were Cox, J. Miller and Newell.

BENNY LEONARD QUITS BOXING

Retiring From Ring For "The Love of My Mother."

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Benny Leonard, lightweight champion of the world, has quit the ring, he announced today, "because his mother had begged him not to fight again."

"I am retiring from boxing for the love of my mother," Leonard said.

Leonard became lightweight champion in 1917 when he beat Freddie Welch. He has been one of the most popular champions of all time.

Leonard is now appearing in vaudeville. Recently he became seriously ill after collapsing on the stage, but recovered after remaining in bed at his home here for a week or ten days.

In announcing his retirement, Leonard said there was a time when he liked the "glory stuff"—"when the people used to say, 'there goes Benny Leonard, the champion.'"

"But," he went on, "I am not retiring for glory. I am retiring for the love of my mother who begged me not to fight again.

"I fought everybody the public demanded me to meet. I beat them all in my class. Nobody can say Benny Leonard didn't give all the boys a chance at the title."

Leonard then related how his mother used to read of his fights, of his training, of stories that he had his teeth knocked out, his hands broken or had met with other injuries.

"Mother would sit crying, and trembling, saying, 'My poor Benny'," continued the retiring champion.

"My fight with Tendler in 1923 was to have been my last. My mother had been very ill. All of us were greatly worried over her condition.

One day she called the family together. She made me promise I would never fight again. Then she said she would have nothing to worry about.

"So that's why I'm quitting now—for mother's sake."

TRIS SPEAKER IS BRIDEGROOM

CLEVELAND, Jan. 16.—Tris Speaker, manager and centerfielder of the Cleveland Indians, was on his way to Florida for a honeymoon with his bride today.

The ball player, considered one of the confirmed bachelors among the ranks of professional ball players, was married late yesterday at St. John's cathedral house to Miss Mary Frances Cudahy, whom he first met in 1919, shortly after he became the manager of the Cleveland team.

The marriage was kept a secret from all but a very few. Walter McNichols, business manager of the Cleveland club, and Miss Claire Cudahy, the bride's sister, were the only attendants. The ceremenoy was performed by Msgr. Joseph Smith, vicar general of the Cleveland diocese.

Speaker's age was given as 36. His bride is 30.

'Y' INDUSTRIAL FLOOR CONTESTS

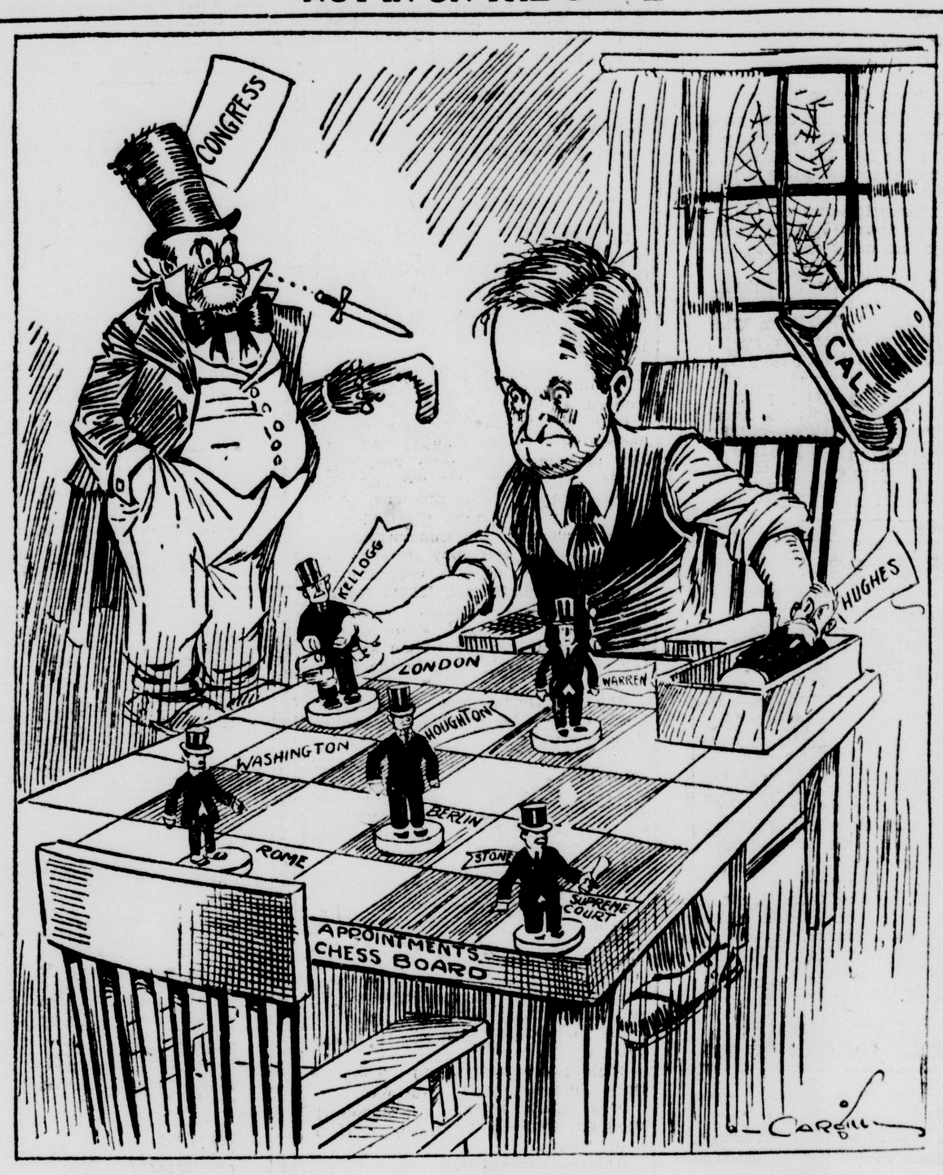
Two contests are carded tonight in the "Y" industrial basketball league, the first of which will start at 7:30 o'clock.

Laughlin 6 and Potters will clash in the opener. The Laughlin 5 squad will tackle Trotters in the wind-up event.

Sherlock Holmes a Doctor

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, whose Sherlock Holmes is the classic of detective fiction, confessed recently that he modeled the character after a doctor he encountered when pursuing his medical studies at the University of Edinburgh. Dr. Joseph Bell was the surgeon, in fact, and his strong point was diagnosis not only of disease but of character and occupation of the patient. Few recall why Sir Arthur was knighted, but it was because of his defense of Great Britain's conduct in the Boer war.

NOT IN ON THE GAME



"Meet the Wife," Comedy Success, to Appear at Ceramic

In considering comedies of the contemporary stage it is inevitable to return again and again in thought to Lynn Starling's delightfully witty comedy, "Meet the Wife," with Augusta Boylston, which comes to the Ceramic theatre Thursday, January 22. It overshadows and at the same time outshines—as the Wrigley building overshadows and outshines its humdrum neighbors. The gallery of character sketches presented in "Meet the Wife" are all of American types met in every day life. The dialogue is very good, crisp, characteristic conversation that reveals exactly what the people on the stage think of each other and of life in general. This play captured New York audiences for one year and delighted Chicago for two months.

Then comes Augusta Boylston to play the heroine and to gladden all hearts by that absolutely magical blend of gaiety and vitality and quick subtle understanding that she in a higher degree than any other comedienne possesses. Her acting of Mrs. Gertrude Lennox, an up to date who takes a second husband too hastily, with her shallowness and gush, absurd philosophies and stifled fears, her vivacity and her shrewd flashes of common sense is a characterization which brings many a smile and laugh long after one has left the theatre. There is tolerance for the young couple who are at that stage of their courtship when public opinion gives license for their being perfectly idiotic. There are roars of laughter from the men and shrieks of delight from the gentler sex at the complications arising from the return of Gertrude's husband and the snappy dialogue of Donald Campbell as the husband pro tem and Messenger Bellis who had made his escape from marital toils in the confusion of the San Francisco earthquake and fire—and rejoices at his freedom.

Lynn Starling wrote the play. Bert French staged it with rare skill and Mark Byron, Inc., chose for it an ideal cast which, having played so long together, give a rendition of "Meet the Wife" which may be described as flawless.

Owners of radio outfits in Esthonia just procure a receiving license from the Postmaster General each year.

Put Runs in Class of Luxuries

Runs are considered a commodity in baseball. They are the potatoes of the game. But, according to official records, Dazzy Vance and Hugh McQuillan put them in the class of luxuries. Vance allowed but 2.16 runs a game in 1924 and McQuillan 2.69. They led the National league in effective hurling.

Cardinal Wolsey Cat Lover.

In history there have been many cat lovers of great prominence, but one of the most famous was Cardinal Wolsey, who was Henry VIII's great minister. His favorite cat used to sit beside him during council sessions. Sir Isaac Newton was another, and he and Mohammed, founder of a religion, once cut his sleeve off rather than disturb a cat that had gone to sleep on the fold of his large loose garment.

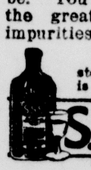
Rheumatism

"Yes! it's all gone."

DO NOT close your eyes and think that health, free motion and strength are gone from you forever! It is not so. You can get rid of your rheumatism by building up your blood power. It is a fact that rheumatism means "blood poverty." It is a fact with the increase of red cells in your blood, impurities are destroyed. It is a fact that S.S.S. will help Nature build these red-blood-cells! S.S.S. is one of the most powerful blood cleansers in existence. Its results in thousands of rheumatic cases have been nothing short of amazing! The medicinal ingredients of S.S.S. are purely vegetable. This is very important to remember! What can be more inspiring, more wonderful than to see the shackles of pain released from your struggling body, swellings, lingering pains, stiffness of joints and muscles all disappear; your stomach made strong; your face pink with the old sweetheart glow, your blood enriched and your cheeks more plump as they used to be. You can do it! Take S.S.S., the great destroyer of rheumatic impurities.



S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

PROBERS IGNORE 19 CASES; GIVE ADVICE TO ALL MINOR COURTS

Five East Liverpool Men Named in Indictments.

TWO ARE SECRET

No Mention of County Jail; 76 Witnesses Examined.

Sixteen true bills, two of them secret, were returned by the January grand jury which reported to Judge James G. Moore at 4:50 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Nineteen cases, most of them from the lower courts, were ignored. The jurors urged that all charges filed in the lower courts be inquired into before any transcript is forwarded to Lisbon.

List of Indictments.

The indictments made known are:

Bardechina Balan, Charles Balan and Sam Hoza, Salem, resisting an officer.

James B. Tyson, Wellsville, assault and battery.

John Grafton and Merrill Starkey, Salineville, burglary and larceny.

Willard H. Reddick, East Liverpool, criminal assault.

James Clark and Charles Rogers, Salem, robbery.

Harry Byers, Orval Chambers and Floyd Thomas, East Liverpool, robbery.

Harmon Cook, alias Homer Doyle, Salem, uttering and publishing a false instrument.

U. Frank Hafcher, Wellsville, abandoning legitimate children.

Andrew Kovacik, Leetonia, stabbing with intent to wound.

Charles Young and Daniel Smith, Salem, larceny.

Ginard Robert, East Liverpool, shooting with intent to kill, two counts.

No Condemnation of Jail.

The report said:

"We believe that mayors and justices of the peace could give more attention to cases filed before them. They should abandon the practice of allowing defendants to waive hearings and inquire into the merits of matters."

The unusual feature about the report is the fact that no mention was made of the condition of the county jail.

For the first time in years, no witnesses from Wellsville appeared before the grand jury. However, two indictments were returned on transcripts from the court of Justice Wallace L. Fogo of that city.

Seventy-Six Witnesses Called.

The grand jury was scheduled to report at 2 p. m. Judge Moore sent word to the jurors at 4:45 o'clock that unless they should be ready to report within five minutes he would adjourn court until Friday morning. A few minutes later 11 men and one woman who composed the panel entered the court room.

After the report was read, the jurors were excused, but notified they were subject to call anytime during the January term.

There were 79 subpoenaes issued for this session of the grand jury. Three witnesses did not report because of illness.

Britain Defends U. S. Against Press Attacks in London

LONDON, Jan. 16—The British foreign took the unusual course today of voluntarily defending the United States against the attacks of English editorial writers who have been saying the United States "stayed out of European affairs until it saw a real chance to get money from Germany."

The foreign office statement said:

"The claims of the United States against Germany were presented long ago and therefore always existed, but no chance to collect them came until the Dawes report was accepted.

Three Persons, On Way Home From Dance, Killed By Train

Woman, Who is Burned to Death, and Two Men are Victims When Automobile is Wrecked on Crossing.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 16.—Three persons returning from a dance at Williamson were killed today when an eastbound New York Central freight train struck their automobile at the Penfield road crossing, a few miles from here.

The dead:

MRS. LILLIAN DERUYSCHER, 40.

THOMAS OSTER, 48.

OSCAR J. KALBFLIESCH, 30.

All were of this city.

Miss Bertha McDowell, who was riding on the rear seat, escaped unharmed.

A westbound train had just passed the crossing when the eastbound train crashed into the car. The automobile was tossed against a telephone pole and took fire with Mrs. Deruyscher in the wreckage.

SLAIN GIRL'S BODY FOUND ON LOVER'S FARM

Eerie Scene Enacted Near Home of Conan Doyle.

PARENTS PRESENT

Man to Whom Victim Was Engaged is Arrested.

CROWBOROUGH, Eng., Jan. 16.—An eerie scene was enacted not far from the home of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, famous author, early today when detectives from Scotland Yard dug up the body of Elsie Cameron, pretty young London stenographer who was murdered and her body buried on a farm.

The father and mother of the girl were present when the body was found. The father was silent, but the mother collapsed.

Following the unearthing of the remains, young Norman Thorne, a prosperous young farmer to whom the girl was engaged, was formally charged with her murder.

The twenty-six years of the girl's life had been a succession of love tragedies, police revealed. In every case where she fell in love she was the victim of unrequited love, detectives said.

She left London December 5 to visit at the Thorne farm.

"I won't return until I am married," she told her parents.

E. V. Huffer Released From Jail After Serving Nine Months

E. V. Huffer, formerly of Newell, who was sentenced to serve a year in the Hancock county jail at New Cumberland, has been released after serving nine months, it was announced today.

Huffer was indicted on the charge of obtaining money from the Grant district board of education under false pretenses. He was alleged to have used a teacher's certificate issued by his father.

Following his arrest and posting bond, he disappeared but was later captured at Peublo, Col.

MOTHER IS SHOT BY FOSTER SON

ZANESVILLE, O., Jan. 16—Mrs. Mary Croskey, 42, shot by her foster son, Eugene, 17, last night, is in a critical condition and the boy is held in city prison today pending the outcome of her wound. The boy says he mistook his foster mother for a burglar and shot her, but Mrs. Croskey, in a statement to the police, says the boy fired at her while in a fit of anger. The bullet passed clear through her body, penetrating the right lung.

B. & O. FREIGHT TRAIN DERAILED

ZANESVILLE, Jan. 16. — A westbound Baltimore & Ohio freight train jumped the track two miles east of New Concord at 3:40 o'clock this morning and 18 freight cars are piled into a ditch. None of the trainmen was injured. B. & O. trains are detouring via Cambridge, New Comerstown, Dresden and Zanesville.

London's Former Exchequer Chief Scores Paris Pact

LONDON, Jan. 16.—The Paris agreement which granted the United States two and one quarter percent of the Dawes annuities was "astounding", Philip Snowden, formerly chancellor of the exchequer declared today in an interview in the Manchester Guardian.

The United States, having entered the Paris agreement, certainly will be involved in any sanctions the allies may carry out in the event Germany defaults in the Dawes plan", Snodwen declared.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—A discordant rumble was going around under cover in the Senate today over the agreement signed at Paris, by Secretary of State-designate Kellogg, whereby the United States becomes an official participant in the operation of the Dawes plan to collect reparations from Germany.

The rumble may break into the open shortly, with an inquiry addressed to the White House for information as to whether, by signing this agreement, the American government becomes legally and morally bound to join with the other signers in punitive measures against Germany should she fall down in the enormous annual payments.

Geiger and Hanley Attend State School Relief Conference

Superintendent of Schools F. P. Geiger and ex-County Prosecutor Jesse C. Hanley, of this city, are in Columbus today, where they are attending a meeting of the committee appointed by Governor A. V. Donahey recently, to devise ways and means of assisting financially embarrassed school districts.

The committee will likely recommend a solution to Governor Donahey in a report which will be made Saturday. The governor will then ask the state legislature to enact remedial legislation.

The committee has made a study not only of plans to bring about temporary aid, but also a system whereby permanent relief will be given. It is declared that thousands of schools in the state are closed this year because of the lack of finances.

Mr. Hanley was appointed a member of the committee before he retired from office.

Pave Way to Send Mother Who Killed Baby to Asylum

WOOSTER, O., Jan. 16.—The way was paved today to place Mrs. Blanche Tobias, 20-year old self confessed slayer of her two weeks' old baby, in the Lima State Hospital for the Criminal Insane.

Following the appointment by Common Pleas Judge Gorge A. Starn of three attorneys, former common pleas Judge W. E. Weygandt, A. D. Meth and L. R. Critchfield, to defend Mrs. Tobias, Prosecutor J. O. Fritz today filed an application for a hearing on the woman's sanity, asking that this action supersede her arraignment on the indictment charging first degree murder. The insanity hearing before a jury will probably be fixed for early in February.

Rev. T. A. Dunne "Little Weaker," is Hospital Report

Rev. T. A. Dunne, pastor of the St. Aloysius Catholic church, who is critically ill, "appears to be a little weaker," according to reports from the Mercy hospital, Canton, at 1 p. m. today.

Father Dunne has been in ill health for the last two months.

FIREMEN BRAVE OIL EXPLOSION AS THEY FIGHT CHICAGO BLAZE

Recover Two Bodies and Rescue Imperilled Workers.

FEAR MORE DEAD

Flames Threaten to Engulf Varnish Company Buildings.

CHICAGO, Jan. 16—A terrific explosion, which killed two persons and injured more than 50, wrecked a two-story wareouse of the Lewis Varnish company here today and started a fire which threatened to engulf the whole plant of four buildings.

Two bodies were recovered a short time after the blast by firemen who fought their way through the flames, as possible further explosions of oil and turpentine imperilled their lives.

They were unable to say whether or not more victims were beyond their reach behind the curtain of fire.

Panic followed the blast as hundreds of employes, many of whom had just reported for work, battled each other for exits.

Street is River of Flame.

The warehouse contained large tanks of oil, turpentine, gasoline and alcohol. Several explosions followed the initial blast and the entire street in front of the burning building was turned into a river of flame.

The first explosion was caused by the detonations of a large gas tank which was being either loaded or unloaded from a truck. It blew out the entire front of the building.

The driver of a truck, Larry Watson, is dead, his heavy truck was hurled across the street into a vacant lot.

A watchman, Frank Cora, is the other victim found.

Hundreds of windows in other buildings and homes in the neighborhood were broken and sleepers were hurled from their beds.

The damage was estimated at more than $100,000.

Illicit Romance Ends In Tragedy; Pretty Woman Victim

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 16—The illicit romance of Mrs. Emily Bush, 23, a beautiful blonde girl, and Frank Michels, 26, each of whom left their married mates to live together, ended in black tragedy today when the woman's body, clad only in sheer silk pajamas and with one hand clutching a cheap sex magazine, was found in bed at their apartment on the North Side today.

Although no trace of violence could be discovered, Police Inspector Earl J. Means said the case did not appear to be suicide and ordered Michels held for the Coroner's inquest into the death. Michels confessed, according to police that he and Mrs. Bush had been living as husband and wife since separating from their mates almost a year ago.

At the Coroner's office a slight discoloration of one eye was discovered on the girl's body and three of her fingers were seared as if they had touched virulent acid or a red hot stove. A hurried examination also disclosed the woman might have met death from poison, but police hold steadfast to the murder theory.

PACKETS AGAIN PLYING RIVER

Packets are again plying the Ohio River after a week's suspension of navigation because of the low stage.

Government employes have raised the wickets in all locks between Cincinnati and Pittsburgh. The wickets were lowered about a month ago, when it was feared they would be damaged by ice coming down out of the mountains into the Allegheny and Monongahela Rivers.

Wharfmaster Ross Tisher announced today that packet boats are now operating on their regular schedules, accepting freight to all points.

Naples University Closed.

NAPLES, Jan. 16.—The University of Naples here remained closed today. Police action was necessary prior to closing on account of friction between Fascist and anti-Fascist students.

"Clemmie" Kohorst, Lima Rotarians' Young Ward, Dead

LIMA, Jan. 16.—"Clemmie" Kohorst, six-year-old crippled ward of Lima Rotarians, is dead.

"Clemmie," the sunshine and at the same time mischief maker of St. Rita's hospital, lost his life by his own hands. He was playing with fire.

Somehow the crippled youngster obtained a box of matches and took them into the bath room with him to play. A moment later a scream was heard and terrified nurses found "Clemmie" surrounded by flames. His night gown had caught on fire.

That was Wednesday night. All day yesterday "Clemmie" lay fighting for life while his "Big Brothers of the Rotary" besieged the hospital with telephone and personal calls. Then early this morning the word came from the hospital that "Clemmie' had passed away.

JAZZ-CRAZED SLAYER OF KIN 'LIFE OF PARTY'

Sixteen-year-old Girl Unconcerned About Fate.

KILLED MOTHER

Sangfroid Breaks When Father and Brother Visit Her.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Jan. 16.—Still the "life of the party" 16-year-old Dorothy Ellingson, confessed slayer of her mother, continued today to get the same "big kick" out of the life that characterized her jazz path to a prison cell.

Twelve hours of questioning and posing found her ready to continue today when police orders shut off further interviewers.

Only when her father and brother visited her in her cell—both sternly accusing her—did her sangfroid break.

Then she for a moment forgot pose and sought to beguile their sympathy.

"Don't touch me—you killed my mother," her slim-legged, serious faced brother, Earl, shouted as she sought to throw herself in his arms.

"My God, go away—don't you know I can't talk to you. Why do you come to me like this," came from her taut lips in bitter tones.

They turned and left and slowly her smile returned and again she was "the life of the party."

Gov. Donahey May Name G. C. Maxwell On Utilities Board

COLUMBUS, Jan. 16—Governor Donahey today has under consideration the recommendation that he appoint Grover C. Maxwell, Columbus, as a member of the State Utilities Commission to succeed C. C. Marshall, Sidney, Democrat, whose term expires February 1, next.

Maxwell, a former Akron resident, was Secretary of the Commission a few years ago. Recommendation for his appointment has been made by a committee representing the "Big Four" Brotherhoods—Firemen and Engineers, Trainmen, Conductors and Telegraphers. When a young man, Maxwell was a telegrapher.

The recommendation was in response to a request made by the governor.

Two School Board Members Will be 63 on March 15

Two members of the board of education—Robert W. Sample and George M. Wilhelm—will celebrate their 63rd birthday anniversaries on March 15.

They were born in 1862. Mr. Sample is a native of Pennsylvania, his birthplace being a farm midway between Pittsburgh and Butler. Mr. Wilhelm was born in Hancock county, W. Va., on a farm overlooking the city of Wellsville.

WELLSVILLE INVASION FOLLOWED REQUEST BY OHIO DRY LAW CHIEF

DETECTIVES CHARGE THEY LOCATED 100 ALLEGED ILLICIT LIQUOR PLACES

East Liverpool Executive Declares he Did Not Solicit Business, But Agreed to Handle Cases at Suggestion of Prohibition Commissioner McDonald, Following Complaints of Laxity.

State Prohibition Commissioner B. F. McDonald, of Columbus, requested East Liverpool liquor raiders to invade Wellsville.

This, in short, was the declaration made by Mayor Charles Brown today, as rival forces in the inter-city prohibition enforcement officers' war, changing their battle plans, centered their attacks on home sectors.

"The state prohibition commissioner instructed the Steubenville detective agency to bring their prisoners into the East Liverpool court after Wellsville citizens had complained about an alleged laxity in enforcement in Wellsville," said Mayor Brown. "I did not solicit this business but expressed my willingness to handle the case if it was the desire of the Columbus bureau."

Operatives of the Harris-Webster Detective agency of Steubenville, whose co-operation with three East Liverpool patrolmen in last Saturday's invasion of Wellsville was followed by a reprisal crusade here on the part of Chief John Fultz's raiders, today charged that more than 100 suspected illicit liquor places were located in Wellsville. The detectives said they discovered the alleged places of violation during two months' investigation.

POLICE AND DETECTIVES RAID THREE FRATERNAL ORGANIZATION HOMES HERE

Moose Club Fined $200 on Charge of Permitting Gambling—Liquor Counts Filed Against Eagles and Turners.

Three fraternal organizations—the Loyal Order of Moose, the Fraternal Order of Eagles and the Turner's club were raided by the local police, assisted by special officers and members of the Harris-Webster Detective agency, Steubenville, last night. The Moose club was charged with permitting gambling, while the others were accused of illegally possessing liquor.

Four slot machines are alleged to have been seized at the Moose temple. Police say efforts were made to destroy the liquor at the Eagles' and Turners' clubs, but claim sufficient evidence was obtained to warrant prosecution.

The Moose Club was fined $200 and costs. A check for this amount, signed by officers of the lodge has been turned over to Chief of Police McDermott today. Representatives of both the Eagles and Turners Clubs pleaded not guilty to charges of illegally possessing liquors and were released on $1,500 bond each.

Claim They Broke Thru Door.

The raids, which occurred between 8 and 10 o'clock, were headed by Patrolmen Norman McFarland and James Haley and Turnkey William Cline, of the local force, assisted by five members of the Steubenville detective agency, and special officers Dawson, Malone and Bloor.

Meeting no opposition at the Moose club, the raiders found four slot machines, but no liquor. The machines were taken to the city hall, where they will be destroyed.

The raiding party claim they were forced to break through a door, fitted with an electric lock, at the Eagles' home. When the officers reached the grill room in the basement of the building, the liquor had been destroyed, they said. With a rag, one of the officers soaked up a quantity of alleged corn liquor from the floor to make a test. The remainder, it is claimed, was dumped into a sewer.

WELLSVILLE RAIDERS ARREST 12 MEN IN OFFENSIVE IN THEIR HOME SECTOR

Chief Fultz's Forces, Diverting From Reprisal Attacks in East Liverpool, Devote Attention to Immediate Territory.

Temporarily diverting their attention from the East Liverpool sector where their four-day offensive brought down 11 alleged prohibition law violators in a series of four raids, Chief of Police John Fultz and has patrolmen of Wellsville last night turned their siege guns on the home front, a series of sorties lasting throughout the night and all morning, resulting in 12 arrests and the seizure of 1,000 or more gallons of wine.

Here are the arrests:

Nick Atto, Commerce street.
John Lorano, Commerce street.
Frank Margeo, Thirteenth street.
John Sisinio, Silver Switch.
Peter Frazeutti, near Silver Switch.
Rocco Albenesso, Anderson avenue.
Jiggs Baldassaro, Anderson avenue.
John Dissaro, Commerec street.
Peter Smith, Commerce srteet.
——— Zazzerrela, Commerce street, near Thirteenth.
Pete Deloretta, Seventeenth and Main streets.
Rocco Margeo, Commerce street near Thirteenth.

Released on Own Recognizance.

Each of the twelve is charged with possession of alleged intoxicating liquor. Practically all are property owners. Each was released on his own recognizance.

Beginning this afternoon hearings will start before Mayor James S. Barnes in police court. The hearings will continue throughout this evening and tomorrow morning, if necessary.

Fultz's forces scoured Wellsville from one end to the other. In their clean-up, going as far east as the corporate limits for John Sisinio, and as far west as Seventeenth street where they nabbed Pete Deloretto.

At intervals throughout the night, barrels, jugs, bottles and various forms of containers belched forth wine into city sewers and gutters as the chief and his men cleaned out all visible traces of liquor in each of the 12 places they raided.

In addition, Wellsville police confiscated quantities of wine which went into the vaults at city hall as evidence.

"No wine has been left in the places we visited," Chief Fultz asserted "and the owners can't be hit again."

"We found in at least two places wine that had been left after Stuebenville dry detectives had raided the places and arrested the residents

PROBERS IGNORE 19 CASES; GIVE ADVICE TO ALL MINOR COURTS

Five East Liverpool Men Named in Indictments.

TWO ARE SECRET

No Mention of County Jail; 76 Witnesses Examined.

Sixteen true bills, two of them secret, were returned by the January grand jury which reported to Judge James G. Moore at 4:50 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Nineteen cases, most of them from the lower courts, were ignored. The jurors urged that all charges filed in the lower courts be inquired into before any transcript is forwarded to Lisbon.

List of Indictments.

The indictments made known are: Bardechina Balan, Charles Balan and Sam Hoza, Salem, resisting an officer.

James B. Tyson, Wellsville, assault and battery.

John Grafton and Merrill Starkey, Salineville, burglary and larceny.

Willard H. Reddick, East Liverpool, criminal assault.

James Clark and Charles Rogers, Salem, robbery.

Harry Byers, Orval Chambers and Floyd Thomas, East Liverpool, robbery.

Harmon Cook, alias Homer Doyle, Salem, uttering and publishing a false instrument.

U. Frank Hatcher, Wellsville, abandoning legitimate children.

Andrew Kovacik, Leetonia, stabbing with intent to wound.

Charles Young and Daniel Smith, Salem, larceny.

Ginard Robert, East Liverpool, shooting with intent to kill, two counts.

No Condemnation of Jail.

The report said:

"We believe that mayors and justices of the peace could give more attention to cases filed before them. They should abandon the practice of allowing defendants to waive hearing and inquire into the merits of matters."

The unusual feature about the report is the fact that no mention was made of the condition of the county jail.

For the first time in years, no witnesses from Wellsville appeared before the grand jury. However, two indictments were returned on transcripts from the court of Justice Wallace L. Fogo of that city.

Seventy-Six Witnesses Called.

The grand jury was scheduled to report at 2 p. m. Judge Moore sent word to the jurors at 4:45 o'clock that unless they should be ready to report within five minutes he would adjourn court until Friday morning. A few minutes later 14 men and one woman who composed the panel entered the court room.

After the report was read, the jurors were excused, but notified they were subject to call anytime during the January term.

There were 79 subpoenaes issued for this session of the grand jury. Three witnesses did not report because of illness.

Britain Defends U. S. Against Press Attacks in London

LONDON, Jan. 16—The British foreign took the unusual course today of voluntarily defending the United States against the attacks of English editorial writers who have been saying the United States "stayed out of European affairs until it saw a real chance to get money from Germany."

The foreign office statement said: "The claims of the United States against Germany were presented long ago and therefore always existed, but no chance to collect them came until the Dawes report was accepted.

Three Persons, On Way Home From Dance, Killed By Train

Woman, Who is Burned to Death, and Two Men are Victims When Automobile is Wrecked on Crossing.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 16.—Three persons returning from a dance at Williamson were killed today when an eastbound New York Central freight train struck their automobile at the Penfield road crossing, a few miles from here.

The dead:

MRS. LILLIAN DERUYSCHER, 40.

THOMAS OSTER, 48.

OSCAR J. KALBFLIESCH, 30.

All were of this city.

Miss Bertha McDowell, who was riding on the rear seat, escaped unharmed.

A westbound train had just passed the crossing when the eastbound train crashed into the car. The automobile was tossed against a telephone pole and took fire with Mrs. Deruyscher in the wreckage.

SLAIN GIRL'S BODY FOUND ON LOVER'S FARM

Eerie Scene Enacted Near Home of Conan Doyle.

PARENTS PRESENT

Man to Whom Victim Was Engaged is Arrested.

CROWBOROUGH, Eng., Jan. 16.—An eerie scene was enacted not far from the home of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, famous author, early today when detectives from Scotland Yard dug up the body of Elsie Cameron, pretty young London stenographer who was murdered and her body buried on a farm.

The father and mother of the girl were present when the body was found. The father was silent, but the mother collapsed.

Following the unearthing of the remains, young Norman Thorne, a prosperous young farmer to whom the girl was engaged, was formally charged with her murder.

The twenty-six years of the girl's life had been a succession of love tragedies, police revealed. In every case where she fell in love she was the victim of unrequited love, detectives said.

She left London December 5 to visit at the Thorne farm.

"I won't return until I am married," she told her parents.

E. V. Huffer Released From Jail After Serving Nine Months

E. V. Huffer, formerly of Newell, who was sentenced to serve a year in the Hancock county jail at New Cumberland, has been released after serving nine months, it was announced today.

Huffer was indicted on the charge of obtaining money from the Grant district board of education under false pretenses. He was alleged to have used a teacher's certificate issued by his father.

Following his arrest and posting bond, he disappeared but was later captured at Peublo, Col.

MOTHER IS SHOT BY FOSTER SON

ZANESVILLE, O., Jan. 16—Mrs. Mary Croskey, 42, shot by her foster son, Eugene, 17, last night, is in a critical condition and the boy is held in city prison today pending the outcome of her wound. The boy says he mistook his foster mother for a burglar and shot her, but Mrs. Croskey, in a statement to the police, says the boy fired at her while in a fit of anger. The bullet passed clear through her body, penetrating the right lung.

B. & O. FREIGHT TRAIN DERAILED

ZANESVILLE, Jan. 16. — A westbound Baltimore & Ohio freight train jumped the track two miles east of New Concord at 3:40 o'clock this morning and 18 freight cars are piled into a ditch. None of the trainmen was injured. B. & O. trains are detouring via Cambridge, New Comerstown, Dresden and Zanesville.

London's Former Exchequer Chief Scores Paris Pact

LONDON, Jan. 16.—The Paris agreement which granted the United States two and one quarter percent of the Dawes annuities was "astounding", Philip Snowden, formerly chancellor of the exchequer declared today in an interview in the Manchester Guardian.

The United States, having entered the Paris agreement, certainly will be involved in any sanctions the allies may carry out in the event Germany defaults in the Dawes plan", Snodwen declared.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—A discordant rumble was going around under cover in the Senate today over the agreement signed at Paris, by Secretary of State-designate Kellogg, whereby the United States becomes an official participant in the operation of the Dawes plan to collect reparations from Germany.

The rumble may break into the open shortly, with an inquiry addressed to the White House for information as to whether, by signing this agreement, the American government becomes legally and morally bound to join with the other signers in punitive measures against Germany should she fall down in the enormous annual payments.

Geiger and Hanley Attend State School Relief Conference

Superintendent of Schools F. P. Geiger and ex-County Prosecutor Jesse C. Hanley, of this city, are in Columbus today, where they are attending a meeting of the committee appointed by Governor A. V. Donahey recently, to devise ways and means of assisting financially embarrassed school districts.

The committee will likely recommend a solution to Governor Donahey in a report which will be made Saturday. The governor will then ask the state legislature to enact remedial legislation.

The committee has made a study not only of plans to bring about temporary aid, but also a system whereby permanent relief will be given. It is declared that thousands of schools in the state are closed this year because of the lack of finances.

Mr. Hanley was appointed a member of the committee before he retired from office.

Pave Way to Send Mother Who Killed Baby to Asylum

WOOSTER, O., Jan. 16.—The way was paved today to place Mrs. Blanche Tobias, 20-year old self confessed slayer of her two weeks' old baby, in the Lima State Hospital for the Criminal Insane.

Following the appointment by Common Pleas Judge Gorge A. Starn of three attorneys, former common pleas Judge W. E. Weygandt, A. D. Meth and L. R. Critchfield, to defend Mrs. Tobias, Prosecutor J. O. Fritz today filed an application for a hearing on the woman's sanity, asking that this action supersede her arraignment on the indictment charging first degree murder. The insanity hearing before a jury will probably be fixed for early in February.

Rev. T. A. Dunne "Little Weaker," is Hospital Report

Rev. T. A. Dunne, pastor of the St. Aloysius Catholic church, who is critically ill, "appears to be a little weaker," according to reports from the Mercy hospital, Canton, at 1 p. m. today.

Father Dunne has been in ill health for the last two months.

FIREMEN BRAVE OIL EXPLOSION AS THEY FIGHT CHICAGO BLAZE

Recover Two Bodies and Rescue Imperilled Workers.

FEAR MORE DEAD

Flames Threaten to Engulf Varnish Company Buildings.

CHICAGO, Jan. 16—A terrific explosion, which killed two persons and injured more than 50, wrecked a two-story wareouse of the Lewis Varnish company here today and started a fire which threatened to engulf the whole plant of four buildings.

Two bodies were recovered a short time after the blast by firemen who fought their way through the flames, as possible further explosions of oil and turpentine imperilled their lives.

They were unable to say whether or not more victims were beyond their reach behind the curtain of fire.

Panic followed the blast as hundreds of employes, many of whom had just reported for work, battled each other for exits.

Street is River of Flame.

The warehouse contained large tanks of oil, turpentine, gasoline and alcohol. Several explosions followed the initial blast and the entire street in front of the burning building was turned into a river of flame.

The first explosion was caused by the detonations of a large gas tank which was being either loaded or unloaded from a truck. It blew out the entire front of the building.

The driver of a truck, Larry Watson, is dead, his heavy truck was hurled across the street into a vacant lot.

A watchman, Frank Cora, is the other victim found.

Hundreds of windows in other buildings and homes in the neighborhood were broken and sleepers were hurled from their beds.

The damage was estimated at more than $100,000.

Illicit Romance Ends In Tragedy; Pretty Woman Victim

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 16—The illicit romance of Mrs. Emily Bush, 23, a beautiful blonde girl, and Frank Michels, 26, each of whom left their married mates to live together, ended in black tragedy today when the woman's body, clad only in sheer silk pajamas and with one hand clutching a cheap sex magazine, was found in bed at their apartment on the North Side today.

Although no trace of violence could be discerned, Police Inspector Earl J. Means said the case did not appear to be suicide and ordered Michels held for the Coroner's inquest into the death. Michels confessed, according to police that he and Mrs. Bush had been living as husband and wife since separating from their mates almost a year ago.

At the Coroner's office a slight discoloration of one eye was discovered on the girl's body and three of her fingers were seared as if they had touched virulent acid or a red hot stove. A hurried examination also disclosed the woman might have met death from poison, but police hold steadfast to the murder theory.

PACKETS AGAIN PLYING RIVER

Packets are again plying the Ohio River after a week's suspension of navigation because of the low stage.

Government employes have raised the wickets in all locks between Cincinnati and Pittsburgh. The wickets were lowered about a month ago, when it was feared they would be damaged by ice coming down out of the mountains into the Allegheny and Monongahela Rivers.

Wharfmaster Ross Tisher announced today that packet boats are now operating on their regular schedules, accepting freight to all points.

Naples University Closed.

NAPLES, Jan. 16.—The University of Naples here remained closed today. Police action was necessary prior to closing on account of friction between Fascist and anti-Fascist students.

"Clemmie" Kohorst, Lima Rotarians' Young Ward, Dead

LIMA, Jan. 16.—"Clemmie" Kohorst, six-year-old crippled ward of Lima Rotarians, is dead.

"Clemmie," the sunshine and at the same time mischief maker of St. Rita's hospital, lost his life by his own hands. He was playing with fire.

Somehow the crippled youngster obtained a box of matches and took them into the bath room with him to play. A moment later a scream was heard and terrified nurses found "Clemmie" surrounded by flames. His night gown had caught on fire.

That was Wednesday night. All day yesterday "Clemmie" lay fighting for life while his "Big Brothers of the Rotary" besieged the hospital with telephone and personal calls. Then early this morning the word came from the hospital that "Clemmie" had passed away.

JAZZ-CRAZED SLAYER OF KIN 'LIFE OF PARTY'

Sixteen-year-old Girl Unconcerned About Fate.

KILLED MOTHER

Sangfroid Breaks When Father and Brother Visit Her.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Jan. 16.—Still the "life of the party" 16-year-old Dorothy Ellingson, confessed slayer of her mother, continued today to get the same "big kick" out of the life that characterized her jazz path to a prison cell.

Twelve hours of questioning and posing found her ready to continue today when police orders shut off further interviewers.

Only when her father and brother visited her in her cell—both sternly accusing her—did her sangfroid break.

Then she for a moment forgot pose and sought to beguile their sympathy.

"Don't touch me—you killed my mother," her slim-legged, serious faced brother, Earl, shouted as she sought to throw herself in his arms.

"My God, go away—don't you know I can't talk to you. Why do you come to me like this," came from her taut lips in bitter tones.

They turned and left and slowly her smile returned and again she was "the life of the party."

Gov. Donahey May Name G. C. Maxwell On Utilities Board

COLUMBUS, Jan. 16—Governor Donahey today has under consideration the recommendation that he appoint Grover C. Maxwell, Columbus, as a member of the State Utilities Commission to succeed C. C. Marshall, Sidney, Democrat, whose term expires February 1, next.

Maxwell, a former Akron resident, was Secretary of the Commission a few years ago. Recommendation for his appointment has been made by a committee representing the "Big Four" Brotherhoods—Firemen and Engineers, Trainmen, Conductors and Telegraphers. When a young man, Maxwell was a telegrapher.

The recommendation was in response to a request made by the governor.

Two School Board Members Will be 63 on March 15

Two members of the board of education—Robert W. Sample and George M. Wilhelm—will celebrate their 63rd birthday anniversaries on March 15.

They were born in 1862. Mr. Sample is a native of Pennsylvania, his birthplace being a farm midway between Pittsburgh and Butler. Mr. Wilhelm was born in Hancock county, W. Va., on a farm overlooking the city of Wellsville.

WELLSVILLE INVASION FOLLOWED REQUEST BY OHIO DRY LAW CHIEF

DETECTIVES CHARGE THEY LOCATED 100 ALLEGED ILLICIT LIQUOR PLACES

East Liverpool Executive Declares he Did Not Solicit Business, But Agreed to Handle Cases at Suggestion of Prohibition Commissioner McDonald, Following Complaints of Laxity.

State Prohibition Commissioner B. F. McDonald, of Columbus, requested East Liverpool liquor raiders to invade Wellsville.

This, in short, was the declaration made by Mayor Charles Brown today, as rival forces in the inter-city prohibition enforcement officers' war, changing their battle plans, centered their attacks on home sectors.

"The state prohibition commissioner instructed the Steubenville detective agency to bring their prisoners into the East Liverpool court after Wellsville citizens had complained about an alleged laxity in enforcement in Wellsville," said Mayor Brown. "I did not solicit this business but expressed my willingness to handle the case if it was the desire of the Columbus bureau."

Operatives of the Harris-Webster Detective agency of Steubenville, whose co-operation with three East Liverpool patrolmen in last Saturday's invasion of Wellsville was followed by a reprisal crusade here on the part of Chief John Fultz's raiders, today charged that more than 100 suspected illicit liquor places were located in Wellsville. The detectives said they discovered the alleged places of violation during two months' investigation.

POLICE AND DETECTIVES RAID THREE FRATERNAL ORGANIZATION HOMES HERE

Moose Club Fined $200 on Charge of Permitting Gambling—Liquor Counts Filed Against Eagles and Turners.

Three fraternal organizations—the Loyal Order of Moose, the Fraternal Order of Eagles and the Turner's club were raided by the local police, assisted by special officers and members of the Harris-Webster Detective agency, Steubenville, last night. The Moose club was charged with permitting gambling, while the others were accused of illegally possessing liquor.

Four slot machines are alleged to have been seized at the Moose temple. Police say efforts were made to destroy the liquor at the Eagles' and Turners' clubs, but claim sufficient evidence was obtained to warrant prosecution.

The Moose Club was fined $200 and costs. A check for this amount, signed by officers of the lodge has been turned over to Chief of Police McDermott today. Representatives of both the Eagles and Turners Clubs pleaded not guilty to charges of illegally possessing liquors and were released on $1,500 bond each.

Claim They Broke Thru Door.

The raids, which occurred between 8 and 10 o'clock, were headed by Patrolmen Norman McFarland and James Haley and Turnkey William Cline, of the local force, assisted by five members of the Steubenville detective agency, and special officers Dawson, Malone and Bloor.

Meeting no opposition at the Moose club, the raiders found four slot machines, but no liquor. The machines were taken to the city hall, where they will be destroyed.

The raiding party claim they were forced to break through a door, fitted with an electric lock, at the Eagles' home. When the officers reached the grill room in the basement of the building, the liquor had been destroyed, they said. With a rag, one of the officers soaked up a quantity of alleged corn liquor from the floor to make a test. The remainder, it is claimed, was dumped into a sewer.

WELLSVILLE RAIDERS ARREST 12 MEN IN OFFENSIVE IN THEIR HOME SECTOR

Chief Fultz's Forces, Diverting From Reprisal Attacks in East Liverpool, Devote Attention to Immediate Territory.

Temporarily diverting their attention from the East Liverpool sector where their four-day offensive brought down 11 alleged prohibition law violators in a series of four raids, Chief of Police John Fultz and his patrolmen of Wellsville last night turned their siege guns on the home front, a series of sorties lasting throughout the night and all morning, resulting in 12 arrests and the seizure of 1,000 or more gallons of wine.

Here are the arrests:

Nick Atto, Commerce street.
John Lorano, Commerce street.
Frank Margeo, Thirteenth street.
John Sisinio, Silver Switch.
Peter Frazeutti, near Silver Switch.
Rocco Albenesso, Anderson avenue.
Jiggs Baldassaro, Anderson avenue.
John Dissaro, Commerec srteet.
Peter Smith, Commerce srteet.
—— Zazzerrela, Commerce street, near Thirteenth.
Pete Deloretta, Seventeenth and Main streets.
Rocco Margeo, Commerce street near Thirteenth.

Released on Own Recognizance.

Each of the twelve is charged with possession of alleged intoxicating liquor. Practically all are property owners. Each was released on his own recognizance.

Beginning this afternoon hearings will start before Mayor James S. Barnes in police court. The hearings will continue throughout this evening and tomorrow morning, if necessary.

Fultz's forces scoured Wellsville from one end to the other. In their clean-up, going as far east as the corporate limits for John Sisinio, and as far west as Seventeenth street where they nabbed Pete Deloretto.

At intervals throughout the night, barrels, jugs, bottles and various forms of containers belched forth wine into city sewers and gutters as the chief and his men cleaned out all visible traces of liquor in each of the 12 places they raided.

In addition, Wellsville police confiscated quantities of wine which went into the vaults at city hall as evidence.

"No wine has been left in the places we visited," Chief Fultz asserted "and the owners can't be hit again."

"We found in at least two places wine that had been left after Stuebenville dry detectives had raided the places and arrested the residents

EAST END

REV. H. G. KAYE GIVES SERMON

New Castle Evangelist Speaks at Church of Christ.

Rev. Harry G. Kaye of New Castle, Pa., who is conducting meetings at the Pennsylvania Avenue Church of Christ had as his subject last evening "A Quartette of Fools in East Liverpool." His topic this evening will be: "A Little Book-keeping for the Hypocrite." There will be no meeting Saturday. His subjects for Sunday will be: A Package of Old Love Letters," and the Ku Klux Klan Exposed."

Last night he spoke in part as follows:

"There are some people in East Liverpool that pat themselves on the back until they get broken arms. If you got ought in your heart you have as much chance of getting to heaven as the devil and he has already been kicked out. Sin has done nothing for the world; God has done everything. Some of us have made no more preparations for heaven than a grasshopper has for Christmas. Some day each and every one of us is going to be called to an account for our trust. There is a lot of difference between the way we live and the way people think we live. There are a lot of fools making light of sin."

SPECIAL MEETS BEING CONDUCTED

Evangelistic meetings are in progress at the Second Baptist church in charge of Dr. Storey. He is being assisted by his wife. He will speak at a meeting of men and women Sunday afternoon on the subject, "The Unfaithfulness of Husbands and Wives and the Effect of it upon the foundation of Christendom."

Special music is a feature of the meetings.

Birth Announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Flowers, Maryland avenue, announce the birth of a girl, born January 14.

Plan Tour of County.

Beaver county commissioners plan to make a tour of the county in order to secure first hand information as to needs of each community. Every section will be visited during the next few weeks.

Gas House Immortalized.

Paris is about to immortalize with a tablet the site and building which constituted the first gas house in Paris in 1797. An engineer, Philip Lebon, was the first gas producer, experimenting with the combustion of woods. He called his apparatus thermolamps. He did not however, ever reap his reward, for he was assassinated the day of Binaparte's corination. He bore a striking resemblance to the first consul, for whom his murderers mistook him. Gas was not enthusiastically received at first and it was unot until 1819 that it was first used in the opera.

Why Plaster of Paris?

Why the quick setting Plaster of Paris carries the Paris designation is due to the fact that great beds of it were discovered in the vicinity of Paris, where it was first extensively used as a cement. In the raw state great heat is used to drive out moisture and the composition then combines readily with water, quickly passing into a hard state.

Former Aristocrats Now Work as Menials In Russian Army

MOSCOW—Soviet Russia makes no secret of the fact that the Red Army is a "class" army. That is, it consists entirely of men from the ranks of the proletariat. Members of the so-called "bourgeoise" and of the old aristocracy are excluded as officers or soldiers from the army.

The services of such men, however, are not permitted to go wholly unused. It has been decreed that they shall serve in what the Bolsheviki term, "auxiliary labor groups" in the army. This means they must serve the real Red Army soldiers. They keep the barracks clean, attend the horses, repair roads, supervise army messes and do other menial tasks which are considered beneath the "dignity" of a Bolshevik soldier.

Flowers Reveal New Drug

When a bunch of carnations rapidly wilted in a green house in which there was a small supply of illuminating gas present, investigations as to the cause led to the discovery of ethylene, a new anesthetic. When ethylene was isolated from the atmosphere it was found it would put animals to sleep, producing later in humans, complete anesthesia in 40 seconds and lasting for more than four hours, a time sufficiently long for the most difficult of operations. Another beneficial result was that it produced no harmful effects on the patient.

How To Be Prosperous In 1925

WHEN folks wish us a Happy and a "Prosperous" New Year, we have a feeling that somehow it is going to come true.

But the way to be sure of prosperity in 1925 is to make each day, each week, each month show a profit. And save the profit.

The principle is right. Don't drift—Practice thrift.

"Yes, Most Of Our State

—Along the railroad, does look uninviting. But you ought to see the rest of it!" True enough, if you happen to be familiar with the prosperous state our friend hails from. But wouldn't it be worth while to put some of the smiling evidence of progress where the casual traveler could see it? A bleak aspect on the highways of a commonwealth or of everyday human intercourse often creates a wrong impression.

EAST END

REV. H. G. KAYE GIVES SERMON

New Castle Evangelist Speaks at Church of Christ.

Rev. Harry G. Kaye of New Castle, Pa., who is conducting meetings at the Pennsylvania Avenue Church of Christ had as his subject last evening "A Quartette of Fools in East Liverpool." His topic this evening will be: "A Little Book-keeping for the Hypocrite." There will be no meeting Saturday. His subjects for Sunday will be: A Package of Old Love Letters," and the Ku Klux Klan Exposed."

Last night he spoke in part as follows:

"There are some people in East Liverpool that pat themselves on the back until they get broken arms. If you got ought in your heart you have as much chance of getting to heaven as the devil and he has already been kicked out. Sin has done nothing for the world; God has done everything. Some of us have made no more preparations for heaven than a grasshopper has for Christmas. Some day each and every one of us is going to be called to an account for our trust. There is a lot of difference between the way we live and the way people think we live. There are a lot of fools making light of sin."

SPECIAL MEETS BEING CONDUCTED

Evangelistic meetings are in progress at the Second Baptist church in charge of Dr. Storey. He is being assisted by his wife. He will speak at a meeting of men and women Sunday afternoon on the subject, "The Unfaithfulness of Husbands and Wives and the Effect of it upon the foundation of Christendom."

Special music is a feature of the meetings.

Birth Announced.

Plan Tour of County.

Beaver county commissioners plan to make a tour of the county in order to secure first hand information as to needs of each community. Every section will be visited during the next few weeks.

Gas House Immortalized.

Paris is about to immortalize with a tablet the site and building which constituted the first gas house in Paris in 1797. An engineer, Philip Lebon, was the first gas producer, experimenting with the combustion of woods. He called his apparatus thermolamps. He did not however, ever reap his reward, for he was assassinated the day of Binaparte's corination. He bore a striking resemblance to the first consul, for whom his murderers mistook him. Gas was not enthusiastically received at first and it was unot until 1819 that it was first used in the opera.

Why Plaster of Paris?

Why the quick setting Plaster of Paris carries the Paris designation is due to the fact that great beds of it were discovered in the vicinity of Paris, where it was first extensively used as a cement. In the raw state great heat is used to drive out moisture and the composition then combines readily with water, quickly passing into a hard state.

Former Aristocrats Now Work as Menials In Russian Army

MOSCOW—Soviet Russia makes no secret of the fact that the Red Army is a "class" army. That is, it consists entirely of men from the ranks of the proletariat. Members of the so-called "bourgeoise" and of the old aristocracy are excluded as officers or soldiers from the army.

The services of such men, however, are not permitted to go wholly unused. It has been decreed that they shall serve in what the Bolsheviki term, "auxiliary labor groups" in the army. This means they must serve the real Red Army soldiers. They keep the barracks clean, attend the horses, repair roads, supervise army messes and do other menial tasks which are considered beneath the "dignity" of a Bolshevik soldier.

Flowers Reveal New Drug

When a bunch of carnations rapidly wilted in a green house in which there was a small supply of illuminating gas present, investigations as to the cause led to the discovery of ethylene, a new anesthetic. When ethylene was isolated from the atmosphere it was found it would put animals to sleep, producing later in humans, complete anesthesia in 40 seconds and lasting for more than four hours, a time sufficiently long for the most difficult of operations. Another beneficial result was that it produced no harmful effects on the patient.

Tourists spent $3,500,000 in Norway last summer.

How To Be Prosperous In 1925

WHEN folks wish us a Happy and a "Prosperous" New Year, we have a feeling that somehow it is going to come true.

But the way to be sure of prosperity in 1925 is to make each day, each week, each month show a profit. And save the profit.

The principle is right. Don't drift—Practice thrift.

Cloak Department Clearance Sale of Women's and Misses' Coats, Dresses, Fur Coats, and Children's Coats at Greatly Reduced Prices

"Yes, Most Of Our State

—Along the railroad, does look uninviting. But you ought to see the rest of it!" True enough, if you happen to be familiar with the prosperous state our friend hails from. But wouldn't it be worth while to put some of the smiling evidence of progress where the casual traveler could see it? A bleak aspect on the highways of a commonwealth or of everyday human intercourse often creates a wrong impression.

Nothing like showing our best side to the world—is there?

Even gold mines have to economize the proprietors of those in the Transvaal having been paring costs during the last few years to meet eventual disappearance of the gold premium.

CHILDRENS CROSS WORD PUZZLE

How To Solve Puzzle.

The words start in the numbered squares and run either across or down. Only one letter is placed in each white square. If the proper words are found each combination of letters in the white squares will form words. The key to the puzzle—the first word—is given in the drawing. Below are keys to the other words.

Running Across.

Word 4. An imaginary being that children like to read about.
Word 5. Opposite of wet.

Running Down.

Word 1. Where milk is kept and made into butter or cheese.
Word 2. Crazy; insane.
Word 3. "If at first you don't succeed—, —, again."

Police Seek Meanest Thieves; Steal Dog Licenses From Collars

SYRACUSE, N. Y. — Police today have been asked by City Clerk Thomas E. Kennedy to search for the meanest gang of thieves in the world.

The gang, according to Kennedy, has been stealing license tags off dog collars in every section of the city.

Kennedy referred the matter to the police officials following a series of complaints from persons who were forced to return to the city hall for new license tags as a result of the gang's depredations.

It is believed that the tags are being sold at a cut rate.

From the fact that the canvas was first called "The King's Wedding," it is safe to assume that the picture simply depicts the musicians assembling for the wedding of their King.

Housing Shortage.

WARSAW—In view of the housing scarcity in Poland the Seym has passed a law permitting the billeting of army officers and married sergeants in private houses and flats. Rural and City communities will levy special taxes to pay the rents of requisitioned quarters.

Unskilled workers in the building trades of Germany are now paid the equivalent of $5.76 for a week of fifty-four hours.

Even gold mines have to economize the proprietors of those in the Transvaal having been paring costs during the last few years to meet eventual disappearance of the gold premium.

CHILDRENS CROSS WORD PUZZLE

How To Solve Puzzle.

The words start in the numbered squares and run either across or down. Only one letter is placed in each white square. If the proper words are found each combination of letters in the white squares will form words. The key to the puzzle—the first word—is given in the drawing. Below are keys to the other words.

Running Across.

Word 4. An imaginary being that children like to read about.
Word 5. Opposite of wet.

Running Down.

Word 1. Where milk is kept and made into butter or cheese.
Word 2. Crazy; insane.
Word 3. "If at first you don't succeed—, —, again."

Police Seek Meanest Thieves; Steal Dog Licenses From Collars

SYRACUSE, N. Y. — Police today have been asked by City Clerk Thomas E. Kennedy to search for the meanest gang of thieves in the world.

The gang, according to Kennedy, has been stealing license tags off dog collars in every section of the city.

Kennedy referred the matter to the police officials following a series of complaints from persons who were forced to return to the city hall for new license tags as a result of the gang's depredations.

It is believed that the tags are being sold at a cut rate.

Workers in paper mills of Silesia are paid eight cents an hour.

Better Radio Reception

Roger Babson's estimate of $350,000,000 for radio sets, parts and accessories last year was exceeded. This year, trade experts say, the radio expenditure is likely to pass $500,000,000.

This is certainly "some business." It means an average of $20 to $25 per family for the entire population of the United States. And it is worth the money. Indeed, it is hard to think of any other form of entertainment which provides so much for the money.

Certain improvements, however, are desirable. The time has passed, or is passing, when a majority of fans took up radio for the novelty of it and found their chief satisfaction merely in finding that the mechanism would work. Knowledge of radio essentials is now widespread, mechanism is becoming pretty well standardized, sets readily available have plenty of range and power. Programs, therefore, become the most important factor. And while programs, near and far, can be received pretty well on any moderately good set, the quality of reception on nearly all sets is still far from perfect.

Not one set in a hundred yet reproduces music, even from a local station, as well as the phonograph does. It is said, however, that devices improving the action of loudspeakers are now available making almost perfect reception possible. If so, that may be the biggest radio gain in 1925.

Paper Stinginess

An odd but honest wail from the Iola, Kan., Register probably strikes a sympathetic response in every newspaper office. The wail concerns the paper stinginess of citizens who send in communications they want printed. Many of these notices are printed by the paper simply out of courtesy. And yet sometimes very little courtesy or thoughtfulness is shown by the people who send them. The Register describes them thus:

"From the way these public-notice-writing contributors do their work, one would think that paper cost a dollar an ounce. They get thin, poor paper to begin with, then they type their lines as close together as the machine will do it, and then they cut off any margins that may be left at the top or bottom of the sheet. When such a piece of copy comes into this office, some one who already has too much to do is obliged to re-type it before it can go to the printers."

Obviously such copy is hard to read, hard to correct, hard to alter in any way and hard on eyes and temper of all who must handle it. Persons who mistreat a newspaper office in this way will waste plenty of paper in personal correspondence. Why?

Inept Names

Names should mean something, and old names are precious. These sentiments come with special force in connection with the proposal before congress to restore the ancient name of Mt. Tacoma, discarding the upstart title of Ranier, given by the geographic board in 1890 in honor of a British naval captain. "Tacoma," varied somewhat in spelling and pronunciation, seems to have been the name always used by the Indians, signifying in general "snow mountain" and, in this case, "The Snow Mountain."

Archdeacon Stuck, a distinguished mountaineer, who clung to the old name Denali for the great Alaskan peak now named "Mt. McKinley," says: "There is to the author's mind a certain ruthless arrogance that grows more offensive as the years pass by in the temper that comes to a 'new' land and contemptuously ignores the native names of conspicuous and natural objects, almost always appropriate, and overlays them with names that are commonly neither the one nor the others."

The bill which has passed the senate and is pending in the house would give the official name Tacoma not only to the mountain but to "Ranier National park" and "Ranier National forest" adjoining it, which seems appropriate enough.

There is said to be an impression in some quarters that the efforts of the city of Tacoma to bring about this action means that the mountain is to be named for the city. It ought to be evident that the city was named for the mountain. If the measure fails, perhaps congress, to be consistent, should rename the city "Ranier."

AFTER GOMPERS—WHAT?

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Few questions are more widely discussed in Washington at the present time when the one as to the future of the American labor movement now that Samuel Gompers is dead and gone. After Gompers, what? It is a much-discussed topic not only because of its bearing upon the activities of organized workers, but because it affects politics, legislation and business.

Gompers' immediate successor has been named in the person of William Green, long an official of the United Mine Workers of America, but will Green be able to retain the position at the head of the Federation of Labor, and if so, will his leadership be conservative or radical?

Also, is it possible that a fight for control of the federation may develop to such proportions as to give the organized labor movement a serious setback?

These are some of the sub-divisions of the main question, and all of them suggest possibilities that are important as well as interesting.

Gompers held his leadership of the forces of organized labor for 43 years. This is a record that has no parallel in the careers of public men in this country, and it is all the more notable because he had to be re-elected president of the federation from year to year. He had no long term in which to entrench himself and convert his job into a virtual life tenure after one or two re-elections.

Obviously his was a forceful and dominating personality, and there are those who now predict it will be demonstrated shortly that the Gompers' domination was carried to such a point that he himself was in fact the federation. In other words, these observers anticipate factional differences and secessions that will result in the disruption and ultimate disintegration of the organization. They base this prediction on the idea that an organization that was a one-man organization for more than four decades could not have developed any other leader or leaders of sufficient strength to gain control and continue it on the one-man basis, and, hence, must go to pieces as a result of the conflicting ambitions of leaders of lesser calibre.

HOW GOMPERS HELD ON

Some of these disparaged leaders in their turn resent this exalting of Gompers and insist that he was able to hold the federation presidency so long because he was a shrewd politician rather than because of his industrial statesmanship. They say that for many years there was sufficient opposition to Gompers in the federation to have defeated him at any time could that opposition have been united, but it was always hopelessly divided by the ambitions of a number of actual or potential candidates for the presidency, each of whom would rather see Gompers re-elected than have one of his rivals attain the post of power.

Gompers formed no alliances or combinations within that organization to fight for him. His shrewdness lay in seeing that that was unnecessary and that the multiplicity of his rivals was in effect the strongest possible combination to keep him in office. The result was that he was supported year after year by men who hated him cordially, any one of whom would have dethroned Gompers in a moment could he have been certain of grabbing off the big prize for himself.

In the end it came to be accepted that Gompers would continue at the head of the federation as long as he lived or until he was unable to discharge the duties of the office. John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, made perhaps the strongest contest to dislodge Gompers, but it was recognized at the time as hopeless and understood as primarily a move to demonstrate Lewis' strength as a prospective candidate, when, with Gompers gone, the fight would be an open one.

When death came to Gompers so soon after his election in the fall it was necessary for the executive council to name his successor. Practically every man on the council was openly or secretly a candidate. Result—a man was named who had never been prominently to the fore in the bidding for Gompers' honors. That left all the others on practically even terms as entrants in the big contest that will be staged at the next annual meeting of the federation.

CONTEST IS NOW ON

As a matter of fact, that contest is now under way. There is more activity in labor circles than has been known in many years, and a game of politics is being played that is comparable only to the quadrennial struggles for the nomination for president of the United States. It may not be brought so prominently to public notice—aspirants for labor's chieftanship and their managers do not go in for press agents and brass bands—but it is featured by the same sort of wire-pulling, maneuvering and intriguing that are known in the real politics of the nation.

And with 10 months in which to wage the preliminary campaign just as real a fight is assured as was ever witnessed at a national convention of the Republicans or Democrats. In fact, it will be no surprise to well-informed observers if the federationists put on a regular Madison Square Garden affair next fall.

Meantime the labor movement will mark time. The unions can make no concerted drive for legislation or for organization extension while their leaders primarily interested in the struggle for the sceptre that dropped from Gompers' death-chilled hand. For this, members of congress and the employers of labor are now returning thanks. They may enjoy a brief respite from the cares and trials that beset them constantly when labor is seeking to advance its program for dealing with economic, social and industrial ills.

An evidence of this respite was seen in the recent announcement by Senator Cummins that it had been found impossible to arrange a conference to consider amendments to those provisions of the transportation act of 1920 which established the railroad labor board. What are known as the "Big Four" of the unions of railway workers are not identified with the Federation of Labor, and hence may not be interested in the contest for Gompers' position, but there are 17 unions of employes in the transportation industry that are affiliated with the federation.

However, the real interest of legislators and captains of industry in what is going on in the labor world is in speculating as to whether the future policy of the federation is to be conservative or radical. Gompers was essentially a conservative, as men on the other side of the industrial equation who fought him for years came finally to recognize, and by sheer force of his personality he kept his organization conservative. There was nothing "red" about him except his red-blooded American patriotism, and he fought the reds in every move they made to prostitute American workers to the program of European extremists.

It is no secret that there are radicals in the labor movement in this country. What their ultimate aim may be nobody knows, for they have not as yet declared it, contenting themselves with a "boring in" program while they do their proselyting. But Gompers knew them, and distrusted their purposes, and fought them tooth and nail.

In the great war emergency that threatened this nation and the civilization of the world Gompers met with government officials and representative employers and agreed readily and frankly that "there should be no strikes or lockouts during the war," and that became the broad fundamental principle upon which the National War Labor board functioned. Gompers kept the faith.

There is general interest in the eventuality that is to determine whether his successor as the real leader of organized labor in the United States is to be a man who would do the same thing in a similar emergency should one arise.

NEWSY GOSSIP OF BIG CITIES

By CHARLES A. SMITH.

LONDON, Jan. 16.—Radio listening-in as a cure for nerve cases and insomnia is being recognized by English hospital authorities, who are installing radio sets as a matter of routine in all hospitals.

The hospital authorities noticed that patients who had access to radio sets were contented, and slept well, after hearing evening programs.

Famous doctors and specialists agree that music has tremendous curative powers, and that its growing use will greatly help them.

The South African government is formulating plans for sending lessons by radio to children who cannot cover great distances to the nearest school house.

Parents would be instructed by broadcast as to how their children should proceed with the lessons transmitted, and would also be asked to supervise their "pupils," who, it is suggested, might work in groups.

The government has great hopes that this plan will solve the problem of teaching a widely scattered child population.

Wider powers are to be sought by the British postmaster general to track down radio "fans" who have not bought the government's license to listen-in.

It is estimated that there are at least 3,000,000 owners of radio sets in the British Isles; but, according to figures issued by the postoffice department, only 1,000,000 of them have bought licenses, which means a huge loss of revenue to the broadcasting company and the government, and the stunting of the growth of radio in the country due to insufficient funds.

"Radio ear" is the latest disease of humanity.

A Berlin doctor claims to have discovered the disease, which is an affection of the skin around the ear, and is attributed to the wearing of radio-headpieces which press too tightly.

The trouble yields rapidly to treatment; but "fans" are advised to place linen pads on the ear-pieces in such a way as to relieve the pressure and allow the passage of air.

A new amateur radio feat is reported from South Africa, where a Johannesburg amateur has succeeded in establishing communication with America, 8,000 miles distant.

He sent out signals every Sunday evening on his home-made set, and recently he received acknowledgement that his signals had been received.

A building, similar to the Eiffel Tower in Paris, is to be erected in Berlin shortly for the purpose of radio transmission.

Radioing a "thought" is to be tried out upon its patrons by the British Broadcasting company, official English radio broadcasting company.

The idea is that a prominent man, famous for his intellectual and "thinking" powers, should stand before a microphone and for the space of two or three minutes try to broadcast an easy, concrete thought.

He would concentrate, with all his mental energy and thought, on a certain matter, and endeavor at the same time to transmit that thought into he microphone. The radio broadcatchers would for the moment become thought-catchers and try to receive a mental impression of the thought.

The first "beam" radio station, by which it will be possible to radio direct to a given spot without interference is to be erected at Dorchester, the famous hometown of Thomas Hardy.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 16.—This is perhaps the most expensive city in America in which to die. Until recently no one was buried under ground and the magnificent mausoleums constitute one of the wonders and show places of New Orleans.

The most famous of the burial grounds in the Metairie cemetery. It contains among others the monuments of General Albert Sydney Johnston and General Stonewall Jackson. The average monument costs around $30,000 and a few cost $150,000.

Sight-seeing wagons are at every hotel to take visitors to the burial grounds. The approach to them are through picturesque groves with chains of artificial lakes. There are pretty walks, white shell roads and huge live oak trees festooned with gray Spanish moss.

A few miles away is Lake Pontchartrain, where General Jackson landed in 1814. Near the old Spanish Fort is a glimpse of Holland with the myriad sails of the oyster luggers.

Returning from the Spanish Fort we drove through St. Charles street, one of the finest residential streets in the world. It was dusk and lights were beginning to blaze in the fine colonial structures. In the yards one saw many stately palms and tropical plants.

In the center of the wide street is a grassy mall where the street cars run. This strip was once the open sewers of New Orleans which has won an heroic fight for sanitation. The water is pure and pestilence has been wiped out.

The French quarter is, of course, the piece de resistance for the sightseer. In these narrow streets where old homes with their picturesque balconies have withstood time valiantly is to be found the gaiety of New Orleans. Midnight cabarets flourish and smiling ladies sit at tables to encourage drinking and get their percentage therefrom. The cabarets are colorful but not ornate.

The old French market occupies four city blocks. More than 20 languages are spoken there. The market offers the greatest variety of fruits, vegetables, meats, fish and game to be found anywhere. The sharp bargaining creates a babble of tongues. The New Orleans marketer knows how to drive a sharp bargain.

New Orleans loves the sport of kings. The racing forms are eagerly sought and everywhere you see people studying "past performances." Several daily turf papers are published here. They tell of gambling house runners, but I did not encounter the gentry. Perhaps my gay shirts gave them the idea I was one of them.

I met the "New Orleans Kid," an odd bit of human flotsam who has roamed the world, but always comes back like a bad penny to New Orleans. "The Kid" believes in taking life as he finds it. "When I wear out my shoes I find I am on my feet," he said with a pholisophic grin. His last quixotic adventure was in Spain, where he said he was asked to leave merely because he remarked that Spain would be a nice place to start something.

The Creole ladies are famed for their beauty. And they are indeed beautiful, but there is a haunting melancholy about them it seems to me. They suggest moonlight nights, a balcony and a Spanish guitar.

TODAY

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

FEARFUL AND WONDERFUL

Glands, radio and cross-word puzzles occupy this age. A gland fluid, taken from the base of the brain in animals, of course, is to be used as a restorative for human beings.

Dr. H. M. Evans, distinguished scientist of the University of California, who calls his discovery "vitamin X," has developed an extract of the pituitary gland with which animals can be made to grow to gigantic size.

Science is just beginning to understand that most wonderful of all machines, the living body "fearfully and wonderfully made."

POOR SACRED MONKEYS

Religious men and women in India are agitated because old-blooded Christians, or their agents are slaughtering India's thousands of sacred monkeys, for the sake of their glands, the latter being transplanted in the bodies of aged, weak humans.

The sacred monkeys are vanishing rapidly, and natives warn the government that the gods—monkey gods, presumably, will have vengeance on India.

FIVE CONTINENTS PICKED UP

A radio expert in Paris "picked up" in one day the broadcasting on five different continents. He got Mesopotamia in Asia, Canada in America, England in Europe, Palmerston, New Zealand, and Oran, in Africa.

When the great day comes and the four angles, as described in the Bible, lift up their voices, at the four corners of the earth, they will be heard by radio listeners on the other side of the world before they are heard by those a quarter of a mile away. That is a miracle.

HE ENJOYED KILLING

In Budapest Lieutenant Lederer, arrested for murder, confesses that he hanged 15 persons. He adds, "I always put on white gloves for the ceremony, and found my greatest pleasure in the hangings."

At that we all shudder, and wonder how any monster could actually enjoy hanging his fellow men.

And yet, not long ago English merchants, on their knees, outside parliament, begged that there might be fewer sets of gallows in their small town. The king, bishop, lord of the manor and the merchants all had their gallows and separate hangmen. The merchants protested that too many men were being hanged. But nobody was willing to give up his gallows, or the right to hang his fellows.

Now a fine estate for sale with gallows and the right to hang men on it would not attract buyers. Refined families would avoid it.

Wheat went above two dollars a bushel in Chicago on Tuesday. Gentlemen recently selling short are now thinking hard.

Early in the Coolidge campaign, when wheat was below $1.20, this column predicted that the price would rise steadily above $1.50, and to help to elect Coolidge. That happened, with a big margin to spare, in votes and in the price of wheat.

Wall street was not quite so cheerful yesterday. There was nothing much the matter. But money for gambling went up to 3½ per cent, and brokers had to have a reason.

Some of them settled on Secretary Hughes' resignation. Any explanation is better than none, although why Mr. Hughes' departure should make stocks less valuable, the ordinary lamb does not know.

There may be some bad news coming out, something not yet discounted.

It is proposed to create an "airport" for New York by roofing over the yards of the Pennsylvania roalroad. Temporary landing and leaving places for flyers might thus be provided in many cities. That ought to be done. Automobile roads, without grade crossings, could also easily be provided, making a roadway above railroad tracks running out through city suburbs. Railroads should be properly compensated, of course.

Makeshift airports will soon be outgrown, however. Before you die in every big city the week-end will see thousands of flying "club cars" each with its load of passengers, flying off to mountains, or seaside, in summer, to Florida, California, etc., in winter.

In 10 years Florida will be as near New York as Atlantic City is now.

WHO'S WHO

MAJOR GENERAL CHARLES P. SUMMERALL.

Major General Charles P. Summerall, who will succeed Major General Robert L. Bullard on January 16 in command of the second corp area, during the World war commanded successfully the First Field artillery brigade, first division and fifth, ninth and fourth army corps of the American expeditionary forces.

The new commander at Governor's Island is one of the general officers recommended by General Pershing in his final reports as chief of staff for promotion to the permanent rank of lieutenant general. General Bullard, who held the higher rank before the armistice and for some time thereafter, is another.

General Summerall was born in Lake City, Fla., and appointed to the military academy from that state in 1888. He was a colonel of artillery when the United States entered the World war. In addition to active participation in the hostilities in France as brigade, division and corps commander, General Summerall represented the United States on the inter-allied mission appointed by the supreme war council.

Upon his return to the United States General Summerall commanded the First division at Camp Taylor, Kentucky, and at Camp Dix, New Jersey. On August 5, 1921, he was assigned to command the Hawaiian department. On October 12, 1924, he was detailed to command the Eighth corps area, headquarters at San Antonio, Tex., from which post he will go to Governor's Island next month.

General Summerall will be succeeded at San Antonio by Major General Ernest Hinds, now in command of the First division.

Kansas is sending a pretty girl to Washington to inform President Coolidge that "Kansas grows the best wheat in the world." And what of the Chicago competition in which the "best wheat" was attributed to Saskatchewan?

Better Radio Reception

Roger Babson's estimate of $350,000,000 for radio sets, parts and accessories last year was exceeded. This year, trade experts say, the radio expenditure is likely to pass $500,000,000.

This is certainly "some business." It means an average of $20 to $25 per family for the entire population of the United States. And it is worth the money. Indeed, it is hard to think of any other form of entertainment which provides so much for the money.

Certain improvements, however, are desirable. The time has passed, or is passing, when a majority of fans took up radio for the novelty of it and found their chief satisfaction merely in finding that the mechanism would work. Knowledge of radio essentials is now widespread, mechanism is becoming pretty well standardized, sets readily available have plenty of range and power. Programs, therefore, become the most important factor. And while programs, near and far, can be received pretty well on any moderately good set, the quality of reception on nearly all sets is still far from perfect.

Not one set in a hundred yet reproduces music, even from a local station, as well as the phonograph does. It is said, however, that devices improving the action of loudspeakers are now available making almost perfect reception possible. If so, that may be the biggest radio gain in 1925.

Paper Stinginess

An odd but honest wail from the Iola, Kan., Register probably strikes a sympathetic response in every newspaper office. The wail concerns the paper stinginess of citizens who send in communications they want printed. Many of these notices are printed by the paper simply out of courtesy. And yet sometimes very little courtesy or thoughtfulness is shown by the people who send them. The Register describes them thus:

"From the way these public-notice-writing contributors do their work, one would think that paper cost a dollar an ounce. They get thin, poor paper to begin with, then they type their lines as close together as the machine will do it, and then they cut off any margins that may be left at the top or bottom of the sheet. When such a piece of copy comes into this office, some one who already has too much to do is obliged to re-type it before it can go to the printers."

Obviously such copy is hard to read, hard to correct, hard to alter in any way and hard on eyes and temper of all who must handle it. Persons who mistreat a newspaper office in this way will waste plenty of paper in personal correspondence. Why?

Inept Names

Names should mean something, and old names are precious. These sentiments come with special force in connection with the proposal before congress to restore the ancient name of Mt. Tacoma, discarding the upstart title of Ranier, given by the geographic board in 1890 in honor of a British naval captain. "Tacoma," varied somewhat in spelling and pronunciation, seems to have been the name always used by the Indians, signifying in general "snow mountain" and, in this case, "The Snow Mountain."

Archdeacon Stuck, a distinguished mountaineer, who clung to the old name Denali for the great Alaskan peak now named "Mt. McKinley," says: "There is to the author's mind a certain ruthless arrogance that grows more offensive as the years pass by in the temper that comes to a 'new' land and contemptuously ignores the native names of conspicuous and natural objects, almost always appropriate, and overlays them with names that are commonly neither the one nor the others."

The bill which has passed the senate and is pending in the house would give the official name Tacoma not only to the mountain but to "Ranier National park" and "Ranier National forest" adjoining it, which seems appropriate enough.

There is said to be an impression in some quarters that the efforts of the city of Tacoma to bring about this action means that the mountain is to be named for the city. It ought to be evident that the city was named for the mountain. If the measure fails, perhaps congress, to be consistent, should rename the city "Ranier."

AFTER GOMPERS—WHAT?

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Few questions are more widely discussed in Washington at the present time when the one as to the future of the American labor movement now that Samuel Gompers is dead and gone. After Gompers, what? It is a much-discussed topic not only because of its bearing upon the activities of organized workers, but because it affects politics, legislation and business.

Gompers' immediate successor has been named in the person of William Green, long an official of the United Mine Workers of America, but will Green be able to retain the position at the head of the Federation of Labor, and if so, will his leadership be conservative or radical?

Also, is it possible that a fight for control of the federation may develop to such proportions as to give the organized labor movement a serious setback?

These are some of the sub-divisions of the main question, and all of them suggest possibilities that are important as well as interesting.

Gompers held his leadership of the forces of organized labor for 43 years. This is a record that has no parallel in the careers of public men in this country, and it is all the more notable because he had to be re-elected president of the federation from year to year. He had no long term in which to entrench himself and convert his job into a virtual life tenure after one or two re-elections.

Obviously his was a forceful and dominating personality, and there are those who now predict it will be demonstrated shortly that the Gompers' domination was carried to such a point that he himself was in fact the federation. In other words, these observers anticipate factional differences and secessions that will result in the disruption and ultimate disintegration of the organization. They base this prediction on the idea that an organization that was a one-man organization for more than four decades could not have developed any other leader or leaders of sufficient strength to gain control and continue it on the one-man basis, and, hence, must go to pieces as a result of the conflicting ambitions of leaders of lesser calibre.

HOW GOMPERS HELD ON

Some of these disparaged leaders in their turn resent this exalting of Gompers and insist that he was able to hold the federation presidency so long because he was a shrewd politician rather than because of his industrial statesmanship. They say that for many years there was sufficient opposition to Gompers in the federation to have defeated him at any time could that opposition have been united, but it was always hopelessly divided by the ambitions of a number of actual or potential candidates for the presidency, each of whom would rather see Gompers re-elected than have one of his rivals attain the post of power.

Gompers formed no alliances or combinations within that organization to fight for him. His shrewdness lay in seeing that that was unnecessary and that the multiplicity of his rivals was in effect the strongest possible combination to keep him in office. The result was that he was supported year after year by men who hated him cordially, any one of whom would have dethroned Gompers in a moment could he have been certain of grabbing off the big prize for himself.

In the end it came to be accepted that Gompers would continue at the head of the federation as long as he lived or until he was unable to discharge the duties of the office. John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, made perhaps the strongest contest to dislodge Gompers, but it was recognized at the time as hopeless and understood as primarily a move to demonstrate Lewis' strength as a prospective candidate, when, with Gompers gone, the fight would be an open one.

When death came to Gompers so soon after his election in the fall it was necessary for the executive council to name his successor. Practically every man on the council was openly or secretly a candidate. Result—a man was named who had never been prominently to the fore in the bidding for Gompers' honors. That left all the others on practically even terms as entrants in the big contest that will be staged at the next annual meeting of the federation.

CONTEST IS NOW ON

As a matter of fact, that contest is now under way. There is more activity in labor circles than has been known in many years, and a game of politics is being played that is comparable only to the quadrennial struggles for the nomination for president of the United States. It may not be brought so prominently to public notice—aspirants for labor's chieftainship and their leaders do not go in for press agents and brass bands—but it is featured by the same sort of wire-pulling, maneuvering and intriguing that are known in the real politics of the nation.

And with 10 months in which to wage the preliminary campaign just as real a fight is assured as was ever witnessed at a national convention of the Republicans or Democrats. In fact, it will be no surprise to well-informed observers if the federationists put on a regular Madison Square Garden affair next fall.

Meantime the labor movement will mark time. The unions can make no concerted drive for legislation or for organization extension while their leaders primarily interested in the struggle for the scepter that dropped from Gompers' death-chilled hand. For this, members of congress and the employers of labor are now returning thanks. They may enjoy a brief respite from the cares and trials that beset them constantly when labor is seeking to advance its program for dealing with economic, social and industrial ills.

An evidence of this respite was seen in the recent announcement by Senator Cummins that it had been found impossible to arrange a conference to consider amendments to those provisions of the transportation act of 1920 which established the railroad labor board. What are known as the "Big Four" of the unions of railway workers are not identified with the Federation of Labor, and hence may not be interested in the contest for Gompers' position, but there are 17 unions of employes in the transportation industry that are affiliated with the federation.

However, the real interest of legislators and captains of industry in what is going on in the labor world is in speculating as to whether the future policy of the federation is to be conservative or radical. Gompers was essentially a conservative, as men on the other side of the industrial equation who fought him for years came finally to recognize, and by sheer force of his personality he kept his organization conservative. There was nothing "red" about him except his red-blooded American patriotism, and he fought the reds in every move they made to prostitute American workers to the program of European extremists.

It is no secret that there are radicals in the labor movement in this country. What their ultimate aim may be nobody knows, for they have not as yet declared it, contenting themselves with a "boring in" program while they do their proselyting. But Gompers knew them, and distrusted their purposes, and fought them tooth and nail.

In the great war emergency that threatened this nation and the civilization of the world Gompers met with government officials and representative employers and agreed readily and frankly that "there should be no strikes or lockouts during the war," and that became the broad fundamental principle upon which the National War Labor board functioned. Gompers kept the faith.

There is general interest in the eventuality that is to determine whether his successor as the real leader of organized labor in the United States is to be a man who would do the same thing in a similar emergency should one arise.

NEWSY GOSSIP OF BIG CITIES

By CHARLES A. SMITH.

LONDON, Jan. 16.—Radio listening-in as a cure for nerve cases and insomnia is being recognized by English hospital authorities, who are installing radio sets as a matter of routine in all hospitals.

The hospital authorities noticed that patients who had access to radio sets were contented, and slept well, after hearing evening programs.

Famous doctors and specialists agree that music has tremendous curative powers, and that its growing use will greatly help them.

The South African government is formulating plans for sending lessons by radio to children who cannot cover great distances to the nearest school house.

Parents would be instructed by broadcast as to how their children should proceed with the lessons transmitted, and would also be asked to supervise their "pupils," who, it is suggested, might work in groups.

The government has great hopes that this plan will solve the problem of teaching a widely scattered child population.

Wider powers are to be sought by the British postmaster general to track down radio "fans" who have not bought the government's license to listen-in.

It is estimated that there are at least 3,000,000 owners of radio sets in the British Isles; but, according to figures issued by the postoffice department, only 1,000,000 of them have bought licenses, which means a huge loss of revenue to the broadcasting company and the government, and the stunting of the growth of radio in the country due to insufficient funds.

"Radio ear" is the latest disease of humanity.

A Berlin doctor claims to have discovered the disease, which is an affection of the skin around the ear, and is attributed to the wearing of radio-headpieces which press too tightly.

The trouble yields rapidly to treatment; but "fans" are advised to place linen pads on the ear-pieces in such a way as to relieve the pressure and allow the passage of air.

A new amateur radio feat is reported from South Africa, where a Johannesburg amateur has succeeded in establishing communication with America, 8,000 miles distant.

He sent out signals every Sunday evening on his home-made set, and recently he received acknowledgement that his signals had been received.

A building, similar to the Eiffel Tower in Paris, is to be erected in Berlin shortly for the purpose of radio transmission.

Radioing a "thought" is to be tried out upon its patrons by the British Broadcasting company, official English radio broadcasting company.

The idea is that a prominent man, famous for his intellectual and "thinking" powers, should stand before a microphone and for the space of two or three minutes try to broadcast an easy, concrete thought.

He would concentrate, with all his mental energy and thought, on a certain matter, and endeavor at the same time to transmit that thought into he microphone. The radio broadcatchers would for the moment become thought-catchers and try to receive a mental impression of the thought.

The first "beam" radio station, by which it will be possible to radio direct to a given spot without interference is to be erected at Dorchester, the famous hometown of Thomas Hardy.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 16.—This is perhaps the most expensive city in America in which to die. Until recently no one was buried under ground and the magnificent mausoleums constitute one of the wonders and show places of New Orleans.

The most famous of the burial grounds in the Metairie cemetery. It contains among others the monuments of General Albert Sydney Johnston and General Stonewall Jackson. The average monument costs around $30,000 and a few cost $150,000.

Sight-seeing wagons are at every hotel to take visitors to the burial grounds. The approach to them are through picturesque groves with chains of artificial lakes. There are pretty walks, white shell roads and huge live oak trees festooned with gray Spanish moss.

A few miles away is Lake Pontchartrain, where General Jackson landed in 1814. Near the old Spanish Fort is a glimpse of Holland with the myriad sails of the oyster luggers.

Returning from the Spanish Fort we drove through St. Charles street, one of the finest residential streets in the world. It was dusk and lights were beginning to blaze in the fine colonial structures. In the yards one saw many stately palms and tropical plants.

In the center of the wide street is a grassy mall where the street cars run. This strip was once the open sewers of New Orleans which has won an heroic fight for sanitation. The water is pure and pestilence has been wiped out.

The French quarter is, of course, the piece de resistance for the sightseer. In these narrow streets where old homes with their picturesque balconies have withstood time valiantly is to be found the gaiety of New Orleans. Midnight cabarets flourish and smiling ladies sit at tables to encourage drinking and get their percentage therefrom. The cabarets are colorful but not ornate.

The old French market occupies four city blocks. More than 20 languages are spoken there. The market offers the greatest variety of fruits, vegetables, meats, fish and game to be found anywhere. The sharp bargaining creates a babble of tongues. The New Orleans marketer knows how to drive a sharp bargain.

New Orleans loves the sport of kings. The racing forms are eagerly sought and everywhere you see people studying "past performances." Several daily turf papers are published here. They tell of gambling house runners, but I did not encounter the gentry. Perhaps my gay shirts gave them the idea I was one of them.

I met the "New Orleans Kid," an odd bit of human flotsam who has roamed the world, but always comes back like a bad penny to New Orleans. "The Kid" believes in taking life as he finds it. "When I wear out my shoes I find I am on my feet," he said with a pholisophic grin. His last quixotic adventure was in Spain, where he said he was asked to leave merely because he remarked that Spain would be a nice place to start something.

The Creole ladies are famed for their beauty. And they are indeed beautiful, but there is a haunting melancholy about them it seems to me. They suggest moonlight nights, a balcony and a Spanish guitar.

TODAY

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

FEARFUL AND WONDERFUL

Glands, radio and cross-word puzzles occupy this age. A gland fluid, taken from the base of the brain in animals, of course, is to be used as a restorative for human beings.

Dr. H. M. Evans, distinguished scientist of the University of California, who calls his discovery "vitamin X," has developed an extract of the pituitary gland with which animals can be made to grow to gigantic size.

Science is just beginning to understand that most wonderful of all machines, the living body "fearfully and wonderfully made."

POOR SACRED MONKEYS

Religious men and women in India are agitated because old-blooded Christians, or their agents are slaughtering India's thousands of sacred monkeys, for the sake of their glands, the latter being transplanted in the bodies of aged, weak humans.

The sacred monkeys are vanishing rapidly, and natives warn the government that the gods—monkey gods, presumably, will have vengeance on India.

FIVE CONTINENTS PICKED UP

A radio expert in Paris "picked up" in one day the broadcasting on five different continents. He got Mesopotamia in Asia, Canada in America, England in Europe, Palmerston, New Zealand, and Oran, in Africa.

When the great day comes and the four angles, as described in the Bible, lift up their voices, at the four corners of the earth, they will be heard by radio listeners on the other side of the world before they are heard by those a quarter of a mile away. That is a miracle.

HE ENJOYED KILLING

In Budapest Lieutenant Lederer, arrested for murder, confesses that he hanged 15 persons. He adds, "I always put on white gloves for the ceremony, and found my greatest pleasure in the hangings."

At that we all shudder, and wonder how any monster could actually enjoy hanging his fellow men.

And yet, not long ago English merchants, on their knees, outside parliament, begged that there might be fewer sets of gallows in their small town. The king, bishop, lord of the manor and the merchants all had their gallows and separate hangmen. The merchants protested that too many men were being hanged. But nobody was willing to give up his gallows, or the right to hang his fellows.

Now a fine estate for sale with gallows and the right to hang men on it would not attract buyers. Refined families would avoid it.

Wheat went above two dollars a bushel in Chicago on Tuesday. Gentlemen recently selling short are now thinking hard.

Early in the Coolidge campaign, when wheat was below $1.20, this column predicted that the price would rise steadily above $1.50, and to help to elect Coolidge. That happened, with a big margin to spare, in votes and in the price of wheat.

Wall street was not quite so cheerful yesterday. There was nothing much the matter. But money for gambling went up to 3½ per cent, and brokers had to have a reason.

Some of them settled on Secretary Hughes' resignation. Any explanation is better than none, although why Mr. Hughes' departure should make stocks less valuable, the ordinary lamb does not know.

There may be some bad news coming out, something not yet discounted.

It is proposed to create an "airport" for New York by roofing over the yards of the Pennsylvania roalroad. Temporary landing and leaving places for flyers might thus be provided in many cities. That ought to be done. Automobile roads, without grade crossings, could also easily be provided, making a roadway above railroad tracks running out through city suburbs. Railroads should be properly compensated, of course.

Makeshift airports will soon be outgrown, however. Before you die in every big city the week-end will see thousands of flying "club cars" each with its load of passengers, flying off to mountains, or seaside, in summer, to Florida, California, etc., in winter.

In 10 years Florida will be as near New York as Atlantic City is now.

WHO'S WHO

MAJOR GENERAL CHARLES P. SUMMERALL.

Major General Charles P. Summerall, who will succeed Major General Robert L. Bullard on January 16 in command of the second corp area, during the World war commanded successfully the First Field artillery brigade, first division and fifth, ninth and fourth army corps of the American expeditionary forces.

The new commander at Governor's Island is one of the general officers recommended by General Pershing in his final reports as chief of staff for promotion to the permanent rank of lieutenant general. General Bullard, who held the higher rank before the armistice and for some time thereafter, is another.

General Summerall was born in Lake City, Fla., and appointed to the military academy from that state in 1888. He was a colonel of artillery when the United States entered the World war. In addition to active participation in the hostilities in France as brigade, division and corps commander, General Summerall represented the United States on the inter-allied mission appointed by the supreme war council.

Upon his return to the United States General Summerall commanded the First division at Camp Taylor, Kentucky, and at Camp Dix, New Jersey. On August 5, 1921, he was assigned to command the Hawaiian department. On October 12, 1924, he was detailed to command the Eighth corps area, headquarters at San Antonio, Tex., from which post he will go to Governor's Island next month.

General Summerall will be succeeded at San Antonio by Major General Ernest Hinds, now in command of the First division.

DONAHEY O. K.'S FISH HATCHERY

Governor Promises to Support Guilford Dam Bill.

Governor Donahey will support legislation designating the Guilford dam site as a state fish hatchery, if such a bill is enacted by the state legislature, delegates from the Columbiana County Fish and Game Protective Association, who attended the annual meeting of the League of Ohio Sportsmen at Columbus, Wednesday, were told, they said today.

President John L. King, of Salem, and attorney Frank Grosshans, of East Liverpool conferred with Governor Donahey at the executive mansion, when the proposed hatchery was discussed. The governor expressed his interest in the plan and pledged his signature to the bill if it is enacted.

The two sportsmen also conferred with State Senator Harry M. Carpenter of Steubenville and State Representative Ralph Emmons of East Rochester. Both legislators promised to use their influence to have the bill approved at the present session of the legislature.

The Guilford dam proposal has hung fire for several years. As both the legislature and the governor now seem friendly toward the project, it is likely that the legislation will be enacted.

Both Mr. King and Attorney Grosshans attended a banquet of the League Wednesday night. Senator Carpenter and Representative Emmons were their guests. Mr. Grosshans was appointed a member of the legislative committee of the league.

Jazz-Crazed

The youthful figure in California's most unusual matricide will not hang, although her brother expressed the wish that she might. The state law prevents the extreme penalty being imposed on persons aged under 18. But the state will likely demand life imprisonment for Dorothy. This was indicated when jurisdiction over the case was retained by the superior court instead of the juvenile authorities.

District Attorney Brady interviewed the girl and said he was at a loss to know just what to do.

"It is the first case of the kind on record in this state that I know of. Her youth and the circumstances surrounding the killing are all unusual," he said.

The girl's arraignment set her police court hearing for Thursday, January 22. A perfunctory coroner's inquest will be held tomorrow.

Round-up of "Shieks."

Authorities early today had not decided whether the girl would be present, but it was expected she would. Her brother was to testify concerning the finding of his mother's body and another dramatic meeting between the estranged sister and brother was in prospect.

Police today continued their "sheik" roundup. Warrants were issued for 17 young men as a result of the girl's story and three of them had been arrested early today.

"They are just as guilty of this as I," she snapped when told that her erstwhile associates in "jazz land" were to be arrested.

"They started me and kept me going on the way to this."

She had a good word for only one of the seventeen. It was for Keith Lord, popular young banjoist, now in Los Angeles.

"Keith was a gentleman—different from the others," she said.

Lord, Dave Stein and Harry Chinitz were the three under arrest today. They were charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor and later the charge against Chinitz was changed to a statutory offense.

As a precaution against possible suicide, Policewoman Sullivan spent the night in the girl's cell.

"Bright Lights, Liquor" Creed.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 16.—"Bright lights and plenty of liquor."

That was the creed of Dorothy Ellingson, 16-year-old girl killer, according to Keith Lord, cafe banjo player, formerly of San Francisco, who today told what he knew of the girl known here as Dorothy Rousse.

"That seemed to be her ambition—life and booze," said Lord.

Lord appeared anything but excited when the news of the girl's confession was given to him.

"She told them she did the shooting, did she," he said. "Well, it's too bad. I knew her in 'Frisco and knew that she was nutty about wild parties and night life with lots of liquor, but I never thought she was the kind to do any shooting."

That's how Lord summed it up. He was cleaning a valuable banjo when he told all he knew about the girl and did not stop for a minute unless it was to emphasize a remark.

Said Mother Was Dead

"I met her when I was working at the New Shanghai cafe just on the border of Chinatown," Lord continued, "and was introduced to her by Harry Chinitz, another musician. She told me she was 19 and she looked the part. Sophistication was written all over her. We went out to places several times, she and I, and I learned very soon her idea of life was the "bright lights" and plenty of liquor. That seemed to be her ambition—life and booze.

"She told me her mother was dead and that she lived with friends by the name of Ellingson.

"Yes, it is true that the police found a letter from me in which I offered to send her money for her fare to Los Angeles and I wrote it because she wrote first and said she was going to leave San Francisco and come here. As far as any love affair is concerned there's nothing to that. In fact, we weren't even good friends. I knew her, thats all."

Shocking Case, Says Welfare Worker.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—"The Dorothy Ellingson case is the worst I ever heard of—More shocking by far than any of the 30,000 I have handled."

That was the comment today of Miss Stella A. Miner, director of the Girls' Security League of America and nationally known welfare worker, on the confession of Dorothy Ellinger, 16, of San Francisco, that she killed her mother to clear the way for her dance down the trail of jazz.

Miss Miner, who has come into contact with girls from every walk of life during her 17 years' experience in welfare work, characterized the shooting as the act of a "feeble minded, diseased moron."

"I have studied girls who were thieves, moral degenerates and criminals of the lowest type," she said. "But this case is beyond my comprehension."

"The girl evidently was carried away by her primitive instincts—her desires were those of a girl of 16, but her mind was that of a six-year-old. Probably she would have shot her mother when prevented from carrying out any intense desire."

Society is Blamed

Miss Miner said she saw no similarity between the tragedy and the Loeb-Leopold case.

"Loeb and Leopold were over developed mentally, while this girl's mentality was underdeveloped," she said.

Asked if she believed the jazz craze was entirely responsible for the crime, Miss Miner said:

"No—society is to blame. If society did it's full share in welfare work, it would get hold of these girls before they get in trouble. We should find out and take care of their difficulties before it is too late."

"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. Girls don't become wicked all at once. Dorothy Ellingson must have been in trouble before. At the first sign that she is delinquent or feeble minded, a girl should be placed where she can not get into more serious difficulties."

Today "Black Friday" In California; Three Men go to Gallows

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 16.—This was "Black Friday" in California prisons.

Three men were to go to the gallows—two at San Quentin in a double hanging and one at Folsom. The tripple execution, the first in recent years, results from the murder of Charles Capman, Los Angeles, broker in a holdup.

John Sears and Jack Ferdinand were to hang at San Quentin and John Geregas at Folsom.

Names Dates of Eight Sales.

According to the detectives, corn whisky, mostly in pop bottles, is sold at $1.50 per half pint in the sister city.

The detectives allege they made purchases of corn whisky in eight places, evidence of which is now held by Mayor Brown.

The mayor said sales were made by the following Wellsville men:

Benny Carbisillo, third street, on December 26. William Ammon, 215 Third street, December 27. Polovia Brinzia, 309 Broadway, December 29. John Checkler, 337 Third street, December 26. Samuel Gugone, Broadway, December 26. Frank Martina, 1421 Main street, December 27. Charles Prizzia, 1230 Commerce street, December 30. L. Vacarillo, 321 Commerce street, December 30.

Leak in Raid Plans.

The private operatives charge that the plans of the proposed raids leaked out, and, as a result, whisky was found in but two of the places visited. A gallon jug was found at the home of Polovia Brinzia, 309 Broadway, while a warm pop bottle of whisky was confiscated at the home of L. Vaccarillo.

The sales charges against the offenders were dropped when the prisoners agreed to enter pleas of guilty to charges of possession Mayor Brown asserts.

According to the Steubenville detectives, their investigation in Wellsville started after Prohibition Commissioner McDonald had received a complaint from Wellsville citizens relative to alleged laxity in dry enforcement there. The prohibition department sent two of its representatives into Wellsville to investigate the complaints.

The two agents, accompanied by Chief of Police Fultz, of Wellsville, were taken to suspected places but no liquor was found. The chief said, according to the detectives, that Wellsville police had made a raid a few days previously.

Mayor Defends Detectives.

When complaints continued to pour in, representatives of the detective bureau went to Columbus and conferred with Commissioner McDonald. They were authorized to go into Wellsville, obtain evidence on violators and file charges in Mayor Brown's court. C. E. Harris, head of the agency, telephoned to the mayor upon his return to Steubenville to obtain his consent to handle the cases. This the mayor agreed to do, at the request of the state prohibition commissioner.

After a few days' investigation Harris again went to Columbus and submitted his evidence to McDonald, who instructed that he make the arrests, officials said. Last Saturday's raids followed.

Mayor Brown, in defending the detectives, asserted that no arrests were made where only a small amount of wine was found. Only in cases where six, seven and ten barrels were discovered were charges filed as the detectives were convinced that this amount was far more than was needed for the ordinary family.

Police and Detectives

Ambrose Hancock, secretary of the club, appeared before Mayor Brown last night and entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of illegally possessing liquor. His hearing was set for next Wednesday.

Collect Liquor-Soaked Earth.

Waiting their opportunity for some one to leave the building, the raiding party got by the outside door at the Turners' hall, they said. They forced their way through the second door and started to cut their way through the third door with an axe, when it was opened, they reported. The officers found no liquor but located a quart bottle upside down draining through a hole in the floor. One of the officers cut a hole in the floor and collected earth where the bottle had been drained. This was taken to the city hall as evidence.

Leonard Copeland, who is alleged to have opened the third door to the raiders after they had started to cut through, was arrested, charged with possessing liquor. He entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned before Mayor Brown last night and was released under $1,500 bond for a hearing next Wednesday.

Detective Criticizes Fultz.

The Steubenville detectives left here today for Steubenville, asserting their work here completed for the time being, at least. They will return next Wednesday when the hearings against the Turners' and Eagles' Clubs are to be held.

Harry Webster, a member of the detective agency today criticized the raids which were being made in East Liverpool by Wellsville police.

"It's a case of sour grapes only", he declared. "We have tried to play a square game with Chief Fultz, but if he wants to play dirty we will meet him with the same kind of tactics. I have a card up my sleeve, which I don't care to show just yet, but which I am sure will put Fultz out of business."

The Steubenville force shifted the scene of their operations to rondale, Jefferson county, Wednesday, arresting three men, all foreigners, charging them with liquor violations.

The trio were taken before Mayor W. G. Parkes of Smithfield, where one of them, charged with illegal possession, was fined $400 and costs. The other two, upon whom detectives assert they had sales, entered pleas of not guilty. They were released on bond pending a hearing next Monday.

In a signed statement, obtained by the Smithfield mayor, one of the offenders claimed he had purchased his liquor in Wellsville, the detectives said. He refused to divulge the name of the party who sold him the liquor, however.

Operative Webster today declared that his assistants and police in their raids in Wellsville, Saturday, had found approximately 4,000 gallons of liquor, mostly wine. The owners were ordered to destroy it, after pleading guilty to the possession charges. Webster said he would make a check-up within a few days to determine whether or not the mayor's orders had been carried out. If they have not new charges will be preferred against the owners.

Fifth Birthday Of Prohibition; Friends, Foes Talk

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16—Federal prohibition is five years old today.

Congress is preparing a birthday gift to commemorate the event in the shape of an amendment to the Volstead law making it mandatory on judges to impose jail sentences as well as fines on those who are convicted of violating it. The amendment was approved by the house judiciary committee and soon will be up for passage.

The natal day of prohibition would have passed unnoticed in the capital had it not been for the usual statements concerning its effects, published by its friends and its enemies.

Wayne B. Wheeler, generalissimo of the anti-saloon league, said prohibition is a great success and predicted that in another five years people will think it strange that they ever patronized bootleggers.

Captain W. H. Stayton president of the association against the prohibition amendment, said the Volstead law was a flat failure and predicted that it won't be long before national sentiment compels a modification of the law.

Wellsville Raiders

therein. In one place, Zazerrella's, in Commerce street near Thirteenth, we found almost four and one-half barrels of wine. This man's place was among those visited by the dry detectives last Saturday. Another instance of the same kind can be pointed out at John Dissaro's, where we found nine barrels of wine left by the Saturday raiders. We dumped the whole lot. We don't believe in this method of cleaning up."

"And we're going to dump every drop we can find.

"We're going to clean up Wellsville as well as other places, if we've got to work night and day to do it."

Practically the entire Wellsville police force and Mayor James S. Barnes made up the raiding party that made the rounds of the city last night.

The raids will continue, Chief Fultz announced today.

Eight Men Jailed After Two are Shot In Mining Town

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Jan. 16.—Eight union miners and five non-union miners were placed in the county jail here today and other arrests are expected this afternoon in connection with the shooting to death of Walter Tobin, a non-union miner and the probable fatal wounding of John Kello, a union miner in a free-for-all fight at Granttown, a mining settlement near here last night.

Sheriff J. C. Riggins is maintaining several extra deputies on guard at various points in the county to prevent another outbreak.

CLUTTER CHARGED WITH LARCENY

Arthur Clutter, 19, of near the Oak Grove Campground, is in the county jail in default of a $600 bond, as the result of charges of grand larceny, which have been preferred against him by H. C. Timmons, a neighbor.

Clutter was arrested yesterday by Chief of Police John Fultz of Wellsville, after Timmons filed charges of grand larceny against him before Justice P. V. Mackall. Timmons says that during the absence of his family from their home last November 18, Clutter entered their house and stole approximately $200 worth of clothing, groceries and jewelry.

The young man pleaded guilty to the charge and was held for action by the grand jury. He was unable to furnish bond.

London Fog-Bound.

LONDON, Jan. 16.—London and its environs again were fog-bound today.

Direct parcel-post service for unregistered packages was recently inaugurated between the United States and Indio-China.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Selling pressure continued in the stock market in the early trading today. Most of the industrial leaders recovered at the opening but were unable to withstand the heavy volume of selling which broke out over the market in the first period and prices were again inclined downward.

Stocks and bonds of the St. Paul road were uniformly weak, as a result of the official statement of President Harry E. Byram admitting failure of the road to cover 1924 operating expenses and announcing that bankers for the road required an independent report of its physical and financial condition in order to evolve a plea for refunding the 1925 maturity of $48,000,000 for four per cent bonds. The bonds dropped from 2 to 4 points and the preferred stocks was down 2 points in confused selling.

DONAHEY O. K.'S FISH HATCHERY

Governor Promises to Support Guilford Dam Bill.

Governor Donahey will support legislation designating the Guilford dam site as a state fish hatchery, if such a bill is enacted by the state legislature, delegates from the Columbiana County Fish and Game Protective Association, who attended the annual meeting of the League of Ohio Sportsmen at Columbus, Wednesday, were told, they said today.

President John L. King, of Salem, and attorney Frank Grosshans, of East Liverpool conferred with Governor Donahey at the executive mansion, when the proposed hatchery was discussed. The governor expressed his interest in the plan and pledged his signature to the bill if it is enacted.

The two sportsmen also conferred with State Senator Harry M. Carpenter of Steubenville and State Representative Ralph Emmons of East Rochester. Both legislators promised to use their influence to have the bill approved at the present session of the legislature.

The Guilford dam proposal has hung fire for several years. As both the legislature and the governor now seem friendly toward the project, it is likely that the legislation will be enacted.

Both Mr. King and Attorney Grosshans attended a banquet of the League Wednesday night. Senator Carpenter and Representative Emmons were their guests. Mr. Grosshans was appointed a member of the legislative committee of the league.

The youthful figure in California's most unusual matricide will not hang, although her brother expressed the wish that she might. The state law prevents the extreme penalty being imposed on persons aged under 18. But the state will likely demand life imprisonment for Dorothy. This was indicated when jurisdiction over the case was retained by the superior court instead of the juvenile authorities.

District Attorney Brady interviewed the girl and said he was at a loss to know just what to do.

"It is the first case of the kind on record in this state that I know of. Her youth and the circumstances surrounding the killing are all unusual," he said.

The girl's arraignment set her police court hearing for Thursday, January 22. A perfunctory coroner's inquest will be held tomorrow.

Round-up of "Shieks."

Authorities early today had not decided whether the girl would be present, but it was expected she would. Her brother was to testify concerning the finding of his mother's body and another dramatic meeting between the estranged sister and brother was in prospect.

Police today continued their "sheik" roundup. Warrants were issued for 17 young men as a result of the girl's story and three of them had been arrested early today.

"They are just as guilty of this as I," she snapped when told that her erstwhile associates in "jazz land" were to be arrested.

"They started me and kept me going on the way to this."

She had a good word for only one of the seventeen. It was for Keith Lord, popular young banjoist, now in Los Angeles.

"Keith was a gentleman—different from the others," she said.

Lord, Dave Stein and Harry Chinitz were the three under arrest today. They were charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor and later the charge against Chinitz was changed to a statutory offense.

As a precaution against possible suicide, Policewoman Sullivan spent the night in the girl's cell.

"Bright Lights, Liquor" Creed.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 16.—"Bright lights and plenty of liquor."

That was the creed of Dorothy Ellingson, 16-year-old girl killer, according to Keith Lord, cafe banjo player, formerly of San Francisco, who today told what he knew of the girl known here as Dorothy Rousse.

"That seemed to be her ambition—life and booze," said Lord.

Lord appeared anything but excited when the news of the girl's confession was given to him.

"She told them she did the shooting, did she," he said. "Well, it's too bad. I knew her in 'Frisco and knew that she was nutty about wild parties and night life with lots of liquor, but I never thought she was the kind to do any shooting."

That's how Lord summed it up. He was cleaning a valuable banjo when he told all he knew about the girl and did not stop for a minute unless it was to emphasize a remark.

Said Mother Was Dead

"I met her when I was working at the New Shanghai cafe just on the border of Chinatown," Lord continued, "and was introduced to her by Harry Chinitz, another musician. She told me she was 19 and she looked the part. Sophistication was written all over her. We went out to places several times, she and I, and I learned very soon her idea of life was the "bright lights" and plenty of liquor. That seemed to be her ambition—life and booze.

"She told me her mother was dead and that she lived with friends by the name of Ellingson.

"Yes, it is true that the police found a letter from me in which I offered to send her money for her fare to Los Angeles and I wrote it because she wrote first and said she was going to leave San Francisco and come here. As far as any love affair is concerned there's nothing to that. In fact, we weren't even good friends. I knew her, thats all."

Shocking Case, Says Welfare Worker.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—"The Dorothy Ellingson case is the worst I ever heard of—More shocking by far than any of the 30,000 I have handled."

That was the comment today of Miss Stella A. Miner, director of the Girls' Security League of America and nationally known welfare worker, on the confession of Dorothy Ellinger, 16, of San Francisco, that she killed her mother to clear the way for her dance down the trail of jazz.

Miss Miner, who has come into contact with girls from every walk of life during her 17 years' experience in welfare work, characterized the shooting as the act of a "feeble minded, diseased moron."

"I have studied girls who were thieves, moral degenerates and criminals of the lowest type," she said. "But this case is beyond my comprehension."

"The girl evidently was carried away by her primitive instincts—her desires were those of a girl of 16, but her mind was that of a six-year-old. Probably she would have shot her mother when prevented from carrying out any intense desire."

Society is Blamed

Miss Miner said she saw no similarity between the tragedy and the Loeb-Leopold case.

"Loeb and Leopold were over developed mentally, while this girl's mentality was underdeveloped," she said.

Asked if she believed the jazz craze was entirely responsible for the crime, Miss Miner said:

"No—society is to blame. If society did it's full share in welfare work, it would get hold of these girls before they get in trouble. We should find out and take care of their difficulties before it is too late."

"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. Girls don't become wicked all at once. Dorothy Ellingson must have been in trouble before. At the first sign that she is delinquent or feeble minded, a girl should be placed where she can not get into more serious difficulties."

State Ordered

Names Dates of Eight Sales.

According to the detectives, corn whisky, mostly in pop bottles, is sold at $1.50 per half pint in the sister city.

The detectives allege they made purchases of corn whisky in eight places, evidence of which is now held by Mayor Brown.

The mayor said sales were made by the following Wellsville men:

Benny Carbisillo, third street, on December 26. William Ammon, 215 Third street, December 27. Polovia Brinzia, 309 Broadway, December 29. John Checkler, 337 Third street, December 26. Samuel Gugone, Broadway, December 26. Frank Martina, 1421 Main street, December 27. Charles Prizzia, 1230 Commerce street, December 30. L. Vacarillo, 321 Commerce street, December 30.

Leak In Raid Plans.

The private operatives charge that the plans of the proposed raids leaked out, and, as a result, whisky was found in but two of the places visited. A gallon jug was found at the home of Polovia Brinzia, 309 Broadway, while a warm pop bottle of whisky was confiscated at the home of L. Vaccarillo.

The sales charges against the offenders were dropped when the prisoners agreed to enter pleas of guilty to charges of possession Mayor Brown asserts.

According to the Steubenville detectives, their investigation in Wellsville started after Prohibition Commissioner McDonald had received a complaint from Wellsville citizens relative to alleged laxity in dry enforcement there. The prohibition department sent two of its representatives into Wellsville to investigate the complaints.

The two agents, accompanied by Chief of Police Fultz, of Wellsville, were taken to suspected places but no liquor was found. The chief said, according to the detectives, that Wellsville police had made a raid a few days previously.

Mayor Defends Detectives.

When complaints continued to pour in, representatives of the detective bureau went to Columbus and conferred with Commissioner McDonald. They were authorized to go into Wellsville, obtain evidence on violators and file charges in Mayor Brown's court. C. E. Harris, head of the agency, telephoned to the mayor upon his return to Steubenville to obtain his consent to handle the cases. This the mayor agreed to do, at the request of the state prohibition commissioner.

After a few days' investigation Harris again went to Columbus and submitted his evidence to McDonald, who instructed that he make the arrests, officials said. Last Saturday's raids followed.

Mayor Brown, in defending the detectives, asserted that no arrests were made where only a small amount of wine was found. Only in cases where six, seven and ten barrels were discovered were charges filed as the detectives were convinced that this amount was far more than was needed for the ordinary family.

Police and Detectives

Ambrose Hancock, secretary of the club, appeared before Mayor Brown last night and entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of illegally possessing liquor. His hearing was set for next Wednesday.

Collect Liquor-Soaked Earth.

Waiting their opportunity for some one to leave the building, the raiding party got by the outside door at the Turners' hall, they said. They forced their way through the second door and started to cut their way through the third door with an axe, when it was opened, they reported. The officers found no liquor but located a quart bottle upside down draining through a hole in the floor. One of the officers cut a hole in the floor and collected earth where the bottle had been drained. This was taken to the city hall as evidence.

Leonard Copeland, who is alleged to have opened the third door to the raiders after they had started to cut through, was arrested, charged with possessing liquor. He entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned before Mayor Brown last night and was released under $1,500 bond for a hearing next Wednesday.

Detective Criticizes Fultz.

The Steubenville detectives left here today for Steubenville, asserting their work here completed for the time being, at least. They will return next Wednesday when the hearings against the Turners' and Eagles' Clubs are to be held.

Harry Webster, a member of the detective agency today criticized the raids which were being made in East Liverpool by Wellsville police.

"It's a case of sour grapes only", he declared. "We have tried to play a square game with Chief Fultz, but if he wants to play dirty we will meet him with the same kind of tactics. I have a card up my sleeve, which I don't care to show just yet, but which I am sure will put Fultz out of business."

The Steubenville force shifted the scene of their operations to rondale, Jefferson county, Wednesday, arresting three men, all foreigners, charging them with liquor violations.

The trio were taken before Mayor W. G. Parkes of Smithfield, where one of them, charged with illegal possession, was fined $400 and costs. The other two, upon whom detectives assert they had sales, entered pleas of not guilty. They were released on bond pending a hearing next Monday.

In a signed statement, obtained by the Smithfield mayor, one of the offenders claimed he had purchased his liquor in Wellsville, the detectives said. He refused to divulge the name of the party who sold him the liquor, however.

Operative Webster today declared that his assistants and police in their raids in Wellsville, Saturday, had found approximately 4,000 gallons of liquor, mostly wine. The owners were ordered to destroy it, after pleading guilty to the possession charges. Webster said he would make a check-up within a few days to determine whether or not the mayor's orders had been carried out. If they have not new charges will be preferred against the owners.

Fifth Birthday Of Prohibition; Friends, Foes Talk

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16—Federal prohibition is five years old today.

Congress is preparing a birthday gift to commemorate the event in the shape of an amendment to the Volstead law making it mandatory on judges to impose jail sentences as well as fines on those who are convicted of violating it. The amendment was approved by the house judiciary committee and soon will be up for passage.

The natal day of prohibition would have passed unnoticed in the capital had it not been for the usual statements concerning its effects, published by its friends and its enemies.

Wayne B. Wheeler, generalissimo of the anti-saloon league, said prohibition is a great success and predicted that in another five years people will think it strange that they ever patronized bootleggers.

Captain W. H. Stayton president of the association against the prohibition amendment, said the Volstead law was a flat failure and predicted that it won't be long before national sentiment compels a modification of the law.

Wellsville Raiders

therein. In one place, Zazerrella's, in Commerce street near Thirteenth, we found almost four and one-half barrels of wine. This man's place was among those visited by the dry detectives last Saturday. Another instance of the same kind can be pointed out at John Dissaro's, where we found nine barrels of wine left by the Saturday raiders. We dumped the whole lot. We don't believe in this method of cleaning up."

"And we're going to dump every drop we can find.

"We're going to clean up Wellsville as well as other places, if we've got to work night and day to do it."

Practically the entire Wellsville police force and Mayor James S. Barnes made up the raiding party that made the rounds of the city last night.

The raids will continue, Chief Fultz announced today.

Eight Men Jailed After Two are Shot In Mining Town

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Jan. 16.—Eight union miners and five non-union miners were placed in the county jail here today and other arrests are expected this afternoon in connection with the shooting to death of Walter Tobin, a non-union miner and the probable fatal wounding of John Kello, a union miner in a free-for-all fight at Granttown, a mining settlement near here last night.

Sheriff J. C. Riggins is maintaining several extra deputies on guard at various points in the county to prevent another outbreak.

CLUTTER CHARGED WITH LARCENY

Arthur Clutter, 19, of near the Oak Grove Campground, is in the county jail in default of a $600 bond, as the result of charges of grand larceny, which have been preferred against him by B. C. Timmons, a neighbor.

Clutter was arrested yesterday by Chief of Police John Fultz of Wellsville, after Timmons filed charges of grand larceny against him before Justice P. V. Mackall. Timmons says that during the absence of his family from their home last November 18, Clutter entered their house and stole approximately $200 worth of clothing, groceries and jewelry.

The young man pleaded guilty to the charge and was held for action by the grand jury. He was unable to furnish bond.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Selling pressure continued in the stock market in the early trading today. Most of the industrial leaders recovered at the opening but were unable to withstand the heavy volume of selling which broke out over the market in the first period and prices were again inclined downward.

Stocks and bonds of the St. Paul road were uniformly weak, as a result of the official statement of President Harry E. Byram admitting failure of the road to cover 1924 operating expenses and announcing that bankers for the road required an independent report of its physical and financial condition in order to evolve a plea for refunding the 1925 maturity of $48,000,000 for four per cent bonds. The bonds dropped from 2 to 4 points and the preferred stocks was down 2 points in confused selling.

'Why Christ Must Die,' Topic of Evangelist J. W. Lockhart

Baptismal Services Follow Revival Meeting in Church of Christ Thursday Evening.

Revival services at the First Church of Christ, under the direction of Evangelist J. W. Lockhart of Des Moines, Iowa, continue with successful results. Last night, the evangelist spoke on the theme "Why Christ Must Die."

Baptismal services were held at the conclusion of the preaching services. At the Thursday evening service, Prof. Harbinson sang "My Savior Died For Me," Music was also rendered by the chorus choir.

Yesterday, Dr. Lockhart and Prof. Harbinson conducted a meeting in the Edwin M. Knowles pottery, Newell, and today they were to address students at the Ohio Valley Business College. An effort is being made to have 1,000 persons attend Bible school next Sunday. A meeting for women and girls only will be held Sunday afternoon. The sermon subject for this service is "Sweetheart, Wife, Mother."

Tonight the evangelist will discuss "Why I Am a Christian." In his sermon, last night, he said:

"This is a question that lies along the border land of the Infinite which we may never be able to fully understand, but a long while ago I decided to understand all I could and then accept the rest on faith. I can see how Jesus had to die to show God hates sin with an infite hatred. It shows the extremity to which sin will drive men.

"It was sin that falsely accused the Lord, it was sin that had betrayed him, it was sin that spurned him, spat upon him, placed the crown of thorns upon his head, rent his garments and then laid the rude Roman cross upon his weakened body, it was sin that drove the nails through his quivering flesh and then raised him between the heavens and the earth, and scoffed at him because he did not use his powers to come down from the cross.

"Jesus must die to show God's love for the world. Love's strength standeth in love's sacrifice. We can measure our love for another by the willingness we have to sacrifice for them.

Then Jesus must die in order that he might rise again from the grave. Had he not died there would have been no resurrection morning, no demonstration that there is life beyond the Grave. And Oh, what a saving power to this old world to have this certain hope of life immortal. I go up and down the world and everywhere I find death and mourning and what a comforting message I can bring in Jesus name as he bids me say, 'Because I live ye shall live also. He that believeth in me though he were dead yet shall he live.' "

Half the world is half asleep

Can success in life be undermined by constipation? Indeed it can. The poisons of this disease tire you out, wear you down, make you listless and make you lose interest in things in general. Ambition is most often prompted by a thoroughly healthy body. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brings permanent relief from constipation.

He didn't have the energy to fight

LOST . . . another big order . . . the fourth defeat that day. All because he didn't have the energy to fight when his prospect said "No." Something had blunted his senses and stolen his strength.

That "something" was constipation. What a shame so many people suffer from constipation when there is an easy, pleasant, sure way to permanent relief—the regular use of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—two tablespoonfuls daily, or in chronic cases, with every meal.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is what doctors call a bulk food. As it travels through the system, its fiber remains unchanged. Therefore, it sweeps the intestine clean and drives out the vicious poisons of constipation. ALL-BRAN also absorbs and carries moisture through the intestinal tract, stimulating it to healthy, normal action. ALL-BRAN works as nature works.

Serve Kellogg's ALL-BRAN with milk or cream, sprinkled over cereals, or cooked with cereals; in soups, or made into the many recipes given on the package. Delicious with fruits too. If eaten regularly, it is guaranteed to bring permanent relief or your grocer returns the purchase price.

Caution! Be sure to get Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Only ALL-BRAN brings sure results. Kellogg's is the original and only ALL-BRAN. All grocers sell it. Leading restaurants serve it. Buy a package today.

RULINGS GIVEN BY JUDGE MOORE

Decisions Handed Down On Motions Presented to Court.

When the case of Dell M. Walker, of Salem, against Ferman A. Rinehart, as director of public service of Salem, was before Judge James G. Moore on a motion, the court refused to make additional parties defendant, as the court had been requested. This motion was overruled by the court. It had been proposed to have the other certain public interests of Salem brought into the case, but the court could not see its way clear to allow this motion.

In the case of John Byder and others against William E. Burson, which is for a specific performance of contract to compel conveyance of land under contract, the defense has been granted leave to answer until February 7.

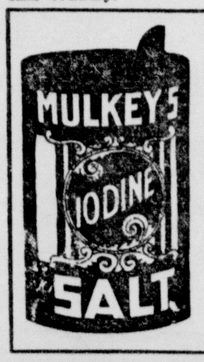
495 School Children Develop Goiter Lack of Iodine Causes Thyroid Trouble

In Akron, Ohio, a health survey, especially with regard to goiter, was made among school children, with very interesting results. With the consent of parents and school authorities, goiter was searched for in a large number of pupils. Iodine was then properly administered to these pupils whose parents had consented. Out of 2,190 children who took the iodine, there developed but five slight enlargements of the thyroid gland. Out of 2,305 not taking iodine, 495 developed goiter. The investigations and demonstrations were made by Dr. David Marine and Dr. O. P. Kimball, two of the most famous goiter specialists in this country.

Health officials in many states urge every family to use table salt containing iodine as a preventive of simple goiter. If the deficiency of iodine in our food were corrected at an earlier period, goiter would almost never develop. Just as the body needs lime for its bony structure and iron for its blood, so it must have iodine in small quantities for its glands. The thyroid gland may be called the iodine storage reservoir of the body. This gland must be constantly supplied with iodine in order to take its part in controlling the growth of the body and the development of the mind and nervous system.



GROCERS

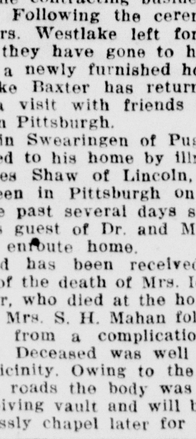
495 School Children Develop Goiter Lack of Iodine Causes Thyroid Trouble

In Akron, Ohio, a health survey, especially with regard to goiter, was made among school children, with very interesting results. With the consent of parents and school authorities, goiter was searched for in a large number of pupils. Iodine was then properly administered to these pupils whose parents had consented. Out of 2,190 children who took the iodine, there developed but five slight enlargements of the thyroid gland. Out of 2,305 not taking iodine, 495 developed goiter. The investigations and demonstrations were made by Dr. David Marine and Dr. O. P. Kimball, two of the most famous goiter specialists in this country.

Health officials in many states urge every family to use table salt containing iodine as a preventive of simple goiter. If the deficiency of iodine in our food were corrected at an earlier period, goiter would almost never develop. Just as the body needs lime for its bony structure and iron for its blood, so it must have iodine in small quantities for its glands. The thyroid gland may be called the iodine storage reservoir of the body. This gland must be constantly supplied with iodine in order to take its part in controlling the growth of the body and the development of the mind and nervous system.



GROCERS

MULKEY'S IODINE SALT is put up in 2-lb. round cartons with pouring spout. Same taste and color as regular high grade salt and gives exactly the same flavor to food on which it is used. The name MULKEY'S on label is assurance that you are getting the original iodine salt distributed through the grocery trade for Goiter prevention.

MILL WORKER BURNED BY OIL

Thos. Edmondson Taken to Allegheny Hospital.

Thomas Edmondson, of this city, employe of the American Sheet & Tin Plate plant here, was taken shortly before noon today to the Allegheny General hospital, Pittsburgh, as a result of burns he received while at work in the mill.

Edmondson was splashed by hot oil, thrown from a can which was accidentally knocked off a stove at the mill. The accident occurred so quickly that Edmondson was unable to get out of the way.

He received burns about his legs, hands and face. Dr. J. S. McCulloch, after a preliminary examination, asserted the man's injuries would probably not be serious.

Edmondson was removed from the mill to the Third street station here in the MacLean ambulance, and placed aboard a Pittsburgh train.

'SIN UNCOVERED' SERMON TOPIC

"Sin Uncovered" will be the subject of a special sermon tonight in the First Evangelical church, by Miss Anna McGhie, Akron evangelist, in charge of revivals here. Tonight will be known as "high school night" at the church.

Last night Miss McGhie discussed the topic, "Signs of the Times."

She said, in part:

"This second lesson is not ancient history. It could have been written this morning and yet be applicable to present conditions. The Bible is the only book that reveals the past, present, future. Most of the people are interested in the study of Jews and how God is dealing with them, but we should be even more interested in studying the Gentile nation and how God is dealing with us.

"God gave the gentile church a great world program. Two thousand years ago Jesus said, 'go into the world and preach my gospel.' But we have not traveled very far since there are only 600,000,000 that have not heard the name of Jesus yet. We have failed God. Men are lovers of pleasure more than lovers of God. Because of this Henry Ford has become the richest man in the world in the past few years. The people of Ohio are spending more money each year on fancy dogs than all the combined churches are giving to missions.

The prophet Nahum tells us that in the days of His preparation, men would run to and fro over the face of the earth. It is only on the past 100 years that we have the invention of the steam engine, the railroad train, the steam ship, automobile and airplane. "The chariot shall race in the street, they shall jostle one aganist another in the broad ways, they shall seem like horses and run like lightning.' Go out on one of our highways and you shall see automobiles racing and running like lightning.

"Satan has his agents of darkness classified and there are those which operate in the social realm and on the marriage relation. One marriage in every 10 ends in divorce. There are those which operate on the commercial world. Satan is working men seven days in the week which is not God's plan. There are evil spirits which operate in the religious world. There was never so much religion and so little salvation as there is now.

"People had a form of godliness but without the power thereof. It is almost impossible to get church members to pray or testify. Their lips are sealed if asked to speak for God but they can talk about everything else. The devil is capturing souls and getting them under his control by the most innocent seeming devices. The ouji board, fortune telling, and polite forms of gambling. The greatest war, the greatest famine, the greatest pestilence, the greatest earthquake have all occurred within this decade. The return of our Lord will be the next great world event.

When Jesus comes to take his bride away, will you want to be left after all the praying people are gone and all restraint on sin is removed? God is hitting things up fast in order to get ready for the next sensation.

LADIES AID HAS CHURCH PARTY

The Ladies' Aid society of the First Presbyterian church entertained approximately 150 women of the church last night at a coverdish supper and program.

The supper arrangements were in charge of Mrs. George Fassett, Mrs. Will Haugh, Mrs. Joseph McDevitt, Mrs. Joseph Ault, Mrs. John Deitrich, Miss Luella McLean and Miss Nannie Faulkner.

Following supper, a program was given by various members of the church. The program was directed by Mrs. E. G. Whitacre, and included stunts, music, vocal and instrumental, and congregational singing.

Pink carnations were used in the decorations throughout the church and in bouquets on the tables.

ATTEND MEETING IN CERAMIC CITY

Members of the congregation of the First Methodist Episcopal church, of this city, are planning to attend the Lockhart-Harbinson revival services which will be held tonight in the First Church of Christ, East Liverpool, according to announcement by Rev. Harry Stewart, pastor.

The services in the East Liverpool church are in charge of Rev. J. W. Lockhart, of Des Moines, assisted by J. F. Harbinson, of Freeport, Ind., song leader.

Tonight will be known as "disciples night" at the services, with delegations from surrounding churches attending.

Rev. Stewart announced today that a special car will leave Wooster's stop, in the west end of the city, at 6:50 p. m. tonight, for the accommodation of the church members. The car will make stops at Eighteenth street and Clark avenue, Seventeenth street and Clark avenue, Twelfth and Main streets, Ninth and Main streets, Fifth and Main streets, Highland avenue, and Kountz avenue.

Approximately 100 local church members are expected to attend the services. The Sunday school orchestra of the Methodist Episcopal church, will accompany them.

FREEDOM TEAMS HERE TONIGHT

High school basketball squads are set for their opening home schedule contests tonight with the teams from Freedom high school. Boys' and girls' teams will clash in the high school gymnasium.

Although Zimmerman's passers played the Alumni here before the holidays, the contest took the form of a practice tilt, inasmuch as it was not included on the regular card.

The Orange and Black quintet won its opener of the season at Chester a week ago and expects to turn in another victory when they exhibit their wares before home fans for the first time this year.

The girls' game will precede the main engagement. Play will start at 7:30 o'clock. Owen Buxton will referee.

LIQUOR HEARING CARDED TODAY

J. Davis, of East Liverpool, arrested by Wellsville police Wednesday on a charge of possessing liquor in violation of prohibition statutes, is scheduled for a hearing this afternoon in the court of Mayor James S. Barnes.

Davis was placed under arrest when Wellsville police raided the Man O' War billiard parlor, Sixth street, East Liverpool, in connection with the enforcement campaign the Wellsville officers are waging in the Ceramic City. He has retained Attorney W. A. O'Grady.

It will be the first contested hearing before Mayor Barnes since the launching of the liquor offensive. Davis is out on bond of $1,000.

Lease Is Recorded.

A five-year lease, taken on the first floor of the Wellsville city hall building by Albert Morrow, has been recorded in Lisbon.

The room was that formerly occupied by the postoffice. Mr. Morrow has remodeled the interior for the establishment of his pool room and tobacco business, which he will move from his present quarters across the street.

Fined On Traffic Count.

Okie McPeak, charged with a violation of traffic ordinances, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Patrolman Newton.

McPeak is alleged to have used the wrong license plate on an automobile he was driving. He paid a fine of $32.60 following a hearing before Mayor James S. Barnes.

Rev. T. B. Shearer to Hold Services in First Christian Church.

Annual series of revival services will be launched on Sunday, February 1, in the First Christian church, according to announcement today by Rev. Thomas B. Shearer, pastor.

Rev. Shearer will conduct the services himself. Meetings will be held each evening, with the exception of Saturday. The revivals are scheduled for a period of three weeks.

In connection with the services, members of the congregation will hold a series of cottage prayer meetings, three sessions being scheduled for each week of the services. Meetings will be held on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Arrangements for the cottage prayer meets were completed last night at a meeting of the Delta Alpha Sunday school class. These meetings will be held in the afternoons at 2 o'clock.

The schedule for the three weeks follows:

Monday, Feb. 2—Mrs. A. B. Merical, Wells avenue; Mrs. Thomas B. Shearer, leader.

Wednesday, Feb. 4—Mrs. Paul Jeffries, 1010 Commerce street; Mrs. Donald Morris, leader.

Friday, Feb. 6—Mrs. Pumplum, 314 Eighteenth street; Mrs. Harry Glover, leader.

Monday, Feb. 9—Mrs. Harry Glover, Seventh street; Mrs. Frank O'Hara, leader.

Wednesday, Feb. 11—Mrs. D. McCartney, Anderson avenue; Mrs. Oliver, Beymer, leader.

Friday, Feb. 13—Mrs. Martha Mendell, 606 Fifteenth street; Mrs. Bessie Freeland, leader.

Monday, Feb. 16—Mrs. Thomas B. Shearer, 992 Main street; Mrs. Robert Newby, leader.

Wednesday, Feb. 18—Mrs. Emma Zearley, 1312 Commerce street; Mrs. Paul Eaton, leader.

Friday, Feb. 20—Mrs. Nancy Kinney, Tenth and Wood streets; Mrs. Ed Clendenning, leader.

U. P. MEN'S CLASS PLANS SUPPER

Arrangements have been completed for the Men's Bible class supper and program which will be held tonight in the First United Presbyterian church, according to announcement by Rev. R. W. Ustick, pastor.

Supper will be served promptly at 6:30 o'clock in the dining room. Men of the church as well as members of the Bible class will be invited to attend.

A special program has been planned for the evening. Beginning at 8 o'clock, the choir of the St. John's Lutheran church, of East Liverpool, will render a sacred concert. The choir is directed by C. J. Berg, of Wellsville, and includes a number of local singers. The concert will be given in the church auditorium. The public is extended an invitation.

Sunday Sermon Topics.

Rev. Harry Stewart, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, will discuss the subject, "The Race of Life", at services on Sunday morning. His evening topic will be "Obedience and Knowledge."

Bachelor's Farewell Lands Him in Court; Handed Heavy Fine

WILMINGTON, Del. Jan.—The marriage plans of Jaul V. Bateman, twenty-four, of Philadelphia, were halted temporarily by Judge Daniel O. Hastings, when he was charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated and fined $300 and costs. Bateman was unable to pay the fine and left his automobile as security.

Batemen admitted he was under the influence of liquor, but said friends in Germantown had given him a farewell dinner in view of his approaching marriage. He was met outside the courtroom by his fiancee, who refused to give her name, and the couple hurried away.

A turbine locomotive that develops 2,000 horsepower on twenty per cent saving of coal over the usual type, has been built by the Krupp works of Germany.

MILL WORKER BURNED BY OIL

Thos. Edmondson Taken to Allegheny Hospital.

Thomas Edmondson, of this city, employe of the American Sheet & Tin Plate plant here, was taken shortly before noon today to the Allegheny General hospital, Pittsburgh, as a result of burns he received while at work in the mill.

Edmondson was splashed by hot oil, thrown from a can which was accidentally knocked off a stove at the mill. The accident occurred so quickly that Edmondson was unable to get out of the way.

He received burns about his legs, hands and face. Dr. J. S. McCulloch, after a preliminary examination, asserted the man's injuries would probably not be serious.

Edmondson was removed from the mill to the Third street station here in the MacLean ambulance, and placed aboard a Pittsburgh train.

'SIN UNCOVERED' SERMON TOPIC

"Sin Uncovered" will be the subject of a special sermon tonight in the First Evangelical church, by Miss Anna McGhie, Akron evangelist, in charge of revivals here. Tonight will be known as "high school night" at the church.

Last night Miss McGhie discussed the topic, "Signs of the Times."

She said, in part:

"This second lesson is not ancient history. It could have been written this morning and yet be applicable to present conditions. The Bible is the only book that reveals the past, present, future. Most of the people are interested in the study of Jews and how God is dealing with them, but we should be even more interested in studying the Gentile nation and how God is dealing with us.

"God gave the gentile church a great world program. Two thousand years ago Jesus said, 'go into the world and preach my gospel.' But we have not traveled very far since there are only 600,000,000 that have not heard the name of Jesus yet. We have failed God. Men are lovers of pleasure more than lovers of God. Because of this Henry Ford has become the richest man in the world in the past few years. The people of Ohio are spending more money each year on fancy dogs than all the combined churches are giving to missions.

The prophet Nahum tells us that in the days of His preparation, men would run to and fro over the face of the earth. It is only on the past 100 years that we have the invention of the steam engine, the railroad train, the steam ship, automobile and airplane. "The chariot shall race in the street, they shall jostle one aganist another in the broad ways, they shall seem like horses and run like lightning.' Go out on one of our highways and you shall see automobiles racing and running like lightning.

"Satan has his agents of darkness classified and there are those which operate in the social realm and on the marriage relation. One marriage in every 10 ends in divorce. There are those which operate on the commercial world. Satan is working men seven days in the week which is not God's plan. There are evil spirits which operate in the religious world. There was never so much religion and so little salvation as there is now.

"People had a form of godliness but without the power thereof. It is almost impossible to get church members to pray or testify. Their lips are sealed if asked to speak for God but they can talk about everything else. The devil is capturing souls and getting them under his control by the most innocent seeming devices. The ouji board, fortune telling, and polite forms of gambling. The greatest war, the greatest famine, the greatest pestilence, the greatest earthquake have all occurred within this decade. The return of our Lord will be the next great world event.

When Jesus comes to take his bride away, will you want to be left after all the praying people are gone and all restraint on sin is removed? God is hitting things up fast in order to get ready for the next sensation.

STATE SENATE IS DEADLOCKED

Legislative Business is Hanging Fire at Capital.

Legislative business is still hanging fire at Charleston owing to the deadlock in organizing the upper branch for business. The deadlock came as the result of Senators White and Highland refusing to attend the sessions and participate in the election of a presiding officer. Without the vote of the above members the senate membership is tied with 14 Republicans and an equal number of Democrats.

The action of the insurgent Senators in staying away from the sessions has brought the semi-official suggestion that they be arrested and forced to attend. However, no definite plans along this line have been framed by the majority leaders.

As a result the house of delegates, unable to get its legislative machinery at work until the other branch is organized and the two send a joint committee to wait on the governor and ask if he has any message for the legislature held an equally brief session yesterday. Its only action was to get a committee, consisting of Delegates Spradling of Fayette county, Cotton of Ohio county and Coffield of Wetzel county, appointed to confer on seating arrangements.

WELLSBURG HIGH HERE TONIGHT

The stage set for the basketball game here this evening when the local high school passers meet Wellsburg on the Rock Springs park floor. This is expected to prove one of the most interesting games of the season and marks the first meeting with a Wellsburg team in years.

The Brooke county team is one of the best turned out in years and has been meeting with success in the games played this season. They will be accompanied here by a large delegation of students.

The preliminary game in which the Chester high second team will appear is scheduled to start at 7:30.

To Attend Auto Show.

Number of local residents are planning to attend the annual automobile show which opens tomorrow in Cleveland.

New Music of the Week

Cross-words by the Duncan Sisters

These diminutive entertainers have the "blues" this week. The first is over cross-word puzzles, and the necessity of dropping the search for higher learning to wash their necks. "Cross-Word Blues" is well enough named. "Mean Cicero Blues" is a classic study of hues.

* * *

A Waltz and Three Fox-Trots

Meyer Davis' Le Paradis Band of Washington makes its first Victor records this week. This famous organization employs no brasses. "Washington and Lee Swing" is somewhat military, while "Nobody Likes You Like I Do" is a familiar Bohemian melody set into a fox-trot.

Jean Goldkette and His Orchestra make a nice slow record of "Honest and Truly," a waltz that invites even the timid to essay an arabesque. "You Should Have Told Me," a fox-trot by Ralph Williams and His Rainbow Orchestra, steps on it in contrast with its more placid companion.

SEVEN MARRIAGE LICENSES ISSUED

The following marriage licenses were issued during the past week at New Cumberland:

James David Ganet, Cleveland, and Patricia Helen Stevens, Cleveland.

Clownie Stover, Newell, and Lucy Riffie, Newell.

Frank Uzarski, Weirton, and Cecelia Alexion, Weirton.

Paul Gordon Whitmore, Steubenville, and Mary Clarissa Le Tellier, Pittsburgh.

Roy James, Wellsburg, and Mary Virginia McCluskey, Wellsburg.

William Jacob Israel, Fairmont, and Frances Lucille Johnson, Wellsburg.

Thomas William Croston, Wellsburg, and Hilda Marguerite Arbogast, Wellsburg.

MINSTREL SHOW MEET SCHEDULED

Definite plans for the minstrel show to be staged under the auspices of the local fire department will be made at a meeting Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the fire station. At this session, which will be attended by those who intend participating, arrangements will be made for holding rehearsals. This feature will be in charge of "Peck" McKinney and Buck Stevenson.

STEVENSON FARM CHANGES HANDS

Announcement was made today that the Stevenson farm near Grandview school, consisting of 63 acres and 13 lots, had been sold to Chester and Steubenville parties.

Surveyors began work this morning on the ground and it is expected that 250 lots will be staked off and offered for sale early in the spring.

FIREMEN ANSWER THREE ALARMS

Members of the fire department were busy here during the past two days responding to three alarms in different sections of the city. Two of the blazes were caused by overheated furnaces and gas stoves.

An alarm shortly after noon Thursday took the fire fighters to the home of Erwin Fair in Carolina avenue, where they found an overheated furnace. No damage was done. Returning to the station they were summoned to the home of Percy Willison on Pyramus street, where a garage was on fire. It was completely gutted and a machine owned by Mr. Willison destroyed. Shortly after 8 o'clock this morning fire was discovered in the home of D. M. Tuttle, Penn avenue, near Ninth street. An upper room was badly damaged.

Class Banqueted.

More than 60 persons attended the chicken supper tendered members of Loyal Daughters' class of the First Christian church last evening in the dining room of the church. The supper was served by the Loyal Sons class which lost in a recent membership contest.

Revival Meetings.

Large crowds are attending revival services at the Church of the Nazarene. Rev. C. B. Fugett of Ashland, Ky., is delivering the sermons. He is being assisted by Mrs. Fugett and the pastor, Rev. B. H. Pocock. Special music is a feature of the meetings which will continue until January 25.

To Attend Services.

Delegation from the First Christian church will attend the evangelistic meeting this evening at the First Church of Christ, East Liverpool. Large number of members of the local church attended the service early in the week.

Old Lotus Seeds Arrive.

Five seeds of the Lotus of the Nile have been received by Dr. W. C. Coker of Chapel Hill, N. C., for the department of botany of the state university there. The seeds are said to be more than 400 years old. These and similar seeds when soaked for eight months showed no sign of germination, until their ends were filled so that the underlying tissue was exposed, after which they germinated and developed healthy plants. Out of a lot of 35 studied all germinated under that treatment in four days.

Military Training Order Being Strongly Opposed in Japan

TOKIO, Jan.—Authorization by the department of Education of universal military training in the school and colleges of Japan has met with great opposition recently over the country.

It has become an issue, and public men are opposing it. It is thought a change in the department's ruling will be made before April; otherwise it will then go into effect.

Justice is ever on the victor's side.

With Amazing Speed It Stops That Tough Hang On Cough That Racks Your Whole Body

For simple coughs any simple sweet sugary cough syrup will probably do.

But when you want to throw out of your system one of those old timers, that simply won't be conquered, but lingers on and on causing sleepless nights and days of torment then you've just got to have a real cough medicine.

Then you must ask your druggist for a bottle of Bronchuline Emulsion for the harder and tougher and tighter they come the more joy Bronchuline gets in knocking them out.

Bronchuline isn't a cheap cough conqueror, mind you, for first raters are never cheap. But if you are one of the unlucky ones that a persistent, health destroying cough is pushing towards the grave, get a bottle today and notice how the first dose takes right hold and soothes the terrible soreness.

Often three or four doses bring blessed relief and half a bottle forces the most stubborn cough into submission.

"A bottle of magic" one old man calls Bronchuline Emulsion. He was all worn out and ready to give up when a friend brought him the good news about Bronchuline.

Don't let a cough hang on—it's dangerous company—Get rid of it quick. Ask Jesse D. Holloway and Carnahan's drug stores, East Liverpool and Newell, W. Va., or any up to the times druggist for a bottle of Bronchuline Emulsion. It's a good medicine to have around the house because it contains no chloroform or dope and often two or three doses will stop any ordinary cough.

DREAM CASTLE MAKES OREGON MISS HAPPY

Portland Girl Wins "Home of Lights in Essay Contest.

$15,000 PRIZE

Julia Sutherland Groo Gets Many Thrills.

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan.—Do dreams ever come true?

Here in Portland a very pretty 18-year-old high school girl awoke one day to find that her dream of fairy castles was soon to become a reality.

For Julia Sutherland Groo is the winner of a $15,000 electrically equipped home, grand national prize offered in the Lighting Educational Committee's home lighting essay contest. She laid claim to being the happiest young woman in America the day she was informed that she was to be the "first lady" of the "castle of lights."

When a woman reporter of a local paper told the attractive high school senior of the award she was so overjoyed she kissed the scribe and danced with joy.

Julia, like 1,000,000 other high school students of the United States and Canada, had entered the essay contest. She rewrote her essay six times, toiled and worried over it—hopeful that perhaps she might get one of the many prizes offered. Perchance back in her mind was the thought of the beautiful home—but that was a dream, she said — and "dreams never come true."

Her first big thrill was a check for $200 received at Christmas for having won the district prize in the contest. She was then to compete for the grand prize. Yet it seemed so far away. But Julia's work was not in vain and the "house of lights is soon to be built for her near the present home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jay S. Groo, on Portland Heights.

The thrills had only started for the talented young girl. Reporters interviewed her, movie and camera men snapped her prettiest smiles, Mayor Baker, of Portland, made a personal call, civic clubs placed her on their programs to learn all about her home. And admiring "swains" suddenly became more ardent.

And at the auditorium of Lincoln High school—before more than a thousand students—she received the formal notice of the magnificent award. Life, she says, has become just one grand dream to her which will reach its zenith some few months hence when she touches the button to set aglow her magic "dream castle."

Miss Groo intends to enter the University of Oregon next Fall and study art under Avard Fairbanks, sculptor.

Canada's New Bridge is Long.

At Lethbridge, Alberta, Canada, a new steel viaduct 5,327 feet long has been opened to traffic. This mile long bridge connects Lethbridge and MacLeod. The maximum difference between the river bed and base of rail is 314 feet. This structure is about 760 miles of Winnipeg.

Thaw's Fighting Secretary Irish

Harry K. Thaw, who is enjoying liberty after years in prisons and asylums, advertised for a "fighting secretary." Hundreds applied. Thaw chose James J. Skelly (above) of Washington, D. C.

Germany Far Behind U. S. in Autos; Big Field for Americans

BERLIN, Jan. — There are eighty times as many automobiles per capita in the United States as there are in Germany, according to A. E. Dunning, Secretary of the American Chamber of Commerce in Berlin.

Dunning brought out these figures to prove the United States auto makers have a big future in Europe.

Was a "Bear Cat"

My wife was never an angel, but after five years of liver and stomach trouble she became a 'bear cat.' No doctor or medicine helped her and we thought there was no help for her. Our grocer told me of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, which had helped him for same trouble, so I brought home a bottle, but she promptly threw it out. I got it back and after a week coaxed her into taking it. She is now enjoying the best of health and disposition." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Jesse D. Holloway and Druggists Everywhere.

Do This After Severe Illness

How to Speedily Gain Strength and Put on Needed Weight.

Nothing like the wonderful vitalizing vitamines in Cod Liver Oil to help convalescing people to quickly get strong and well—everybody knows that.

But no body wants to take the fill-smelling, horrible tasting, stomach upsetting oil itself, so nowadays, up to date medical men are ordering a tablet of Cod Liver Oil and it surely has proved a blessing to thousands of people who have been sapped of their natural strength after a severe illness and especially after the Grippe or a stubborn cough or cold.

Ask Anderson, Larkin, Carnahan, or Mathews' Medicine Store, or any regular druggist for a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets. They cost but little, are sugar coated and as pleasant to take as candy.

Skinny men and women take them to speedily put on plenty of good healthy solid flesh and for this purpose they are so extremely good that thin men and women often take on 5 pounds or more in 30 days. As a matter of fact, your druggist will return your money if you don't take on 5 pounds in 30 days.

Great for weak, skinny, backward run-down children, too, and gives them a hearty appetite.

Be sure and ask for McCoy's, the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—60 Tablets—60 cents.

Plum Pudding Blasts Puzzle Housewives Of Mining Region

POTTSVILLE—Explosions of dishes of plum pudding in several Pottsville homes have been reported to city officials. Investigation showed that the explosions were due to start expansion in the puddings after being dished.

In several cases women engaged in preparing for holiday dinners were much alarmed as pans and puddings went bang against ceilings. Puncturing of the top of plum pudding with a fork will prevent such occurences, officials said.

Complete reconstruction in France is expected before 1926.

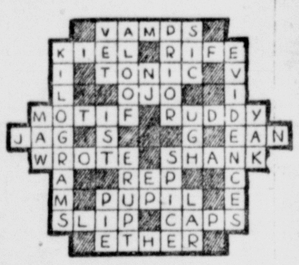
Herewith is solution to puzzle No. 76:



A WORD FOR BEGINNERS.

The best way to solve a cross-word puzzle is to run quickly over the list of horizontal and vertical synonyms and compare them to the spaces in the puzzle extending crosswise or downward from the number of the synonym. Some word which will just fit in the number of space available will quickly occur to you in some instances, giving you a foundation from which to solve the more difficult words. The words must interlock perfectly.

Aboveright, 1925, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Oh, gold is great, but greater far
Is heavenly sympathy!
—Charles Mackay.

On Death

Can death be sleep, when life is but a dream
And scenes of bliss as a phantom by?
The transient pleasures as a vision seem,
And yet we think the greatest pain's to die.

How strange it is that man on earth should roam,
And lead a life of woe, but not forsake
His rugged path; nor dare to view alone
His future doom, which is but to awake.
—John Keats.

Cigarette a Modern Smoke

Although billions of cigarettes are smoked throughout the world today, the first reference to them in modern European society was in 1842, with their introduction into France and Italy. Laurence Oliphant is credited with introducing them into England. They did not get much of a following in the Central and Western European countries, however, until about 1870 and it was even later than that that they became at all popular and general in the United States.

Although $3,600,000 has been spent in construction of Liverpool's cathedral, at least $9,600,000 more will be needed to complete it.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

POEMS THAT LIVE

For Love's Sake Only.

If thou must love me, let it be for naught
Except for love's sake only. Do not say
"I love her for her smile, her look, her way
Of speaking gently; for a trick of thought
That falls in well with mine, and certes brought
A sense of pleasant ease on such a day,"—
For these things in themselves, beloved, may
Be changed, or change for thee,—and love so wrought
May be unwrought so. Neither love me for
Thine own dear pity's wiping my cheek dry,
A creature might forget to weep who bore,
Thy comfort long, and love thy love thereby.
But love me for love's sake, that evermore
Thou may'st love on through love's eternity. —Mrs. Browning

I LAY IN SORROW, DEEP DISTRESSED

I lay in sorrow, deep distress'd;
My grief a proud man heard;
His looks were cold, he gave me gold,
But not a kindly word.
My sorrow pass'd—I paid him back
The gold he gave to me;
Then stood erect and spoke my thanks,
And bless'd his charity.

I lay in want, in grief and pain;
A poor man pass'd my way;
He bound my head, he gave me bread,
He watch'd me night and day,
How shall I pay him back again
For all he did to me?

NEWS NOTES FROM MOVIELAND
BY DAISY DEAN

Thanks to Paramount Picture Co. (Famous Players-Lasky) we are being introduced to many new and lovely faces on the screen. Here is a blond beauty from Norway—Grethe Nissen. Although but nineteen Miss Nissen had a number of European stage successes to her credit and won her way to the heart of the great American public by her pantomine success of "Beggar on Horseback."

Paramount officials, always on the lookout for fresh talent, saw her performance and offered her a place among the long line of well known players in their company.

Grethe is said to have a most individual personality. She will be seen in the Paramount screen version of "Beggar on Horseback."

Marguerite La Motte is said to have been given her first chance in the movies because of her trim ankles. She says the exercise that produced the ankles was jumping rope when she was a child.

Tom Mix has just finished a wild west picture called "The Deadwood Coach" and is preparing to play "Dick Turpin." In this latter, the story of a famous English highwayman, Mix has to wear plumed hat, high boots, brocaded velvets and a long cloak. "Just what Tony will think of me in this get-up I am afraid to guess. And I know somebody will have to hold Duke when he first sees me."

Patsy Ruth Miller has a 15-year-old brother, Winston. When Frank Lloyd selected Patsy to play the lead in "Judgment," he also sent for Winston, but rejected him for the part he had in mind because he doesn't look like Patsy at all. Patsy has finished "Judgment" and has been signed by Universal to play opposite House Peters in "Head Winds," and Winston has a featured role in "Kings of the Turf," playing the part of a jockey.

When Richard Rowland, president of First National Pictures, returns from Europe and Colleen Moore gets to New York they will act as godparents to John Francis Dillon, Jr., whom the stork recently presented to Mr. and Mrs. John F. Dillon. Baby's father is the director of "One Way Street" now being filmed at Biograph Studio, N. Y. City.

Another handsome member of the Latin races is following in the footsteps of Rudolph Valentino, Ramon Navarro and Antonio Moreno and his name is Ricardo Crrtez.

Cortez was born inVienna, Austria of Spanish parents, but came to this country with his parents, when he was only three years old and went to school in New York. It was there, too, that he got his first job as broker's runner at $4 a week. And he was determined even then, to be an actor.

His first screen work was as extra with Violet Mesereau at the Fort Lee Studio. He also worked as "fly boy" high up among the ropes of the old Broadway theatre and sold candy and ushered in the same place. He got a chance to be a "supper" in stock in Albany and for two years played all sorts of parts—including "bits," juveniles and leads. But the pay was small and back into business went Ricardo.

As traffic manager for the Fleet Shipping Co. he went to Los Angeles on business. One night Jesse Lasky, vice president of the Paramount company, saw him dancing in a hotel, noted his looks, bearing, etc., and asked him to call at the picture headquarters. The result was a contract.

"Children of Jazz," "The Next are some of the pictures in which he made favorable appearances. He was cast for the part of "Tony Channing" in "Fact of Clay," played opposite Bebe Daniels in "Argentine Love" and is now being featured in the screen version of Molnar's "The Swan," which Dimitri Buchowetski is producing at Paramount Long Island Studio.

Cortez is unmarried although time was when he was reported engaged to Agnes Ayres. But Agnes married M. Reachi, Mexican diplomat, and Ricardo is busy with his screen career. He is six feet tall, of dark complexion and is fond of swimming, golf, hand-ball, squash and horseback riding.

Eleanor Boardman is one of the most promising of our younger screen stars. Her name now blazes in front of the best picture houses.

In one of her latest releases Eleanor shares honors with "Peter the Great," the German police dog who was brought to this country recently and does clever work in "The Silent Accuser."

Miss Eleanor is a Philadelphia girl and was educated in the Philadelphia School of Applied Arts. She had stage experience before doing picture work, which always seems to us to help, although it is said that the two arts—those of the stage and screen—are so dissimilar that one cannot help the other.

"Souls for Sale," "Gimme," "Strangers' Banquet," Three Wise Fools," you will recall as some of the pictures in which she has appeared. "Wine of Youth," "Sinners of Silk," "The Silent Accuser" and "So This is Marriage," are her later releases.

We think Rafael Sabatini, author of "Scaramouche," deserves being the winner of the $10,000 prize offered by Adolphe Zukor, president of Famous Players-Lasky, for the story which made the best motion picture in the year ending September, 1924. A large number of worthy pictures were considered, and the field finally narrowed down to 17, from which "Scaramouche," "The Thief of Bagdad" and "The Woman of Paris" were chosen for final decision. "Scaramouche" was selected because it was from all viewpoints an exceptional motion picture. It possessed that fidelity of action essential to effectiveness; it reflected realistically a particularly dramatic period in history; it possessed great pictorial beauty and was directed with skill and played by a brilliant cast." The Fairbanks opus, "The Thief," was disqualified because it was based on Arabian Nights legends, and Chaplin's "A Woman of Paris" was felt to be more of a directional than a literary triumph.

Estelle Taylor's first Christmas gift this year was from an artist student in Berlin, Germany, and was an oil painting of herself.

Dorothy Mackail does not care for jewelry and wears only a ring her mother gave her when she was a little girl.

"If I ever drop acting, me for camera work," says Corinne Griffith. She recently photographed two whole sequences of her new picture, "Declasse," Ethel Barrymore's stage success.

Leatrice Joy has changed her mind and will not quit the films to devote herself exclusively to Baby Leatrice, as she threatened. She is to play the principal part in "The Dressmaker From Paris."

Ann Pennington, she of the pulchritudinous knees, is to play the title role in "The Mad Dancer."

When Louise Fazenda left Mack Sennett's lot with a contract from Warner brothers to play "featured leads" she gave a sigh of relief.

"No more slapsticks," thought Louise.

Recently she was loaned to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to work in Robert Z. Leonard's production of "Cheaper to Marry." Here are a few things she had to do.

Make a thirty foot dive; stay under water one minute; make three comic falls; ride an ostrich; take a mud bath; have a permanent wave.

"Guess I'll go back to Sennett's where they make dramatic pictures," sighs Louise.

Three Generations of Women

Since the humble origin of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in 1881, made on a kitchen stove, three generations of women have used this old-fashioned root and herb remedy for their ailments with wonderful success. Very often we hear of families where the grandmother, mother and daughter testify to its virtue. This accounts for the astounding growth and demand for this dependable medicine from all over the United States and from many foreign countries as well.

New Gravity System From Adirondack Gives City Supply

WHITEHALL, Jan.—Whitehall's new gravity water supply system was put in operation recently and furnishes the city with an unlimited supply of water from the Adirondacks. One of the novel features of the construction is that pipe line running from the original dam in the mountains to the reservoir in this city crosses South Bay, of Lake George, on the lake bottom. Laying the pipe on the lake bed was not so difficult as it sounds.

The pipes were laid from a scow onto a wooden crib, and when the full length was finished, it was simply dropped overboard.

OUCH! BACKACHE! RUB LUMBAGO AWAY

When your back is sore and lame or lumbago, sciatica or rheumatism has you stiffened up, don't suffer! Get a 35 cent bottle of old, honest St. Jacobs Oil at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it right on your aching back, and the soreness and lameness is gone.

In use for 65 years, this soothing, penetrating oil takes the pain right out, and ends the misery. It is absolutely harmless and doesn't burn the skin.

NEWS NOTES FROM MOVIELAND
BY PATSY DEAN

Thanks to Paramount Picture Co. (Famous Players-Lasky) we are being introduced to many new and lovely faces on the screen. Here is a blond beauty from Norway—Grethe Nissen. Although but nineteen Miss Nissen had a number of European stage successes to her credit and won her way to the heart of the great American public by her pantomine success of "Beggar on Horseback."

Paramount officials, always on the lookout for fresh talent, saw her performance and offered her a place among the long line of well known players in their company.

Grethe is said to have a most individual personality. She will be seen in the Paramount screen version of "Beggar on Horseback."

Marguerite La Motte is said to have been given her first chance in the movies because of her trim ankles. She says the exercise that produced the ankles was jumping rope when she was a child.

Tom Mix has just finished a wild west picture called "The Deadwood Coach" and is preparing to play "Dick Turpin." In this latter, the story of a famous English highwayman, Mix has to wear plumed hat, high boots, brocaded velvets and a long cloak. "Just what Tony will think of me in this get-up I am afraid to guess. And I know somebody will have to hold Duke when he first sees me."

Patsy Ruth Miller has a 15-year-old brother, Winston. When Frank Lloyd selected Patsy to play the lead in "Judgment," he also sent for Winston, but rejected him for the part he had in mind because he doesn't look like Patsy at all. Patsy has finished "Judgment" and has been signed by Universal to play opposite House Peters in "Head Winds," and Winston has a featured role in "Kings of the Turf," playing the part of a jockey.

When Richard Rowland, president of First National Pictures, returns from Europe and Colleen Moore gets to New York they will act as godparents to John Francis Dillon, Jr., whom the stork recently presented to Mr. and Mrs. John F. Dillon. Baby's father is the director of "One Way Street" now being filmed at Biograph Studio, N. Y. City.

Another handsome member of the Latin races is following in the footsteps of Rudolph Valentino, Ramon Navarro and Antonio Moreno and his name is Ricardo Crrtez.

Cortez was born inVienna, Austria of Spanish parents, but came to this country with his parents, when he was only three years old and went to school in New York. It was there, too, that he got his first job as broker's runner at $4 a week. And he was determined even then, to be an actor.

His first screen work was as extra with Violet Mesereau at the Fort Lee Studio. He also worked as "fly boy" high up among the ropes of the old Broadway theatre and sold candy and ushered in the same place. He got a chance to be a "supper" in stock in Albany and for two years played all sorts of parts—including "bits," juveniles and leads. But the pay was small and back into business went Ricardo.

THE DOUBLE HOUSE

By Elizabeth Dejeans

"God!" Rossiter said to himself, the professional in him alive. "If a director saw her now, he'd go off his head! She can do anything with the muscles of her face—her body, too! I knew it! She has the gift—wonderfully." He asserted with perfect calm: "You've let your father's history prey on your mind and distort everything. There are few places on this earth where it matters so little what one's father was as here in Hollywood. What you make of yourself is what counts here. Good heavens! If I were a girl and had your face, I'd run to the first studio! Do anything they gave me to do! Get my start somehow! I'd show the world what John Dascome's daughter could do! There's Jasmine James! The less said about her family the better—everyone knows it—but the plucky little girl didn't get desperate over it. She just kept out of bad company and smiled herself into the studios and worked. And Arline Blair—she came back—this is a place where a girl can come back. It's a deal more Christian-spirited and not a whit more sinful than Boston! I respect those girls!" Rossiter was doing some acting; he dropped to resigned conviction. "You have twice their beauty and the grit; I told you so in New York. But it isn't in you to hold to a purpose in spite of everything and work. You've shown since coming here that it simply isn't in you."

Clarice was on fire again. "It is! I could! That's what I meant to do when I came here!" Her eyes filled again. "But you were hateful to me!" She came closer, lifted her face to his, eyes and voice infinitely appealing. "Why, if it doesn't matter—about father—did you change like that? Please tell me! . . . Please?"

She was the May morning again, and Rossiter cursed himself for not having been heartless, not having bowed himself out. He was as confused as was possible to him; he was caught in a net of his own spreading. He could not say, "I didn't want any Dascome blood in my children."

He looked away. "I've just told you—I have no confidence in you."

Suddenly her arms were about his neck, her lips on his, a swift passionate pressure. "I'll do anything, anything! I'll work day and night. I can. I will—if only you'll love me—as you did!" She kissed his cheek, held his face to hers. "You did love me once—I know it. You wanted to marry me. You say it doesn't matter—who I am—and I'll never do anything you don't like. I won't hate anybody—I'll do right—if only you'll love me!"

It was complete abandon. Rossiter was burning. It was not in him to resist the physical appeal, not when made by Clarice. He held her close and kissed her. Kissed her again, half in desperation; the girl did not realize! It was marriage she was pleading for, and he couldn't give it. She was so young—and so honest. He thought of Karesia. "Clarice! Good Lord!" He held her off. "You don't know what you're doing!"

She stood quivering and gasping. "You love—Mrs. Kaime?"

"Yes. I do."

"You're going to—marry her?"

"I am—if she'll have me."

She jerked away and flung herself down on the couch, and beat the pillows with her clenched fists. "I wish I were dead! I wish I were dead! . . . I can't bear it—I hate her!"

Rossiter did not trust himself to look at her. He walked about seeking composure and gained it. It struck him forcibly that he had made a bitter enemy for Karesia. Dascome had some object in insinuating himself into Karesia's house, safe to say that his object was not a good one. Clarice was of the same stock, and this morning's work had made her a danger.

Rossiter went to her and touched her shoulder. "Clarice, I want to speak to you."

She lifted a face so livid that it was blue. "Well?"

"I want to tell you something—read that." He had taken up the newspaper he had dropped; he pointed to an article.

Clarice read duly at first, then with head bent:

SONYA KARESIA

Well-Known Short-Story Writer Makes Hollywood Her Home.

There was a time when New York was the Mecca towards which our writers wended their way. Today, Los Angeles is their goal. They come, love it, and stay. Los Angeles and the Hollywood hills are graced by their homes; we take pride in our colony of literati as we do in the vast motion-picture industry which has been the means of bringing them here.

Sonya Karesia is the latest addition to our literary colony. In the last two years, she has reached a foremost place in the ranks of short-story writers. Her stories of Russian life won almost immediate recognition. Her "The Idol of St. Petersburg" was a remarkable story, and her "The Dancer of Petrograd" has been the most discussed story of the past year, because of both its literary excellence and its absorbing interest. She has also published stories the scenes of which are laid in the Orient, China and Japan.

Sonya Karesia? A Russian, you will say. No. She is an American. Her mother was a Russian, a famous dancer in the days when St. Petersburg was ruled by the Czar. Her father was Allen Keith, a Californian. He was a civil engineer and lived in Russia for many years. Old Californians will remember Johnson Keith; he was a forty-niner and Sonya Karesia's grandfather. Sonya Karesia was born right here in Los Angeles. She has lived in Russia, she went through the Red Terror Most of her life has been spent in the Far East, but she is an American, every inch of her, and a Los Angelean. To her birthplace she has returned and evidently to stay, for her beautiful new home in Hollywood is substantial proof of her intentions.

In private life, Sonya Karesia is Mrs. Karesia Kaime. For her nom de plume, she chose her mother's name, which is also her given name. She is the widow of Edward Kaime, a widely traveled American who lived for a number of years in the Orient. He was interested in oriental customs and languages and was the author of several books of travel.

Mrs. Kaime is modest. She stole a march on us, but talents such as hers cannot be hidden under a bushel. It will be interesting to hear what this traveled young woman thinks of our City of the Angels, her birthplace.

Belgium and Greece, which have recently touched Uncle Sam to the tune of $50,000,000 and $11 000,000, respectively, knew there was a Santa Claus.

"God!" Rossiter said to himself, the professional in him alive. "If a director saw her now, he'd go off his head! She can do anything with the muscles of her face—her body, too! I knew it! She has the gift—wonderfully." He asserted with perfect calm: "You've let your father's history prey on your mind and distort everything. There are few places on this earth where it matters so little what one's father was as here in Hollywood. What you make of yourself is what counts here. Good heavens! If I were a girl and had your face, I'd run to the first studio! Do anything they gave me to do! Get my start somehow! I'd show the world what John Dascome's daughter could do! There's Jasmine James! The less said about her family the better—everyone knows it—but the plucky little girl didn't get desperate over it. She just kept out of bad company and smiled herself into the studios and worked. And Arline Blair—she came back—this is a place where a girl can come back. It's a deal more Christian-spirited and not a whit more sinful than Boston! I respect those girls!" Rossiter was doing some acting; he dropped to resigned conviction. "You have twice their beauty and the grit; I told you so in New York. But it isn't in you to hold to a purpose in spite of everything and work. You've shown since coming here that it simply isn't in you."

Clarice was on fire again. "It is! I could! That's what I meant to do when I came here!" Her eyes filled again. "But you were hateful to me!" She came closer, lifted her face to his, eyes and voice infinitely appealing. "Why, if it doesn't matter—about father—did you change like that? Please tell me! . . . Please?"

She was the May morning again, and Rossiter cursed himself for not having been heartless, not having bowed himself out. He was as confused as was possible to him; he was caught in a net of his own spreading. He could not say, "I didn't want any Dascome blood in my children."

He looked away. "I've just told you—I have no confidence in you."

Suddenly her arms were about his neck, her lips on his, a swift passionate pressure. "I'll do anything, anything! I'll work day and night. I can. I will—if only you'll love me—as you did!" She kissed his cheek, held his face to hers. "You did love me once—I know it. You wanted to marry me. You say it doesn't matter—who I am—and I'll never do anything you don't like. I won't hate anybody—I'll do right—if only you'll love me!"

It was complete abandon. Rossiter was burning, it was not in him to resist the physical appeal, not when made by Clarice. He held her close and kissed her. Kissed her again, half in desperation; the girl did not realize! It was marriage she was pleading for, and he couldn't give it. She was so young—and so honest. He thought of Karesia. "Clarice! Good Lord!" He held her off. "You don't know what you're doing!"

She stood quivering and gasping. "You love—Mrs. Kaime?"

"Yes. I do."

"You're going to—marry her?"

"I am—if she'll have me."

She jerked away and flung herself down on the couch, and beat the pillows with her clenched fists. "I wish I were dead! I wish I were dead! . . . I can't bear it—I hate her!"

Rossiter did not trust himself to look at her. He walked about seeking composure and gained it. It struck him forcibly that he had made a bitter enemy for Karesia. Dascome had some object in insinuating himself into Karesia's house, safe to say that his object was not a good one. Clarice was of the same stock, and this morning's work had made her a danger.

Rossiter went to her and touched her shoulder. "Clarice, I want to speak to you."

She lifted a face so livid that it was blue. "Well?"

"I want to tell you something—read that." He had taken up the newspaper he had dropped; he pointed to an article.

Clarice read duly at first, then with head bent:

SONYA KARESIA

Well-Known Short-Story Writer Makes Hollywood Her Home.

There was a time when New York was the Mecca towards which our writers wended their way. Today, Los Angeles is their goal. They come, love it, and stay. Los Angeles and the Hollywood hills are graced by their homes; we take pride in our colony of literati as we do in the vast motion-picture industry which has been the means of bringing them here.

Sonya Karesia is the latest addition to our literary colony. In the last two years, she has reached a foremost place in the ranks of short-story writers. Her stories of Russian life won almost immediate recognition. Her "The Idol of St. Petersburg" was a remarkable story, and her "The Dancer of Petrograd" has been the most discussed story of the past year, because of both its literary excellence and its absorbing interest. She has also published stories the scenes of which are laid in the Orient, China and Japan.

Sonya Karesia? A Russian, you will say. No. She is an American. Her mother was a Russian, a famous dancer in the days when St. Petersburg was ruled by the Czar. Her father was Allen Keith, a Californian. He was a civil engineer and lived in Russia for many years. Old Californians will remember Johnson Keith; he was a forty-niner and Sonya Karesia's grandfather. Sonya Karesia was born right here in Los Angeles. She has lived in Russia, she went through the Red Terror Most of her life has been spent in the Far East, but she is an American, every inch of her, and a Los Angelean. To her birthplace she has returned and evidently to stay, for her beautiful new home in Hollywood is substantial proof of her intentions.

In private life, Sonya Karesia is Mrs. Karesia Kaime. For her nom de plume, she chose her mother's name, which is also her given name. HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

A Daughter's Deceit.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have a daughter 17 years old who is attending high school. Her father never went further than the fourth grade of grammar school and he has always gotten along all right and owns his own business now. He cannot see why our daughter needs so much education, but of course she and I do. She has hoped to go to college too, but I guess that is hopeless because her father would never furnish the money. I have tried to save for it, but my husband lets me charge things to him and he doesn't give me any money of my own. About six months ago our bill was charged with silk stockings and a pair of shoes I never bought. My husband said he would not pay the bill and he never did. Now we are charged again with two pairs of silk stockings, silk for a dress and a silk scarf. I opened the bill when it came and I was so angry I went to see about the mistake myself. They looked up the charge and the clerk who sold the things said she sold them to my daughter. I don't know what to do about it. Should I pretend to her father that I bought the things myself? He is very good to me and would not say a wrd. How should I punish my daughter so that she won't do such a thing again?

ANXIOUS MOTHER.

Your daughter's deceit is a very serious thing and she should not be shielded from punishment. My advice is to tell her father just what happened. It may be that after the truth comes out the father will se that he is not giving his daughter the clothes she needs.

Peggy's Problem.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 19 years old and have been going with a young man for three years. My folks did not object to our marriage which was to be soon. Now he does not write to me. I have written to him several times but he does not reply. Should I consider our engagement broken? Is it wrong to go with other boy friends? PEGGY.

If you are reasonably sure that the young man no longer cares for you and has stopped writing to make you see how he feels, try to forget him and go with other young men.

It's Up To The Boys

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of 16 and have never gone with a boy. But there are two boys about two years older than myself that I like very much. Sometimes I think they like me and other times I don't. How can I find out? I sent each of them a Christmas card through the mail. Did I do wrong? One of them wants to get me a date with some other boy I have never met. I told him that mother would never stand for that. Did I do right? I have thought of leaving school as I am only in the ninth grade. Do you think it would be wise to quit when I have a chance to keep on going? BROWN EYES.

If the boys like you to any extent they will ask to call or take you somewhere. As long as they do not you may be sure they regard you as a friend and are not very deeply interested in you. You really should not have sent the Christmas cards since you are not closer friends. You might have told the boy to bring his friend and another girl over to your house some night. In that way your mother would have had a chance to meet the strange boy. Do not think of leaving school. If you are backward you are all the more in need of education.

U. S. Called Too Big.

Frederick Van Monsjou, head of a big timber firm in Holland, after traveling through the United States, gave out a statement to the effect that he would not live here because the country was too large. He says small business is being killed in the United States and believed ultimate happiness of the people rests on many small business rather than on a few very large ones.

Chaulmoogra trees, the oil of which has been found effective in combating leprosy, are now being cultivated in this country.

YOUR HEALTH

Treat Your Stomach Right If You Would Keep Well

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Former Commissioner of Health, New York City

United States Senator from New York.

IN a candy store the other day I saw this sign: "When you 'treat' your stomach, treat it right." Of course this was intended as a reminder to buy a box of the tempting and wholesome candies on sale. Who can doubt that a little candy now and then is a real treat? In proper amounts, candy gives your sense of taste delightful stimulation and your stomach has a treat of the right sort.

To mistreat the stomach and to continue this mistreatment, is an unforgivable practice. On the contrary, the surest guarantee of good health is proper eating. To paraphrase the saying I saw, you should treat your stomach right to-day, to-morrow and all the time. By so doing you will add to your happiness and expectation of life.

Indigestion, dyspepsia, heartburn, bloating, colic and other signs of abdominal distress are likely to come from eating food that does not agree with you or neglect of the digestive tract. Constipation and diarrhoea are evidences of the same causes.

One of the things the stomach resents is being kept continually at work. Where is the cook who does not find fault if meals are demanded at all hours? Of course, she wants the intervals between meals to be long enough to permit washing the dishes, cleaning the kitchen and putting things in order for the next meal.

Food should not be dumped into the stomach until the digestive processes have been completed, the stomach has become emptied, and until there has been an interval of rest for the stomach to store up enough energy to begin the digestive function properly. When you have finished one meal, consider it finished and take no food until sufficient time has elapsed to clear the stomach. This means that three or four hours, at least, should pass before a second meal is eaten. Five hours is a better rule for some persons.

Fermentation in the lower bowel due to bad elimination, is an all-too-common experience. This appears to cause a damming back of the gases and a disturbance of the digestive powers.

You are not treating your stomach as you should if you persist in eating things which long experience has taught you do not agree with you.

"When you 'treat' your stomach, treat it right."

Answers to Health Questions

J. N. Q.—Whenever I try to take a deep breath I get pains around my heart which prevent me from taking a really deep breath. What causes this and what can I do for it?

A.—You should have your chest examined by a competent physician. The trouble may possibly be caused by intercostal neuralgia.

* * *

H. L. G. Q.—What would you advise for the removal of moles from the face and body of elderly persons? They sometimes become protuberant and inconvenient.

A.—Moles may be made less noticeable by the use of the electric needle but this should be done by a competent person skilled in this particular kind of work.

Dr. Copeland will answer for readers of this paper questions on medicinal, hygiene and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. Where the subject of a letter is such that it cannot be published in this column, Dr Copeland will, when the question is a proper one write you personally if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is enclosed. Divorce on Increase In England; Report Of Register Issued

LONDON, Jan.—Divorce is on the increase in England and Wales.

The 1923 report of the Register of Vital Statistics, just published, gives these facts.

With an estimated population of 38,403,000, the total births registered reached 758,131, or 19.7 per thousand.

The deaths numbered 444,365, a rate of 11.5 per thousand.

The total number of marriages was 292,408.

There were 2,834 divorces.

Misconduct is the only grounds for divorce in England.

May college menn are making their way by giving blood through tranfussions and charging for the service, some hospitals in this country having lists of those who are willing to furnish blood on a moment's notice.

Baltimore's Baseball Frenzy.
That Was When Orioles Won.
'Robbie' Made Temperance Speech.
Dan Brouthers Spoke To Girls.
Rivalled Washington's Outburst.

By DAMON RUNYON.
(Copyright, 1925, by International Feature Service.)

WHEN Washington finally won the world's series last fall the town, in a manner of speaking, HOWLED. It cut loose and celebrated.

It made the victory occasion for an extemperaneous carnival. Men and women and small children streamed through the streets of the nation's capital blowing horns, throwing confetti, cheering.

Clark Griffith, the old Silver Fox of baseball, president of the club, and connected with it through years of baseball vicissitudes, stood on the steps of the Hotel Willard and was vigorously kissed by beautiful ladies as a sweet tribute to his team.

The writer had the good fortune to be in Washington that night. He had never seen anything to approach the enthusiasm in spontaneity, in sincerity. No other city in his experience in baseball has made as much of a triumph.

But in Baltimore a few nights ago he encountered Joe Kelly in reminiscent mood, and heard the tale of a similar celebration years ago.

That was when Ned Hanlon's baseball immortals, the Orioles, won their first pennant in the National league. It was in 1894, 30 years ago.

Joe Kelley, now a distinguished looking, gray haired, ruddy complexioned citizen of Baltimore, to whom everybody speaks as he goes along the streets, was playing the outfield for the Orioles in those days.

You will find Joe Kelley's name in baseball history written large.

There is what is called an All-Time, All-American baseball team, purely mythical, of course. In the line-up are listed the nine players with the highest fielding and batting averages in the history of baseball.

Joe Kelley figures as an outfielder on the All-Time All-American baseball team. That's how good he was. Old timers say there is no man in baseball today who can approach Kelley's all around ability 30 years ago.

K. O. PUNCHERS MEET TONIGHT

Flowers-Delaney Battle Will Draw Capacity House.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—In the fond expectation, typical of this enlightened day and age, that one or the other of the principals will be carried out of the ring, feet first, the greatest crowd of the indoor boxing season will grace the occasion at the duly advertised meeting of Tiger Flowers and Jack Delaney at Madison Square Garden tonight. You couldn't keep them away with a board of health hand bill.

Flowers, a polite colored gent in every day life, suddenly reverts to the berserk ferocity of the African jungles when the time keeper rings his bell. Delaney is a natty boxer with a crushing right hand punch. Neither man seems to be able to laugh off a punch. The inference is obvious.

It is that tonight's proceedings have slight chance of lasting the scheduled limit of twelve rounds, and, therefore, the merry villagers have acted accordingly. As early as yesterday morning there wasn't a reserved seat for sale at the Garden.

"Get away," said the box office man to prospective purchasers, in that courteous way of his. They got.

That means that somewhat less than 14,000 souls will be in the house when they tenderly pick either Flowers or Delaney from the floor tonight. The writer has a bright idea that it will not be Delaney, although in the language of the poets the boys are picking Flowers.

He, however, seems to have more fragility of the chin than Delaney, although neither is exactly a granite monument in this respect. Delaney's record shows knockouts at the hands of Augie Ratner and Young Fisher, indicating that Jack is far from robust or the gentlemen in question wore saddles instead of gloves. Neither can punch his way out of a paper bag.

Flowers has stopped the last five or six men he has met but previous to this carnal seance, suffered six knockouts, no less. Two were scored by Kid Norfolk, another by Lee Anderson and a fourth by the aged Sam Langford. Thre must be something humorous about a chin like that.

Yet the winner is morally certain of meeting Harry Greb for the middleweight title and, for all I know, may be a champion-in-prospect. Greb has known better days.

The Orioles in '94 were nearly all young fellows, reckless, daring, gay baseball blades, too, famous over the baseball land for their dash and truculence.

What a great thing it must have been to be young and an Oriole!

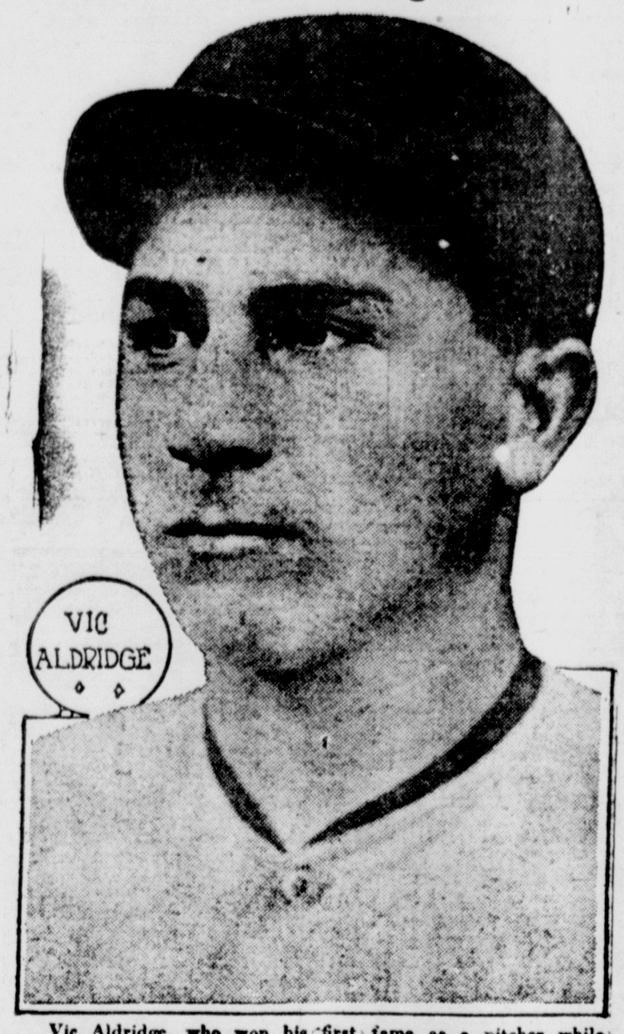
They won their first pennant on the road, that is to say, while away from home. Baltimore was mighty proud of that achievement. Baltimore set about making the Orioles understand that it was proud of them.

It must have been a tremendous occasion when the club meets.

A huge crowd met the players. There was a big parade, the players in carriages, two to a carriage. Then there was a big banquet at the Hotel Rennert, fireworks, bands.

The players wore "full dress" attire, and their baseball caps to distinguish them from the members of the committees when they were on review. That was an odd sartorial touch. The town boomed with their praise.

This "Hoosier Schoolmaster" To Teach Pitching on New Hill



Vic Aldridge, who won his first fame as a pitcher while teaching school in the rural districts of Indiana, opines he'll have a big year in the uniform of a Pirate the coming season. Aldridge, one of the Cubs who moved in the wholesale swap between Chicago and Pittsburg some time ago, got his real start with Indianapolis.

"Of course, the Volstead Act hadn't been heard of thirty years ago," said Joe Kelly. "Therefore, the banquet wasn't what you would call dry. In fact, it was quit wet.

"We were to play the New York Giants in the Temple Cup series a day or so later, that series corresponding to the present world's series, and I remember Wilbert Robinson's speech, which was designed as a warning to our young men against over-indulgence.

"'Members of the Baltimore Orioles," Robbie said, 'glasses up—and GLASSES DOWN."

"He meant for them to lift them in response to any toasts, then set them down again without touching the contents. The speech made a big hit with temperance people all over the State.

"But we didn't win the Temple Cup series," Joe Kelley sighed. "The New York Club came in and walloped us in four straight games.

"They had Amos Rusie and Jouett Meekin pitching for them. That's just about the same as having two Walter Johnsons in Johnson's best form. Rusie and Meekin pitched great ball against us, while our pitchers weren't in good form.

"A lot of New York fans followed the Giants into Baltimore carrying new brooms. These indicated they meant to make a clean sweep, and they did.

"I can't admit that Washington or any other town in this country has ever displayed the enthusiasm shown by Baltimore for the Orioles when we took that first pennant," said Joe Kelley, loyally.

"In fact, all Maryland was worked up about it. They came to greet us from all over the State. I remember that when we hit Cumberland a delegation of young women was at the depot to welcome us, and Dan Brouthers made a speech which started out, 'Fair daughters of Cumberland.' How's that for a ball player?"

Thus you younger fans of today learn that your fathers had their moments of basebell enthusiasm.

Dan Brouthers in those days was about what Babe Ruth is today in point of fame. Brouthers was a tremendous hitter. Some old timers think he could hit a ball as hard as Ruth.

Brouthers is today connected with the Polo Grounds, in New York, one of John J. McGraw's employes. McGraw thirty years ago was a spindling kid playing third for Orioles. Amos Rusie, the New York pitcher named by Kelley, is also employed by McGraw at the Polo Grounds.

M. P.-CHRISTIAN TEAMS WINNERS

Easy Victors Over Sunday School League Foes.

In Sunday school basketball league battles fought last night on the M. P. floor, the M. P.'s defeated the United Presbyterians by the count of 41 to 19, and the Christians won from the Chester Presbyterians, 34 to 12.

In the preliminary contest the M. P. Juniors walloped the First U. P. Juniors, 37 to 13.

Both M. P. and Christian squads had things pretty much their own way in games with their respective rivals. The M. P. five led by the count of 21 to 11 at the half, while the Christians made it 21 to 4 in their clash with the Chesterites.

The second half play in each engagement was much a repetition of the first, both leading teams finding little opposition. Mackey was the scoring star for the M. P. quint with 10 field goals. Todd, Wilson and Carey also had a big hand in the M. P. victory.

Roberts, Dickey and Berge performed in excellent style for the U. P. passers.

The Christians depended largely upon Howard, Owens and Heddleston in their game with the Chester cagers, while the latter club's star performers were Cox, J. Miller and Newell.

BENNY LEONARD QUITS BOXING

Retiring From Ring For "The Love of My Mother."

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Benny Leonard, lightweight champion of the world, has quit the ring, he announced today, "because his mother had begged him not to fight again."

"I am retiring from boxing for the love of my mother," Leonard said.

Leonard became lightweight champion in 1917 when he beat Freddie Welch. He has been one of the most popular champions of all time.

Leonard is now appearing in vaudeville. Recently he became seriously ill after collapsing on the stage, but recovered after remaining in bed at his home here for a week or ten days.

In announcing his retirement, Leonard said there was a time when he liked the "glory stuff"—"when the people used to say, "there goes Benny Leonard, the champion."

"But," he went on, "I am not retiring for glory. I am retiring for the love of my mother who begged me not to fight again.

"I fought everybody the public demanded me to meet. I beat them all in my class. Nobody can say Benny Leonard didn't give all the boys a chance at the title."

Leonard then related how his mother used to read of his fights, of his training, of stories that he had his teeth knocked out, his hands broken or had met with other injuries.

"Mother would sit crying, and trembling, saying, 'My poor Benny'," continued the retiring champion.

"My fight with Tendler in 1923 was to have been my last. My mother had been very ill. All of us were greatly worried over her condition.

One day she called the family together. She made me promise I would never fight again. Then she said she would have nothing to worry about.

"So that's why I'm quitting now—for mother's sake."

TRIS SPEAKER IS BRIDEGROOM

CLEVELAND, Jan. 16.—Tris Speaker, manager and centerfielder of the Cleveland Indians, was on his way to Florida for a honeymoon with his bride today.

The ball player, considered one of the confirmed bachelors among the ranks of professional ball players, was married late yesterday at St. John's cathedral house to Miss Mary Frances Cudahy, whom he first met in 1919, shortly after he became the manager of the Cleveland team.

The marriage was kept a secret from all but a very few. Walter McNichols, business manager of the Cleveland club, and Miss Claire Cudahy, the bride's sister, were the only attendants. The ceremenoy was performed by Msgr. Joseph Smith, vicar general of the Cleveland diocese.

Speaker's age was given as 36. His bride is 30.

'Y' INDUSTRIAL FLOOR CONTESTS

Two contests are carded tonight in the "Y" industrial basketball league, the first of which will start at 7:30 o'clock.

Laughlin 6 and Potters will clash in the opener. The Laughlin 5 squad will tackle Trotters in the wind-up event.

Sherlock Holmes a Doctor

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, whose Sherlock Holmes is the classic of detective fiction, confessed recently that he modeled the character after a doctor he encountered when pursuing his medical studies at the University of Edinburgh. Dr. Joseph Bell was the surgeon, in fact, and his strong point was diagnosis not only of disease but of character and occupation of the patient. Few recall why Sir Arthur was knighted, but it was because of his defense of Great Britain's conduct in the Boer war.

NOT IN ON THE GAME

"Meet the Wife," Comedy Success, to Appear at Ceramic

In considering comedies of the contemporary stage it is inevitable to return again and again in thought to Lynn Starling's delightfully witty comedy, "Meet the Wife," with Augusta Boylston, which comes to the Ceramic theatre Thursday, January 22. It overshadows and at the same time outshines—as the Wrigley building overshadows and outshines its hum-drum neighbors. The gallery of character sketches presented in "Meet the Wife" are all of American types met in every day life. The dialogue is very good, crisp, characteristic conversation that reveals exactly what the people on the stage think of each other and of life in general. This play captured New York audiences for one year and delighted Chicago for two months.

Then comes Augusta Boylston to play the heroine and to gladden all hearts by that absolutely magical blend of gaiety and vitality and quick subtle understanding that she in a higher degree than any other comedienne possesses. Her acting of Mrs. Gertrude Lennox, an up to date who takes a second husband too hastily, with her shallowness and gush, absurd philosophies and stifled fears, her vivacity and her shrewd flashes of common sense is a characterization which brings many a smile and laugh long after one has left the theatre. There is tolerance for the young couple who are at that stage of their courtship when public opinion gives license for their being perfectly idiotic. There are roars of laughter from the men and shrieks of delight from the gentler sex at the complications arising from the return of Gertrude's husband and the snappy dialogue of Donald Campbell as the husband pro tem and Messenger Bellis who had made his escape from marital toils in the confusion of the San Francisco earthquake and fire—and rejoices at his freedom.

Lynn Starling wrote the play. Bert French staged it with rare skill and Mark Byron, Inc., chose for it an ideal cast which, having played so long together, give a rendition of "Meet the Wife" which may be described as flawless.

Owners of radio outfits in Esthonia just procure a receiving license from the Postmaster General each year.

Put Runs in Class of Luxuries

Runs are considered a commodity in baseball. They are the potatoes of the game. But, according to official records, Dazzy Vance and Hugh McQuillan put them in the class of luxuries. Vance allowed but 2.16 runs a game in 1924 and McQuillan 2.69. They led the National league in effective hurling.

BENNY LEONARD QUITS BOXING

Retiring From Ring For "The Love of My Mother."

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Benny Leonard, lightweight champion of the world, has quit the ring, he announced today, "because his mother had begged him not to fight again."

"I am retiring from boxing for the love of my mother," Leonard said.

Leonard became lightweight champion in 1917 when he beat Freddie Welch. He has been one of the most popular champions of all time.

Leonard is now appearing in vaudeville. Recently he became seriously ill after collapsing on the stage, but recovered after remaining in bed at his home here for a week or ten days.

In announcing his retirement, Leonard said there was a time when he liked the "glory stuff"—"when the people used to say, "there goes Benny Leonard, the champion."

"But," he went on, "I am not retiring for glory. I am retiring for the love of my mother who begged me not to fight again.

"I fought everybody the public demanded me to meet. I beat them all in my class. Nobody can say Benny Leonard didn't give all the boys a a chance at the title."

Leonard then related how his mother used to read of his fights, of his training, of stories that he had his teeth knocked out, his hands broken or had met with other injuries.

"Mother would sit crying, and trembling, saying, 'My poor Benny'," continued the retiring champion.

"My fight with Tendler in 1923 was to have been my last. My mother had been very ill. All of us were greatly worried over her condition.

One day she called the family together. She made me promise I would never fight again. Then she said she would have nothing to worry about.

"So that's why I'm quitting now—for mother's sake."

TRIS SPEAKER IS BRIDEGROOM

CLEVELAND, Jan. 16.—Tris Speaker, manager and centerfielder of the Cleveland Indians, was on his way to Florida for a honeymoon with his bride today.

The ball player, considered one of the confirmed bachelors among the ranks of professional ball players, was married late yesterday at St. John's cathedral house to Miss Mary Frances Cudahy, whom he first met in 1919, shortly after he became the manager of the Cleveland team.

The marriage was kept a secret from all but a very few. Walter McNichols, business manager of the Cleveland club, and Miss Claire Cudahy, the bride's sister, were the only attendants. The ceremenoy was performed by Msgr. Joseph Smith, vicar general of the Cleveland diocese.

Speaker's age was given as 36. His bride is 30.

'Y' INDUSTRIAL FLOOR CONTESTS

Two contests are carded tonight in the "Y" industrial basketball league, the first of which will start at 7:30 o'clock.

Laughlin 6 and Potters will clash in the opener. The Laughlin 5 squad will tackle Trotters in the wind-up event.

Sherlock Holmes a Doctor

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, whose Sherlock Holmes is the classic of detective fiction, confessed recently that he modeled the character after a doctor he encountered when pursuing his medical studies at the University of Edinburgh. Dr. Joseph Bell was the surgeon, in fact, and his strong point was diagnosis not only of disease but of character and occupation of the patient. Few recall why Sir Arthur was knighted, but it was because of his defense of Great Britain's conduct in the Boer war.

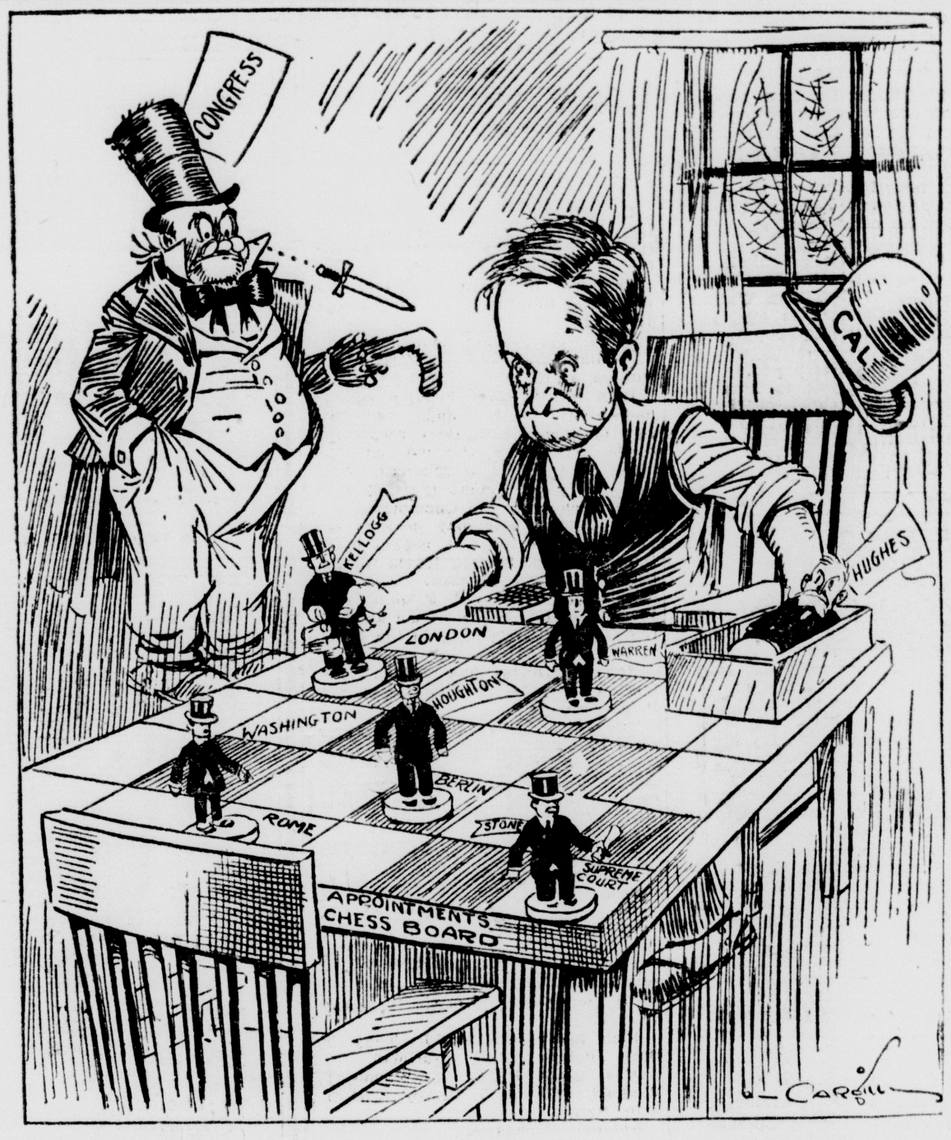
NOT IN ON THE GAME



"Meet the Wife," Comedy Success, to Appear at Ceramic

In considering comedies of the contemporary stage it is inevitable to return again and again in thought to Lynn Starling's delightfully witty comedy, "Meet the Wife," with Augusta Boylston, which comes to the Ceramic theatre Thursday, January 22. It overshadows and at the same time outshines—as the Wrigley building overshadows and outshines its humdrum neighbors. The gallery of character sketches presented in "Meet the Wife" are all of American types met in every day life. The dialogue is very good, crisp, characteristic conversation that reveals exactly what the people on the stage think of each other and of life in general. This play captured New York audiences for one year and delighted Chicago for two months.

Then comes Augusta Boylston to play the heroine and to gladden all hearts by that absolutely magical blend of gaiety and vitality and quick subtle understanding that she in a higher degree than any other comedienne possesses. Her acting of Mrs. Gertrude Lennox, an up to date who takes a second husband too hastily, with her shallowness and gush, absurd philosophies and stifled fears, her vivacity and her shrewd flashes of common sense is a characterization which brings many a smile and laugh long after one has left the theatre. There is tolerance for the young couple who are at that stage of their courtship when public opinion gives license for their being perfectly idiotic. There are roars of laughter from the men and shrieks of delight from the gentler sex at the complications arising from the return of Gertrude's husband and the snappy dialogue of Donald Campbell as the husband pro tem and Messenger Bellis who had made his escape from marital toils in the confusion of the San Francisco earthquake and fire—and rejoices at his freedom.

Lynn Starling wrote the play. Bert French staged it with rare skill and Mark Byron, Inc., chose for it an ideal cast which, having played so long together, give a rendition of "Meet the Wife" which may be described as flawless.

Owners of radio outfits in Esthonia just procure a receiving license from the Postmaster General each year.

Cardinal Wolsey Cat Lover.

In history there have been many cat lovers of great prominence, but one of the most famous was Cardinal Wolsey, who was Henry VIII's great minister. Hs favorite cat used to sit beside him during council sessions. Sir Isaac Newton was another, and he and Mohammed, founder of a religion, once cut his sleeve off rather than disturb a cat that had gone to sleep on the fold of his large loose garment.

Rheumatism

"Yes! it's all gone."

DO NOT close your eyes and think that health, free motion and strength are gone from you forever! It is not so. You can get rid of your rheumatism by building up your blood power. It is a fact that rheumatism means "blood poverty." It is a fact with the increase of red cells in your blood, impurities are destroyed. It is a fact that S.S.S. will help Nature build these red-blood-cells! S.S.S. is one of the most powerful blood cleansers in existence. Its results in thousands of rheumatic cases have been nothing short of amazing! The medicinal ingredients of S.S.S. are purely vegetable. This is very important to remember! What can be more inspiring, more wonderful than to see the shackles of pain released from your struggling body, swellings, lingering pains, stiffness of joints and muscles all disappear; your stomach made strong; your face pink with the old sweetheart glow, your blood enriched and your cheeks more plump as they used to be. You can do it! Take S.S.S., the great destroyer of rheumatic impurities.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Cardinal Wolsey Cat Lover.

In history there have been many cat lovers of great prominence, but one of the most famous was Cardinal Wolsey, who was Henry VIII's great minister. His favorite cat used to sit beside him during council sessions. Sir Isaac Newton was another, and he and Mohammed, founder of a religion, once cut his sleeve off rather than disturb a cat that had gone to sleep on the fold of his large loose garment.

Rheumatism

"Yes! it's all gone."

DO NOT close your eyes and think that health, free motion and strength are gone from you forever! It is not so. You can get rid of your rheumatism by building up your blood power. It is a fact that rheumatism means "blood poverty." It is a fact with the increase of red cells in your blood, impurities are destroyed. It is a fact that S.S.S. will help Nature build these red-blood-cells! S.S.S. is one of the most powerful blood cleansers in existence. Its results in thousands of rheumatic cases have been nothing short of amazing! The medicinal ingredients of S.S.S. are purely vegetable. This is very important to remember! What can be more inspiring, more wonderful than to see the shackles of pain released from your struggling body, swellings, lingering pains, stiffness of joints and muscles all disappear; your stomach made strong; your face pink with the old sweetheart glow, your blood enriched and your cheeks more plump as they used to be. You can do it! Take S.S.S., the great destroyer of rheumatic impurities.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.
